WHEN Bebe went up to her suite to change to her traveling dress, she tossed her bouquet from the stair landing, and it was Marie Mosquini, her dearest girl friend, who caught it. Marie afterward generously handed some of us little clusters of lillies of the valley from the bouquet.

Then Bebe and Ben vanished, and left the party in the capable hands of Bebe's mother.

The wedding gifts all had been sent to Bebe's apartment, and her mother told me that she, Marie and Bebe had had to eat their meals from the kitchen table for a week, all the available space being filled with gifts!

Achievements Assigned Hoover's Credit in World Progress

By LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT
Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 6, (Exclusive)—President Hoover was hailed in the Representative Temple of Peace, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, already in the first six months of his administration had done more to the promotion of world peace than any President in a generation.

A statement issued through the Republican National Committee by Representative Temple summed up a long list of constructive achievements in international relations which Mr. Hoover has to his credit and which were mostly lost sight of in the hurly burly of domestic politics while Congress was in session.

The foundations for future peace have been greatly strengthened in the seven months that Herbert Hoover has guided the destinies of the nation," the committee chairman declared. "During this period of progress has been made in the field of development of good will between the United States and other nations than in many years be-

TEN ACHIEVEMENTS

Mr. Temple listed ten outstanding accomplishments in the realm of foreign affairs as follows:

Ratification of the London naval limitation treaty, putting an end to competitive warship construction between the United States and Great Britain and Japan.

Unanimous adherence to the protocol of the World Court under conditions designed to meet the Senate reservations.

Ratification of the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy and the negotiation of international conventions at the instance of President Hoover in the controversy between Russia and China both of which are signatories to pact.

Settlement of war debt negotiations and the settlement with Great Britain, Austria and Germany of their debts and obligations.

The President's preinaugural good will mission to Central and South America and the receptions accorded the United States to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, and President-elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, Julio Prestes of Brazil and Dr. Enrique Olaya of Colombia, rendered Mexico in addition during the armed revolt in that country early in 1929.

LATIN AMERICA

Settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru, which had constantly involved the two states in friction between the two countries because of the repeated undertaking of the United States to act as arbiter.

Will Rogers Remarks

BEVERLY HILLS, July 6. [To the Editor of The Times:] Flew over the Rockies last night with the air mail. Passed over Reno at 3 a.m. They were sleeping off one victim and dreaming of another. Lots of 'em just keep the same houses from year to year and they come the same time every year, unless some new husband becomes stingy particularly early then they drop in sooner that year. Yesterday morning had a fine visit in Des Moines with "Ding" the great political cartoonist. He knows and he says the country is not going in the hands of the receivers. We decided that Coolidge going to work shows that the unemployment situation is picking up.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

RIOTS MARK ELECTION IN MEXICO CITY

Several Deaths and Many Injuries From Clashes at Polls Reported

MEXICO CITY, July 6. (AP)—Rioting broke out here late this evening during voting in Mexico's Congressional election.

Early reports said between one and five persons had been killed, and from fifteen to thirty injured.

The two most serious clashes occurred in attacks by groups armed with clubs on a voting booth and in a fight with clubs and stones by partisans of the rival parties. Both were in the suburbs.

Reports from other places in Mexico tonight also mentioned clashes, but gave no casualties.

The candidates of the National Revolutionary party, to which President Ortiz Rubio belongs, in most places apparently were well in the lead for both Senate and Chamber over those of the Anti-re-election party.

Freak Accident Kills Conductor

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Ernest W. Simpson, 38 years of age, a conductor for the Market Street Railway Company, was injured fatally today in the oddest accident in the company's history. Leaning far out from the left side of his car on Mission street to check the designation sign, he was struck by a car going in the opposite direction on the next track, knocked to the pavement and his skull fractured.

The motorman of Simpson's trolley ran several blocks before informed by passengers he had no conductor. Simpson lived in San Bruno, Peninsula suburb.

PACT FIGHT WARMS UP

Debate Grows on Eve of Session

London Treaty Defended by Allen of Kansas and Hit by Navy League

Leaders Confident of Balking Any Adjournment Move by Senate Foes

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Appeals for both ratification and rejection of the London naval treaty were disseminated today on the eve of the special session of the Senate to consider the pact.

Joining the presession debate begun yesterday by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who says the treaty should be rejected because it contains "iniquities and inequities," Senator Allen, Republican, Kansas, asserted prompt ratification will "meet with public approval throughout the country."

"The British and Japanese citizenship," Allen added, "can be expected to view the treaty as an indication of this country's sincerity in our repeated arguments in favor of reducing and limiting armaments."

NAVY LEAGUE OPPOSED

Siding with Congressional opponents, the Navy League of the United States, in a statement over the signature of Walter Bruce Howe, chairman of the board, expresses regret that it cannot approve of the tripartite agreement.

The league takes the position that the pact "is an outgrowth of previous mistakes in American naval policy—namely, the failure to obtain thoroughgoing limitation at the Washington conference of 1921-22, and the failure to build up the American Navy after the Washington treaty was signed—and the London treaty does more to confirm these errors than it does to correct them."

LEADERS CONFIDENT

Republican leaders still felt today that a quorum may not be on hand at the initial treaty session tomorrow. But they are not alarmed at the prospect that the opposition might seize upon this circumstance in an effort to force an adjournment. That is part of the strategy of the opponents of ratification, who want delay, but the Republican chiefs feel certain a majority of those present at all times will prevent an adjournment. They also are confident of ratification inside of two weeks at the most.

A special message from President Hoover, who called the session last Friday, probably will be read to the Senate on Tuesday.

Senator Allen said after reading the denunciations of Churchill, Admirals Beatty and Jellicoe, of Great Britain, and comparing these with similar criticisms of the treaty by American and Japanese admirals, he must conclude "that the delegates murt have done a peculiarly well-balanced job at the conference."

ALLEN'S VIEW VOICED

"The unanimous protests of all the admirals," he added, "indicate that there has been a definite limitation of the navies of the three great sea powers whose naval building programs were the principal subjects of the conference."

Allen contends it is "an undisputed fact that the treaty puts a curb on further tonnage expansion of the British and Japanese navies, while giving the American Navy the privilege of building up its relative strength."

The pact, he asserts, is a "logical, moderate step toward the ideal of armaments for police power only."

"It preserves for another six years," he continued, "the principle that permanent peace can be established only by progressive efforts to stifle competitive armaments. It is worth much in its proof of the fact that the three great naval powers of the world, through their governments, have made a further advance in their common will for peace."

NAVY LEAGUE ASSERTION

The Navy League's statement says the 5-5-3 ratio adopted at the Washington conference as the basis for the national naval policy "is abandoned" in the 1930 pact, as is the freedom of selection of types of ships best suited for the nation's needs, under the provision calling for building by the United States of small-gun cruisers "in excess of

PLANE-LOOP MARK AGAIN SHATTERED

California Pilot Eclipses Record Set by Chiossian With Forty-Six Turns

SAN MATEO, July 6. (AP)—Paul Mantz, aviation-school chief pilot, set a new world's record for consecutive outside loops at the Curtiss-Wright Airport here today when he completed forty-six, ten more than the record set earlier in the day at Chicago by Dale (Red) Jackson.

Mantz had completed his twenty-fourth loop before he was aware the record of twenty-two loops set by Gordon Mounce at Los Angeles last Sunday had been broken by Jackson.

When the Associated Press informed the airport of Jackson's achievement an airplane with large "36's" painted on its sides was sent aloft. Mantz said the message puzzled him until it flashed upon him the "36" stood for a new record set while he had been flying.

Airport officials said they had not known Jackson was to make the attempt at Chicago today. Mantz wired congratulations to Jackson.

Frank Flynn, officer of the National Aeronautical Association, announced a new record had been set when Mantz completed his thirty-seventh loop. Mantz was in the air three and one-half hours. He flew an open-cockpit biplane powered by a ninety-horsepower motor.

The feat was part of the dedication of the Curtiss-Wright Airport.

Instructor and Student Flyer Killed in Plunge

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Martin Wilsker, 19 years of age, student pilot, and John W. Gorman, 40, aeronautical instructor, were killed late this afternoon in an airplane crash at Floyd Bennett Field, the municipal airport on Barren Island.

Witnesses said the two men, who both lived in New York, were flying at an altitude of not more than 700 feet when their low-winged monoplane went into a flat spin and crashed.

SOUTH HAVEN (Mich.) July 6. (AP)—Caught in a dense fog while flying a plane of the Continental Air Lines from Mackinac Island to Chicago, Pilot Bert A. Kogle and Copilot Duane L. Heller plunged to death in Lake Michigan, four miles south of here today.

Kogle was from Kansas City, Mo., and Heller was from Chicago. They carried no passengers.

Five Killed and Seventeen Hurt in Ship Collision

ZARA (Italy) July 6. (AP)—Five persons were killed today and seventeen injured out of 400 passengers aboard the Jugo-Slav steamer Karageorgevitch in a collision with the Italian motorship Francesco Morosini, operated by the San Marco Navigating Company of Venice. The Italian vessel was proceeding from Zara to Spalato when the accident happened.

The Karageorgevitch was beached near Pasman, badly damaged. Marine authorities believe, however, that she can be refloated. The Francesco Morosini took aboard the bodies of the dead. The injured, as well as the rest of the Karageorgevitch's passengers and crew were brought here.

British Flyers Still Missing

RANGOON (Burma) July 6. (AP) Despite a diligent search of land and sea, no trace has been found of the British airmen Hook and Matthews since their take-off Thursday from Akyab on an attempted record flight from England to Australia.

An unofficial report their plane crashed at Taungup, near Sandoway, shortly after leaving Akyab for Rangoon, remains unconfirmed. The flyers were last seen about eighty miles south of Akyab heading out to sea. A heavy rain is believed to have forced them to descend on the water.

Angeleno Dies in Auto Crash

WILLITS, July 6. (Exclusive)—Swerving to avoid a collision with another automobile, George Hansen, 60 years of age, of Los Angeles, was killed today on the Redwood Highway, sixty miles north of here. His car, northbound, struck a post at the side of the road and overturned, pinning him.

Mrs. Clara M. Shafer, riding with him, suffered minor injuries.

Back From Rest Camp, President Encouraged After Conference About Senate Quorum

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—President Hoover returned from his Rapidan River lodge today encouraged in the belief the London Naval Treaty will be ratified by the Senate within a week or ten days.

Over the week-end, the President with Walter Newton, his secretary for political affairs; Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican floor leader; Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant leader, and Senator Fess of Ohio, the majority whip, canvassed thoroughly the situation in the Senate, with particular reference to the question of obtaining and keeping a quorum.

It was announced after their return the President is confident enough Senators will be on hand Tuesday, if not tomorrow to carry through the administration program. Senator Baird, Republican, New Jersey, cabled from abroad he is cutting short his honeymoon to return and aid the treaty fight.

With Mr. Hoover returned the mistress of the White House coming back after a month of absence to take up activities she was forced to relinquish nearly three months ago after suffering a severely wrenched back.

Mrs. Hoover was ordered to the camp for a complete rest by Capt. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, after she attempted to resume her normal activities and suffered a relapse.

She has improved steadily and for two weeks has been able to go about much as she pleased. In the car with the President and Senator and Mrs. McNary, Mrs. Hoover stood the three-hour trip back, much of it over rough roads, with-

BUENOS AIRES, July 6. (AP)—While flying 3000 feet above the airfield here last night, Capt. Lewis Yancey, American aviator, held a thirty-minute radio conversation with the wireless station of the New York Times, 5300 miles away.

The conversation established a record for distance between a plane and a land station.

JOHN D., SR., NEARS NEW MILESTONE

Richest Man to Celebrate Ninety-first Birthday Tomorrow in Quiet Way

TARRYTOWN (N. Y.) July 6. (Exclusive) — John D. Rockefeller will be 91 years of age on Tuesday. A printed statement issued in New York City, however, will be his only word to the outside world of his well wishes on the occasion. Those who attempt to carry their felicitations to his Pocantico Hills estate, Tarrytown, will be courteously, but firmly, denied admittance to his vast estate.

Reported in superb health, the oil magnate will pass the day quietly. He will arise at 8 a.m., an hour later than usual, and after breakfast and half an hour of dictation to his secretary, will spend two hours on his private golf course in combat with certain of his old-time golf foes among the village merchants. Even at his advanced age Rockefeller shoots a good game and gets a great kick out of a win.

Due to the absence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the West, the usual birthday dinner will be a small one. Mrs. Rockefeller, Jr., will be present with several of her children, as will the former Abbie Rockefeller, her husband, David Milton, and their daughter, little Abbie.

Bedtime at about 10 p.m. will wind up the birthday celebration of the reputedly world's richest man.

NEW ARCTIC AIR LANE TO BE MAPPED

Explorers Leave for Icy Peaks of Greenland to Plan British Sea Route

LONDON, July 6. (Exclusive)—An expedition to explore the Arctic ice cap of Greenland, for the purpose of establishing an all-British air route from Scotland across the Arctic to Canada, left here today in the late Sir Ernest Shackelton's old ship Quest. The expedition is comprised of fifteen young explorers, headed by H. G. Watkins, forming a British Arctic air route expedition which has been equipped under the auspices of the Royal Geographical Society.

The base camp is to be established on the southeastern coast with a station on top of the ice cap of Greenland. From the main base dog sled expeditions will travel in the interior and map out a route and arrange for petrol dumps. The party expects to be absent fifteen months. They have two airplanes aboard, also speed boats and sleds. When a route has been surveyed an experimental flight will be made from Winnipeg to England.

Zeppelin Drifting Eastward Over Kentucky When Last Observed

HOUSTON (Tex.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Fourteen of the fifteen balloons which left here Friday at the start of the national elimination race are down and the fifteenth, the Goodyear Zeppelin of Akron, O., presumably is somewhere over Kentucky or Tennessee. No reports have been received from it, however, since this morning.

Until nearly 10 o'clock tonight the United Van Service entry of Cleveland remained aloft but was finally forced down at Kirkmansville, Ky., about 150 miles southwest of Louisville.

The Goodyear Zeppelin is piloted by R. J. Blair with F. A. Trottier as aide. George Hineman was piloting the United Van Service balloon, and had Milford Vanik as his aide.

NAVY ENTRY DOWN

Lieut. T. G. W. Settle's navy entry landed seven miles north of Dover, Tenn., at 12:10 p.m. central standard time, said a message from him. Lieut. R. G. Mayer is the aide of Settle, who won last year's elimination balloon race and who took off first in the race which began here Friday.

The Detroit Times' entrant landed five and a half miles south of Russellville, Ky., at 2:55 p.m. today, said a wire received at 6 p.m. at control headquarters.

Thunderstorms in a seventy-five-mile area around Texarkana brought ten to earth late yesterday despite the desperate hostages which at least some of the pilots gave to fortune by throwing away all avialable ballast.

EFFORTS IN VAIN

One, Dr. George Legalle in the Kelvinator of Detroit, even cut away part of his basket after throwing away food and such equipment the headquarters race committee here was advised early this morning. Warned by Dr. Legalle's gallant stand against the elements, Capt. Fred S. Wilbur, secretary of the committee, sent him a wire of congratulation.

The City of Houston, piloted by Sergt. Otto Weinecke of San Antonio with W. N. Fox of Houston as aide, was the tenth to report its descent. The City of Houston came down at Hochatown, Okla., about seventy-five miles northeast of Texarkana, at 6:45 p.m. yesterday, the committee was advised.

The eleventh was the navy entrant, piloted by Lieut. W. Bushnell, with Lieut. J. A. Greenwald as aide, which came down at 10:40 a.m. today at Piggott in the northeast corner of Arkansas.

TWO OUT QUICK

Two sat down in Texas — the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, C. H. Roth, pilot, and W. P. Carey, aide, and the army entrant, piloted by Lieut. W. R. Turnbull, with Lieut. C. M. Brown as aide. The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce dropped down at Talco and the army bag a few miles away near Bogata, in Northeast Texas.

Those landing yesterday in Arkansas were the General Electric, Cleveland, S. A. U. Rasmussen and T. W. Southworth; Detroit Aircraft, first to descend, W. A. Klikoff and R. S. Cunningham; Kelvinator, Detroit, Dr. Legalle and R. W. Ebert; Army, Lieuts. W. D. Bule and J. P. Kidwell; Army, Capt. K. S. Awtater and Lieut. R. K. Holmes; Aero Digest, New York, S. T. Moore and Lieut. W. O. Eareckson; Navy, Lieut. R. R. Dennett and C. P. Miller.

WINNERS' PRIZES

The two among the fifteen which land at the greatest distance away from Houston will join Ward Van Orman on the American team to participate in the international race to begin September 1 in Cleveland. In addition the first-place winner will receive the Litchfield trophy and a $1000 cash prize. There are six other cash prizes ranging from $800 down to $100.

The record distance for a national race was set in 1924 from San Antonio by Van Orman, who went 1047 miles.

He won the last international,

Two Hundred Armed Men Still Pressing Search for Fugitives

EMELLE (Ala.) July 6. (AP)—The slaying of two additional Negroes early today brought to six the number killed in disorders arising from a Fourth of July argument between a white garage owner and a Negro family. Two Negroes and two white men previously had been slain.

Both of the Negroes killed this morning were shot to death by armed bands of white men who had searched the vicinity since Friday, when three of the Negroes involved in the original argument fled.

WOMAN VICTIM

One of the two slain today was a Negro woman, who was shot when her husband, James Eyer, failed to halt his automobile at the command of a group of men riding through an Emelle street in another car.

The other was a Negro man, as yet unidentified, who was shot in a house near Narcheitta, Miss., ten miles west of Emelle, to which he had been followed by a posse. He fired at Clarence Bush, wounding him in the elbow. Bush returned the fire, killing the Negro.

The four killed previously were Grover Boyd, white garage operator; Charlie Marrs, white posseman; John Robertson, Negro, and Jacob Robertson, Negro.

ONE MAN LYNCHED

All were shot to death except Jacob Robertson, who was lynched by a group of men soon after Boyd and Marrs were killed.

The correspondent of the Tuscaloosa News said 200 armed men still are searching for Ollie and Esau Robertson, brothers of the slain Robertsons, and for Tom Robertson, father of all four.

The three escaped after the first outbreak, which occurred when Jacob Robertson shot Boyd during a quarrel over an automobile battery Boyd had sold the Robertsons.

CAPT. HAWKS TO TRY FOR NEW RECORD

Will Fly Recently Built Speed Ship From East to Los Angeles Next Week

WICHITA (Kan.) July 6. (AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks announced today he will make another transcontinental east-west flight next week, after flying his new monoplane at the unofficial speed of 240 miles an hour in tests.

The speed test of the Texaco Thirteen, aloft for the first time today, was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 5000 persons. Capt. Hawks said the specially built motor turned 2150 revolutions per minute and is capable of 2300, which would give the plane a speed of 250 miles an hour and a cruising speed of 210.

Capt. Hawks said he will leave Wichita Friday for New York and will hop off from there for Los Angeles to try for a new record. Three refueling stops are scheduled—Indianapolis, Wichita and Albuquerque.

CRASH BALKS ATLANTIC HOP

Wynne-Eyton Slightly Hurt When Plane Falls in Trial Flight in Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S (N. F.) July 6. (AP)—Another projected flight across the Atlantic received a severe setback today. Maj. C. S. Wynne-Eyton, British airman who hoped to be the first to make the west-east ocean passage in 1930, crashed from a low altitude in attempting to take off on a test flight to Harbor Grace.

He was slightly injured and his plane, groomed for the long sea hop, was destroyed by fire.

From a height of twenty feet, the plane nose-dived, hit the ground hard and burst into flames. Braving the fire, onlookers forced the door open and dragged the airman out. He was slightly burned and cut.

The major arrived here from England June 30. The ship that brought him also brought his Puss-Moth monoplane in which he hoped to negotiate the passage.

The machine, which had a capacity of 150 gallons of gasoline and an estimated cruising radius of 3500 miles, was assembled on Lester's Field here where Alcock and Brown took off in 1919 to make the first successful airplane crossing of the North Atlantic.

Wynne-Eyton, who is a member of the Royal Air Force Reserves and who has flown in France, Africa and India sixteen years, although only 35 years of age, intended to make his attempt from the field at Harbor Grace, scene of the recent landing of the Southern Cross and of numerous trans-Atlantic endeavors in recent years.

He had set the 10th inst., when there is to be a full moon, for the start of the flight, and was on his way there today to inspect the facilities when he met with misfortune.

TAX PROBLEM UNDER SCRUTINY

Continued Low Income Rate Aim at Washington

Public Debt Policy Change Seen as Possibility

Action by Hoover and Mellon Deemed Certainty

WASHINGTON, July 6. (Exclusive)—Slowing down of public debt retirements may be resorted to as a means of insuring the continuation of reduced income tax rates of the present year.

If President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon fail to recommend such action Congress is likely to give serious consideration to a change in policy of this character during the next winter's session of Congress.

That the President and Secretary Mellon will try to devise some means to prevent a return to the old tax rates, is a certainty. The old rates automatically become effective again in the taxes on earnings for the present year, payable next year, unless new legislation is enacted.

Regardless of threatened deficits it is known that the President feels that as a means of aiding business recovery it is imperative that there should be no increase in taxes.

Secretary Mellon, who agrees with the President on this point, prefers to retain the debt-retirement policy which has been in effect in past years. If it is possible to keep present tax rates without incurring a deficit he will propose no change in the debt-retirement policy. As a last resort, however, it is believed that he may suggest the diversion of part of the funds that have been used to swell the huge totals announced each year as being devoted to debt retirement to the current expenditures fund.

The question of policy centers on the use of payments from foreign nations, which, in the fiscal year just closed, amounted to $239,565,807.82, of which $97,634,287.76 was on account of principal of the foreign debts and $141,931,519.26 for interest. Under the Treasury policy payments on account of principal always have been used to retire principal of American securities and where foreign nations have exercised their option to make payments in American securities rather than cash, interest money also has been used to retire principal.

Because of the possibility that all payments would be in securities advance budget estimates of "surpluses" have never taken any account of any part of the foreign payments. Under this policy the surplus of the fiscal year 1930 just closed, amounting to $183,789,214.90 included about $76,000,000 which was paid by foreign governments in cash during June. Surpluses usually go into debt retirement by means of short-term financing operations, but if different book-keeping methods had been in effect this extra cash and foreign payments of securities also could have been available for current expenditures.

What has been proposed at different times, but frowned upon by Treasury officials, has been the enactment of legislation providing for a credit against the statutory sinking fund of all amounts used from foreign debts payments in the retirement of our debt. The effect of this would be to release an equivalent amount of current expenditures and to relieve taxpayers of that much burden. Arguments have been advanced for the use of principal payments as well as interest from foreign nations in this manner inasmuch as the sinking fund alone is sufficient to retire the present $16,000,000,000 debts before foreign nations have completed their payments under their sixty-two-year funding agreements. Otherwise under the present policy it is estimated that our debt will be wiped out in less than fifteen years, with future generations of taxpayers getting the benefit of foreign debt payments which are made thereafter.

The importance of the foreign debt payment situation on Treasury finances may be realized by the fact that up to date approximately $1,645,000,000 has been received from this source on account of interest besides about $875,000,000 on the principal.

Adoption of a new policy in dealing with Haiti under which a new local government was set up and the gradual withdrawal of American Marines was decided upon.

PACT PARAMOUNT

Representative Temple regards the London naval treaty as the paramount accomplishment of the Hoover administration in world affairs.

"The most difficult problem which confronted the administration," he said, "and the one to which the President gave his immediate attention was that of competition in naval armaments. This competitive building of warships in categories other than capital vessels had left the United States far behind and in a position where, if it were to have parity with Great Britain and proper ratios with Japan it would have to extend its program through expenditure of $2,000,000,000 during the next six or seven years. But of even as great moment was the fact that this competitive building in itself created international frictions and sources of danger.

"The consequences of the agreement reached at London, both from the points of view of adequate defense and for general world peace, constitute the most notable step in international relations during the past decade."

Mr. Temple praised President Hoover's tour of South America as President-elect and his subsequent handling of affairs in Mexico and Haiti as master strokes from the standpoint of placing the United States on a stronger footing with other nations of the Western Hemisphere.

DOUBT DISPELLED

"As a consequence of the President's good-will mission to South America," he declared, "a method was developed for settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru. But perhaps, more important still was the general strengthening of the bonds of friendship between the United States and its southern neighbors through the personal contact which Mr. Hoover had with the officials of the governments of the south and the opportunities which were afforded him to dispel ideas prevalent in some quarters that the United States was bent upon becoming the Colossus of the Western Hemisphere with a constant increase of its territorial possessions.

"Subsequently, two events enabled the President to convince the South American republic that the one desire of the United States is for the maintenance of peace and tranquillity in the western world. The first of these was the Mexican revolt early in the Hoover administration. The President took immediate action for the embargo of arms against the revolting army and to furnish arms and ammunitions to the Mexican government. As a result that disturbance was quelled within sixty days, whereas, two previous revolts of even less size extended over months and even years.

HAITI TRANQUIL

The second was the uprising in Haiti which led the President to appoint a special commission to study conditions in the West Indian republic and to recommend a policy governing future relations between the United States and the Haitian government.

"This commission quickly concluded its labors and as a result, the President adopted as his administrative policy the gradual withdrawal of American Marines from Haiti and the substitution of diplomatic relations for the military commission which had represented this country for many years. In addition, the election of a new President has been brought about and tranquillity in the island republic restored."

out apparent strain and left the car at the White House door smiling and pleased to be back.

While discussions of the treaty situation in the Senate and drafting the President's message to the Senate, which probably will be sent up Tuesday, occupied much of the time, the Chief Executive and his guests found time for recreation.

It was said by George Akerson, secretary to Mr. Hoover after talking with the President by telephone early in the day, that the question of Claudius Huston continuing as chairman of the Republican National Committee was not taken up during the three-day visit.

the amount hitherto approved in our naval policy."

"The ominous suggestion of progressive abandonment of our relative fleet strength, and the debasement of its efficiency by developing types of comparatively limited use to us, is a matter of grave concern," the league says, adding:

"The strongest argument in favor of the treaty from the American viewpoint is that it puts a curb on further tonnage expansion by Britain and Japan, while we may build up toward them. The treaty, however, does not assure this result because its escape clause may be invoked to initiate unlimited construction in one or more of the several auxiliary categories."

SMOOT ABANDONS HIS HONEYMOON TRIP

SALT LAKE CITY, July 6. (AP)—Following receipt of a telegram from President Hoover urging him to return to Washington to support the naval treaty during the special session of the Senate, Senator Smoot of Utah tonight announced he has abandoned his plans to spend a honeymoon in Honolulu and will leave for the capital tomorrow afternoon.

Smoot arrived here tonight with his wife from their home in Provo. The senior Utah Senator was married last week to the former Mrs. Alice Taylor Sheets.

The hurried decision to abandon his honeymoon plans and attend the special session followed the telegraphed statement by President Hoover that a large number of the known supporters of the naval pact are at present away from the capital.

Senator Smoot, a strong supporter of the pact, said, however, he has no doubt but that the Senate will approve the treaty.

DETROIT ENTRY MAY WIN ON DISTANCE

RUSSELLVILLE (Ky.) July 6. (AP) E. J. Hill, and A. C. Schlosser, pilots of the Detroit Times entry in the national balloon race which landed near here this afternoon, have a fair chance to win the race, since Russellville is about sixty miles farther from Houston, Tex., the starting-point, than Dover, Tenn., where the United States Navy entry landed today.

Kirkmansville, where the United Van Service balloon landed, is approximately twenty-five miles west of Russellville, leaving the Detroit Times entry still ahead in the national balloon race.

DRY-LAND FARMERS WARNED ON WHEAT

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Growers of hard winter wheat in areas where the rainfall is limited were warned today by the Department of Agriculture to exercise special caution in expanding production. In view of the increasing world production and the probable low level of prices the department, in a statement prepared by field experts and representatives of the Federal Farm Board, said expansion should be undertaken, if at all, only by those thoroughly familiar with the conditions and hazards involved.

Fifteen Thousand Killed in Hunan Battle

Kwangsi Province Rebellion Definitely Crushed

Banditry Follows in Wake of Passing Troops

SHANGHAI, July 6. (AP) — The government, hard-pressed by rebel forces and bandit hordes, today gained another victory.

Advices said the government definitely crushed the Kwangsi Province rebellion after a severe five-day battle in Southern Hunan Province near the Kwangsi border. The Nationalists report reducing the insurgent ranks from 25,000 to 10,000, the surviving rebels fleeing into Kwangsi. Government casualties also were heavy.

Bandits yesterday fired upon American and British gunboats in the Yangtse River near Yochow, Hunan, killing Samuel Elkins, Brooklyn seaman on the U.S.S. Guam. Two British sailors also were wounded in an exchange of fire before the bandits finally were driven off.

The outlaws, following the path cut recently by rebel armies, pillaged and killed as they passed, terrifying the countryside west and south of the tricities, Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang.

Banditry followed withdrawal of government troops to the Northern Honan front, where a thirteen-day battle is believed to hold China's destiny.

FIRST IN THE NATION

THE RIGHT KIND OF STUBBORNNESS

There are people who will let no hope of gain, however alluring, tempt them from a financial program they know to be safely profitable.

There are savings institutions who will let nothing swerve them from a course the years have proven sound.

Because 70 thousand people with this kind of stubbornness have found in this institution the same firm stand, Pacific States Savings is today the largest building and loan association in the Nation.

Our flawless record through the good times and bad of 41 years is a matter of common knowledge. Our present conservatism, liquidity and strength may be gauged by such factors as these:

Voluntary cash and bond reserves of over five million dollars, exclusive of other cash on hand . . . no bank indebtedness . . . invested capital totaling three million dollars . . . furniture and fixtures and real estate accounts carried at $1 . . . a loan rate of 7%, bringing to us the choicest first lien collateral being offered to any California building and loan association.

Consider our 6% facilities in the light of these facts while you can reap their benefit for the last half of 1930.

WAR-HATE PALL SPREADS ANEW

German Fascist Reprisals Give Cause for Concern

French Press Denounces Terrorism in Rhineland

Italy Also Adds to General Alarm and Depression

[Copyright, 1930, Chicago Tribune]

PARIS, July 6. (Exclusive)—The shadow of old war hates lies heavier on Western Europe today than at any time during recent years.

Despite conversations of a mutually conciliatory spirit between Foreign Minister Briand and German Ambassador Von Hoesch to dispel the storm cloud caused by the reprisals of German Fascists against the citizens of the Rhineland who are suspected of French sympathies, the cloud still exists and seems to be growing larger.

Almost the whole French press, including the Conservative center papers, and even some of the Left organs, played up the new disorders of the Rhineland yesterday and are running gloomy or denunciatory editorials. The other storm cloud—Italy—also helps to increase the feeling of alarm and depression but for the time being public attention is focused chiefly on the Rhineland, where new troubles are breaking out every day.

The extreme Nationalist elements are quivering with rage today at the announcement that the Rhineland terrorists, having punished the men, are now about to start reprisals against the women who show French sympathies. All the girls who were friendly with French soldiers, and who were left behind at the time of the evacuation of the Rhineland, will be subjected to public disgrace and perhaps bodily injury, it is reported here. If such reprisals actually take place it probably will create a critical situation.

To add to the gloom, Minister of Justice Peret this afternoon delivered a highly significant speech to a group of French war veterans in which he pointed out that the Rhineland disorders are a clear warning of the survivance of old war hatreds.

DEATH RATE OF INFANTS DROPPING

Chicago Records Lower Mortality Due to Better Health Facilities

CHICAGO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Nearly one-half of all births in Chicago now occur in hospitals, and as a result, the infant mortality rate is dropping, asserts the Chicago Association of Commerce. Figures for 1929 show the infant death rate to be 60.3 per 1000.

There were 426 fewer infant deaths during 1929 than in 1928, the number last year being 7907. The infant mortality rate in the United States for 1928, the latest year for which figures are available, was 68 per 1000.

Improved conditions in Chicago also are being brought about by mothers who recognize and take advantage of health promotional services now offered.

LANCASTER (Pa.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Gladys Keener, 15-year-old high school student, who was reported missing from her studies about three weeks ago, has been found. She was a prisoner in her own home, according to police, who said that because Gladys wants to go out with boys, her father chained her to her bed.

A long chain had been padlocked to the girl's ankle, police said, and the other end fastened to her bed.

COLORADO DRY AGENT MURDERED

Lone Federal Crusader Assassinated on Main Street of Aguilar

AGUILAR (Colo.) July 6. (AP)—Secreted behind a fence, an unidentified assassin shot and killed Dale F. Kearney, 30 years of age, Federal prohibition agent, as the officer walked down the main street of Aguilar early today. The gunman made his escape in an automobile. There were no witnesses to the shooting.

Kearney had been stationed in Trinidad, twenty miles south of here, for several months, having been transferred to this district from Denver. He had compiled a record of unusual activity in arrest and prosecution of liquor-law violators and was credited with having virtually "cleaned up" Walsenburg, near here.

Federal agents together with Las Animas county officers began a vigorous man hunt for the gunman and his accomplices although they admitted they had but meager clews upon which to work.

It was generally known Kearney worked and traveled alone. He has conducted numerous raids single-handed and seldom asked aid of county or city officers.

Friend of Carol Wounded in Duel by Swordsman

BUCHAREST, July 6. (Exclusive) Gen. Zohivsky, former Minister of War, and a warm friend of King Carol, fought a duel with swords with Stephen Lupascu—not to be confused with the similar name of a certain red-haired lady — outside Bucharest yesterday.

Zohivsky was no match for his opponent, who is a widely known fencer, and was wounded in the arm. When the King heard of the duel he called Zohivsky to the royal palace and had his wound dressed by court physicians and the general later took dinner with the King.

The duel was the result of newspaper articles written by Lupascu which Gen. Zohivsky thought were insulting.

Bodies Taken From Wreckage

Bodies of the three other victims, Consiglio Cimino, 70, father of the owner of the plant; Frank Cimino, Jr., 11 months, and Millie Cimino, 9, the owner's children, were taken from the burning ruins last night.

Mrs. Mary Cimino, wife of Frank, and Samuel Cimino, 12, her son, still are in the hospital with serious burns.

MOSCOW ORDER IRKS REDS HERE

New York Radicals Know Best in Revolt Plans

Only 6000 Real Members Makes Task Hard

NEW YORK, July 6. (Exclusive) The Communist party, calling itself the majority at the concluding session today of its three-day national conference, attacked an editorial in the Pravda, the Moscow party organ, which urged radical leaders in the United States to prepare the masses here at once for a more vigorous campaign against American "imperialism and exploitation."

Criticism of suggestions from Russia as to how radicals here should propagandize labor and agricultural groups came in the form of a statement from Jay Lovestone, chairman of the national council. He said that, although there is nothing wrong in principle in Russian leaders recommending what should be done in the United States the proposals for carrying out the work are wrong and show a lack of knowledge as to actual conditions here.

EXPELLED BY MOSCOW

Mr. Lovestone and many of his followers were expelled last year from the Communist party on orders of the Communist Internationale in Moscow because of disagreement on policies. The Lovestone followers say the American workers are not as ready for revolution as the leaders in Russia have been led to believe.

The statement issued reads in part as follows:

"Have the Russian comrades a right to make suggestions to us and propose action? Our position is that not only do they have such a right, but it is their duty to do so.

"We welcome the fact that this Pravda editorial shows signs of taking into recognition the specific position in which our party finds itself as a result of the present role of United States imperialism.

FORCE OVERDRAWN

"But we must express our regrets that this statement still rings with too much bluff. It speaks of our party having 15,000 members. The last convention was informed that dues-paying members of our party are today somewhat more than 6000. The Pravda editorial also declares that our party gained from 6000 to 7000 members in its last recruiting drive. Such wild claims have not been made by even the corrupt party bureaucracy for months.

"It is a fact that in recent months has been intensification of the persecution of Communists and the militant workers. This is an indication of the sharpening of the class struggle. But police persecution is not necessarily in itself a sign of the strength of our party."

Continuing, the statement asserts:

BELATED "DISCOVERY"

"The Pravda has finally discovered the agricultural collapse in the United States. It is not a discovery; it is rather belated. It is significant the Pravda is silent about the fact that the new line forced upon our party has destroyed our roots, our connection and our base in the agricultural field.

"To speak in such empty generalization of work among the millions of farmers as the Pravda does is not helpful to the strengthening of our position in the rural areas."

Boy Aviator's Hop Postponed

CINCINNATI, July 6. (AP)—Bad weather early today caused postponement of the flight of Ralph D. Ballmann, 16-year-old Cincinnati youth, to Los Angeles. Ballmann expects to leave at 7 a.m. tomorrow, weather permitting.

The youthful flyer intends to attempt to break the junior flying record from Los Angles to New York the latter part of the week.

Frank Goldsbrough, 19, son of Bryon Goldsbrough, who lost his life in an attempted flight from New York to Paris, now holds the record of 29 hours and 18 minutes flying time.

Nearly 30,000 travelers have made use of the fast mode of travel on the line, twenty other railroads have joined in with the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe systems extending fast travel service to the four corners of the nation and the original fleet of four operating planes has increased to nineteen to care for the increasing patronage of the first year, according to J. TEN ESCAPED FEDERAL PRISONERS STILL FREE

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) July 6. (AP)—Ten Federal prisoners, all Mexicans, who escaped from the Yavapai County Jail Friday night, still are at liberty tonight. Huge Sum Breaks All Marks of Financial World

NEW YORK, July 6. (Exclusive) For the first time in the history of banking a single institution, the Chase National Bank, reports total deposits in excess of $2,000,000,000.

Deposits, according to the latest statement of the bank as of June 30, aggregate $2,065,434,000, and total resources, $2,648,958,000, which is also a new high record for financial institutions. The latter figure is substantially higher than the combined resources when the merger of the Chase bank with the Equitable Trust Company and the Interstate Trust Company became effective.

Deposits of the Chase in the new statement show an increase of $1,238,112,000 over the deposits reported by the bank a year ago, and total resources on June 30 were $1,532,554,000 greater than on June 30, 1929. The aggregate of capital, surplus and undivided profits in the new statement is $339,318,000, an increase of $216,467,000 over a year ago. Since the merger on June 2 the Chase has gained $2,595,000 in undivided profits.

SWIMMER DIES IN SUICIDE PACT

European Woman Champion Found Lifeless in Car

Rich Man's Son, Wounded, Will Face Murder Charge

Pair Barred From Love by Wife Seek Death

ECHO LAKE (N. J.) July 6. (Exclusive)—How a tour of passion led to death for pretty Jennie Brauer, philosophy student and European swimming champion, after her romance with Roderic Meakle, wealthy Paterson (N. J.) banker's son, had been blocked by his wife, was revealed today as surgeons fought to save Meakle's life at a hospital in Paterson.

Half blinded by a bullet from the same pistol which killed the girl Meakle staggered just after dawn today from the underbrush near Echo Lake where her body was found late yesterday in a parked car. While police labored to establish a murder and suicide or double-suicide pact that was only half completed he was rushed to the hospital. He probably will live, surgeons said tonight, despite a bullet lodged near his brain—and perhaps, face trial for his sweetheart's murder.

RARE MUSICIAN

Meakle known as a violinist of rare ability and the son of George Meakle, vice-president of the Paterson Savings Institution, fell in love with Miss Brauer some eight months ago, according to relatives. For two months he besought his bride of a little more than a year to grant him a divorce, so the story investigators gleaned continues. Then he and the girl, who had been drawn together partly by the love both had for music seemingly determined to cast convention aside and began keeping love trysts, said relatives.

THEY DISAPPEAR

A week ago last Friday Meakle picked the girl up in his light coupe, calling for her at the Dew Drop Inn, Manuet, N. Y., to which she had fled from her home at North Haledon, N. J.—the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kerns, her stepfather and her mother. Where the couple went then is not definitely established, but they are believed to have gone to Niagara Falls, rendezvous of honeymooners, and returned a few days ago to the Hotel Robert Treat in Newark.

Some time later yesterday they parked their car just off a lane between Echo Lake and Butler, N. J., and moved to carry out a previously expressed desire to be together in death, since life would not permit them to be permanently together.

REBEL PLOT DISCOVERED IN PORTUGAL

Lisbon Announces Arrest of Conspirators Planning to Overthrow Dictator

LISBON (Portugal) July 6. (AP)—An official note issued by the government announces discovery of a conspiracy to overthrow the present regime, and the arrest of several persons in the course of energetic measures to prevent a revolt.

The note, made public late last night, was as follows:

"Col. Joao Almeida has been arrested and sent to Elvas fortress, it being ascertained that he was preparing a revolutionary movement to overthrow the government, and was in association with elements manifestly hostile to the dictatorship. Several others, civilians, have been arrested. The police are investigating a network of conspiracy. Energetic measures have been adopted against disturbers of the public order."

Youngsters Burn Selves and Home

DULUTH (Minn.) July 6. (Exclusive)—A brother and sister playing with matches today lost their lives, destroyed the home of their widowed mother and caused a fire that almost destroyed the home of a neighbor.

Frightened when matches they were playing with set fire to their clothing, Frank, age 7, and Margaret Goodrow, 9, ran from the house and crawled under the front porch while their clothing flamed, making of them living torches. Overcome with fright Mrs. Goodrow fainted. Before neighbors could turn in a fire alarm the children were dead and the home was in flames.

SIXTEEN EAGLE BOATS SCRAPPED IN EAST

BOSTON, July 6. (Exclusive)—To prevent their being used as rum runners, sixteen Eagle boats, which cost the government $8,000,000, during the World War, are being scrapped by the David Feinberg Company of Roxbury, Mass. Built by Henry Ford, these were used as submarine chasers. They originally cost $500,000 apiece, and were sold, fully equipped, for $2000 each.

Tonite, 8:45 p. m., More About Gasoline Prices—KMPC, 710 Kilocycles!

MAINTAIN PROSPERITY!
CONTINUE COMPETITION!
SAVE the INDEPENDENT REFINERIES!

Force the present gasoline price war to end. It is rapidly destroying the independents engaged in manufacturing gasoline for sale in California. These independents represent an investment of more than $100,000,000; they have 60,000 stockholders and 10,000 employees, and spend yearly in California more than $150,000,000. They paid more than 27% of the state tax paid on all the gasoline sold in California last year.

The major companies are carrying on a ruthless price war, selling gasoline from 5c to 10c below its actual cost delivered into your car at the station. If this price war is continued, these independent refineries—a great industry in California—will be wiped out, their employees thrown out of employment, their buying power withdrawn from business and a great investment dumped into the junk heap.

A result pictured as above—inevitable unless the gasoline price war quickly ends—will result in hard times in California.

The purchasers of gasoline can end the war if they will buy gasoline at the restored price of 19½c.

The purchaser who buys at the restored price helps to maintain prosperity and thereby aids himself. The purchaser who refuses to pay the restored price courts disaster for California and thereby hurts himself.

Present cut prices range from 10c to 14½c per gallon. Here is proof that this gasoline is selling below cost:

State Inspects Private Insane Institutions

SACRAMENTO, July 6. (AP)—The semiannual inspection of private institutions in the State for the care of the insane and mentally incompetent is being conducted by the State Department of Institutions, L. R. Bruce, department secretary, said here. Inspections are made to insure maintenance of standards of treatment set by the department, prior to renewal of licenses, he explained.

There are forty-seven such institutions in the State, twenty-nine of them in Southern California, one in Fresno, and the remainder in the San Francisco Bay region. They care for approximately 1100 patients.

PROHIBITION CALLED BEST DEVICE TO CURB DRINK

Boston "Convert" Cites Figures to Show Dry Act Has Reduced Public Welfare Problems

This is the fifth of a series of articles discussing current phases of the prohibition question written for The Times by nationally prominent leaders of organizations favoring prohibition and law enforcement. Other articles will appear in The Times from time to time.

BY ELIZABETH TILTON
President of the Unitarian Temperance Society

I am a convert to prohibition. Bred in circles where it really wasn't "the thing" to be for prohibition, I was converted by one thing only—by coming to know something about the subject.

In 1912, I was a friendly visitor for the Boston Associated Charities. Saloon-ridden Charlestown was my stamping-ground. Drunkenness fairly belched itself from the saloon to the home.

I remember a kitchen, a man dead drunk on the floor, three children meandering around him in their play, with an explanation to me, "That's father, you know."

Father later said to me: "I can get by one or two saloons, but when it's the tenth I slip in."

HATED LIQUOR TRADE

I saw the truth, that for one stroke we social workers took to clean up the drink evil the liquor interests with their advertising and their corner saloons took ten against us. I came to hate the trade, but still I was dubious about prohibition. It wasn't "the thing," you know.

Then in 1914 the New York Survey asked me to make a survey of liquor experiments in the country. I went first to South Carolina, where the dispensary system was then in vogue (1893-1916.) This was the most perfected State control system ever tried. The State bought that "pure" liquor we hear about today, and sold it done up in packages; no drinking on the premises—dispensaries closed at sundown. No one was supposed to buy unless he had first been given a permit of fitness to drink by town authorities.

GRAFT CREEPS IN

But the thing went off the rails; bootlegging was rampant after sundown—taverns or parlors opened up near the dispensaries which became practically saloons; in some instances the dispensaries themselves became saloons. Furthermore, the graft and corruption that crept into the State government from being in the liquor business made South Carolina a byword. In disgust South Carolina went dry in 1916. They said to me there: "The worst thing would be to make Uncle Sam bartender—never for us."

GEORGIA GOES DRY

I next visited Georgia. At this time Georgia was trying a beer experiment. In Atlanta beer up to 4 per cent was allowed—beer saloons (1908 to 1916.) Judge Broyles of Atlanta said to me: "A light or near-beer law is practically unenforceable, as you cannot have a chemist with every keg to see that your beer is light. Anything will be sold. Besides men do get drunk on beer and wine if they take enough of it."

Georgia gave up her beer experiment in 1916 and went dry. I visited both South Carolina and Georgia and got their records after they went dry. Both showed improvement under prohibition.

Then I went to Kansas (dry from 1881.) In 1914 we were carrying (Boston Associated Charities) about 26 per cent cases in which drink figures. The charity organization in Topeka was carrying only 4 per cent.

Topeka was so different from Charlestown that I thought I was in heaven. The per-capita consumption of Kansas that year was about three gallons (Prof. Blackmar, Lawrence,) that of the county twenty-two and one-half gallons.

I saw prohibition could be enforced, and, while it did not cure, it made for vast betterment. I said to myself: "The United States will go dry because the economic good of prohibition is so potent. But New York will be the same rebel as was Kansas City. It will take New York twenty years to get reasonable enforcement."

ENFORCEMENT SLOW

I put it at twenty years because I was amazed to see how long it took Kansas to build up enforcement. Dry in 1881, only a few small places enforced the law at first. "But," said the old Chief Justice to me, "everywhere we enforced the law things were better and gradually we pushed enforcement through the State."

The cities did not come in till about 1901; Kansas City had to be forced in by padlocking. But by 1912, 90 per cent of the people voted to retain the law. Prohibition had become a state of mind. I saw a letter from a professor in Yale to his mother in Kansas. "They have saloons here at New Haven," he wrote. "Mother, it goes against the grain to bring my children up in this sort of a low-down civilization."

I came out of the dispensary system of South Carolina, the beer and wine saloons of Georgia disgusted. I came out of Kansas a convert to prohibition. It might not be the thing in Boston to be for prohibition, but that was because Boston did not know what it was talking about. I had the figures in my bag. I knew! I was a prohibitionist because I had taken the trouble to look into the matter.

Prohibition is the best device for reducing drink consumption. It does not cure, but it betters.

BELATED EAST

I went back to the East and advocated prohibition—to deaf ears. What is the matter with the East? It is too rich and too poor. Surfeit and starvation always stiffle the better instincts. The middle class does not rule in the great city.

But the middle-class still rules in the nation, and this countryside mind, wherever found, must hold fast till the city sidewalks see the light. It is a hard fight, for the census shows the cities growing bigger and the frontier smaller. The frontier made men, where the city, too often, makes gangsters. Quite apart from prohibition, the large cities are the coming problem of America, and it helps not at all to draw the red herring of prohibition across the morass of metropolitan corruption. But that is the wet strategy today. (1) To lay the corruption of large cities to prohibition. (2) To hold referenda in large city States because a referendum draws to the surface far more that does representative government the gangster mind, and that is the mind to which the wets must go primarily to overthrow prohibition.

The question today is—"Will the large city force a retreat?" It has a great weapon, the metropolitan press. Will it succeed? Frankly, it is any man's guess. My guess is that the large city is going to be beaten, for it fights the fellow that has never yet been beaten, the time spirit.

TRANSITION PERIOD

Here is the picture. Behind us is a rapidly disintegrating background of small isolated groups, of few contacts, just personal liberty and no engines. Around us in a world of large, intermingling groups, multitudinous in contacts, with little room for personal liberty and with the engine literally everywhere. Such a merging, mechanized monster calls for many new controls, hygienic, educational and sumptuary. Prohibition is simply one of the new controls. "Old Dobbin took his drunken driver home, while 'Tin Lizzie' smashed him into your motor car."

REFORMS IN WAVES

But adjustments to a new economic background always come in waves. So was it with Democracy. So is it with prohibition. We have had three waves of prohibition. The first receded leaving only Maine dry. The third wave gave us prohibition, nation-wide. It was a tidal wave. To say that we got this wave because the boys were abroad is ridiculous. Those same boys have been at home twelve years, and Congress today is the driest yet. We got it because in 1917 to 1918 the nation was at its highest—ready to put on self-discipline and self-sacrifice to the last man.

But these waves come, recede, advance. We are now at the recession period. The belated minds are trying to capitalize this period to overthrow prohibition. As usual, these belateds are found mostly in large cities, among financial interests. Those that fight prohibition are: (1.) The wine interests of Europe hampered because prohibition prohibits. (2.) The liquor interests of the United States. (3.) The few rich who always fight change. (4.) The panderers of great cities bent on making money out of that which debauches the people. (5.) Politicians, northern Democrats and eastern Republicans who seek the votes of belated city sidewalks.

For the above groups, the metropolitan press goes forth to war daily. But note well, in all this billion-sheeted battalion, no constructive alternative ever appears warranted to do as well as prohibition. That is the pertinent truth. "But the saloon is gone forever," we are told. Pleasantly pious, but Pecksniffian, for in the next breath we hear the wet solution is to return the liquor problem to the States, each to make its own solutions. In short, it asks us to go back to the very conditions that begot prohibition. This truly means the return of the saloon by whatever name called.

The other day a pretty woman addressed a colored gathering. She called for repeal. After she left the colored parson rose and said: "That lady doth reside in Swelldom. The saloons won't come back to her street, because they never were there, but they will come back to my street, so I vote no!"

Slowly the people will see it. Either we must go back to the saloon or its equivalent or go forward to enforcing the law.

When the few rich and the panderers know we mean business they will subside. The way to make them know it is to get the middle-of-the road mind that the wet metropolitan press has churned into a great state of doubt.

I think this mind is slowly seeing that there is no constructive alternative — seeing the truth of Josephus Daniels's statement: "Disguise it as they may, it is now apparent that the clear-cut issue is prohibition, with its lack of perfection, or the saloon, with its trail of evils. The man who opposes prohibition and says in the next breath that he never could tolerate the return of the saloon either is practicing deception or he does not know that just as sure as night follows day the fall of prohibition is the re-enthronement of the saloon. There has never been any alternative. There cannot be any other alternative. The whole question must be considered with that absolute premise and certainty."

When the middle-of-the-roads sufficiently sense this, forward we go again. We take the last hurdle that reforms have to take, the large city.

The questions to place before the middle-of-the-road mind are:

Do you want the saloon back?

Do you want gains like the following wiped out?

A decrease from 27 to 9 per cent in cases in which drink figured (1916 wet—1928 dry) Boston Family Welfare Society.

A decrease from 47 to 20 per cent in which drink figured (1916-1928) Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

A decrease of 72 per cent in female arrests for intoxication, Boston (1916-1928.) And this in Boston!

Pierpont Morgan's father told him always to be a bull on the American people. I'm a bull on the public spirit of America to see prohibition.

THIS IS WHY ICE
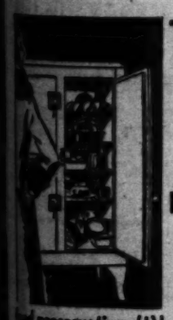
BEST
REFRIGERATION



Three things are essential to proper food preservation: (1) low temperature—less than 50°; (2) correct humidity, so that foods won't dry out, and (3) an unfailing method of carrying away food odors.

Only a good ice box well served with ice gives these three essentials.

It's kept odorless because the constant current of clean washed air carries the odors and impurities down the drainpipe, preventing strong foods from flavoring your milk, eggs, butter and other delicate foods.

Why pay an extravagant price for a mechanical chemical substitute for ice that fails in a vital particular?

Mechanical scoring protects you . . . look for the score mark and you will KNOW that each neat, evenly cut block of ICE in your refrigerator is full weight and honest value.

FOREIGN TRADE ESTIMATED HIGH

Dr. Klein Fixes Total at $20,000,000,000

Invisible Exchanges Grow to Large Importance

Cultural Imports Figure in Swelling Aggregate

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—American business dealings abroad, which meant a turnover of about $5,000,000,000 annually twenty years ago, have expanded to the point that their 1929 dimensions could be represented only by setting a turnover total of $20,000,000,000.

The estimate was expressed during the course of a radio talk tonight by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant Secretary of Commerce. He emphasized that the complex relationships of modern nations requires the inclusions of tourist expenditure, of charitable and mission donations and of international investment swings to determine the reality about national trade balances.

"Our excess imports of foreign pleasures and culture alone, through the medium of tourist travel, gave other countries last year about $370,000,000 with which to make payments to us for merchandise or any other items they owe," Dr. Klein remarked.

"While our demand for foreign goods was less than the foreign demand for our goods, our desire for their services and scenery was much greater than their desire for ours."

These invisible exchanges between nations, he commented, are now getting to be as important as the visible exchanges of commodities actually shipped. He suggested all discussions of tariff and international balance should be conducted in the light of facts about them.

One enthusiastic young man attempted to kiss Miss Johnson, but she slapped his face and he retired crestfallen, to nurse a bleeding nose.

Mrs. Herbert, mother of two children, was slumped over in the rear seat, a bullet wound in her neck, and Bailey was huddled against the machine with a bullet wound in his head. A revolver was found on the floor near his body.

Dr. Joseph Curlis, Coroner of Clermont county, said Bailey apparently shot the woman and then turned the weapon on himself. He said they had been dead since Friday night.

Railroad From Mexicali to Mainland Planned

MEXICO CITY, July 6. (Exclusive)—Lower California, the territory that is connected by land with the rest of Mexico only by a narrow strip constituting the northern part of the State of Sonora, will soon have communication facilities with the mainland, and thus will not be dependent on the United States as it is now, according to Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, Secretary of Communications, who has just returned from an inspection tour in the isolated territory.

Gen. Almazan has informed President Ortiz Rubio of the agreement for the construction of a highway from Mexicali, Lower California, to the State of Sonora recently signed by the governments of the territory and the State.

Furthermore, upon recommendation of the Secretary of Communications, the project for continuation of a railroad from Mexicali to the State of Sonora, where it will connect with the Southern Pacific line, has been revived. The railroad at present is completed for a distance of eighty kilometers, or about fifty miles, to a point near the coast of the Gulf of California.

The highway and the railroad will offer Lower California its first land-communication facilities with the rest of the republic. At present the only good communication means from Lower California are across the American border of California. Both the highway and the railroad to Sonora would cross the arid Altar desert in Northwestern Sonora.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (Exclusive)—With a 30-30 rifle, several hundred rounds of ammunition and a first-aid kit in his baggage, Salvatore Del Grosse, 16-year-old Hartford (Ct.) youth, was beginning to wonder today just how far he would have to go before he reached the wild and woolly West where Indians and bison still roamed, while the train on which he was speeding westward covered mile after mile with nary a sound of war whoop or screech of scalped paleface.

At Richmond, juvenile authorities took him off the train and brought him to this city for return to his grandfather, from whose trunk he took $1000 before starting on his trek into the wastes. He had $450 left.

MEXICO SHIFTS MIGRATION MEN

Reorganization Planned For Forces Along Border

Move Expected to Encourage Tourist Travel

American Boundary Shake-up to Start at Top

MEXICO CITY, July 6. (Exclusive)—Complete reorganization of the migration staffs at both the American and the Guatemalan borders in order to further encourage tourist trade and to help the Mexican laborer has been decreed by Secretary of the Interior Carlos Riva Palacio.

Secretary Riva Palacio has instructed Andres Landa y Pina, chief of migration, to appoint a competent person as director of migration along the American border, to be stationed at Nuevo Laredo. This person is to reorganize the entire migration staff along the border, taking care that every member of the staff be highly competent cultured and educated.

Along the Guatemalan border, with headquarters at Tapachula, State of Chiapas, through which port-of-entry most of the Central American immigrants come to Mexico, Moises Salcedo has just been named director of migration.

The order for reorganization of the migration staff comes upon the heels of several complaints received here from American tourists who charged that they were unnecessarily molested at the border upon entering Mexico. The new migration staff will be instructed to take special care that all tourists are granted all possible accommodations, that no undesirable foreigners enter the republic, and that Mexicans emigrating meet all requirements of the country to which they are going.

It is explained that reorganization of the migration service is being installed first at the borders, since there is more immediate necessity for changes there than along the coasts.

LEPER COLONY PADRE BREAKS

"Brother Joseph" Forced to Take Needed Rest

Successor to Father Damien Not Infected Though

Eyes and Body Feel Strain After Forty Years

HONOLULU, July 6. (AP)—Ira Dutton, bearing the ecclesiastical name of Brother Joseph and known as the "Samaritan of Molokai," rested here today at St. Francis Hospital, a feeble, broken man.

In 1886, a comparatively young man, Brother Joseph went to the little leper village of Kalawao on the Island of Molokai. He labored among the colony's inmates for forty-four years and surrendered his cloistered life only when health board officials obtained his promise to come to Honolulu for medical attention.

Why he chose the secluded colony has never been learned. To Brother Joseph it is a secret of which he never speaks. Brother Joseph soon will undergo an operation on his eyes. A year ago he had cataracts removed, but conditions here are more favorable for medical treatment.

WEAK AND BLIND

He arrived from Molokai yesterday by steamer, so weak he was carried from the boat to an automobile. His failing eyesight prevented him from seeing the city, which he last saw forty-four years ago.

Brother Joseph was born at Stowe, Vt., April 27, 1843. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in Company B, Thirteenth Wisconsin Infantry, for service in the Civil War. He won promotions to the rank of captain.

After the war he aided the government in collecting and burying the bodies of fallen comrades. He devoted years to assisting comrades who came out of the war broken in health and unable to earn a living.

He settled in Tennessee and became successful in business, leading an active social life. Suddenly he dropped his worldliness and turned to holiness. He joined the Catholic church, entering the Trappist Monastery at Gethsemane, Ky.

JOINED FATHER DAMIEN

Two years later, while in Louisiana, he heard of the sacrifices of Father Damien among the lepers of Molokai Island. A few months later he was on his way to the colony.

Three years after his arrival at Molokai Father Damien died. Brother Joseph took up the work of administering the colony.

By scrupulous care and cleanliness Brother Joseph managed to escape the dread disease to which he ministered. Age and his constant labors, however, appear finally to have gained the upper hand.

CHOLERA IN PHILIPPINES SPREADING

Scourge Appears in New Provinces in Past Week; Deaths So Far 221

MANILA, July 6. (AP)—Cholera has made widespread gains in the Philippines during the past week, Department of Health figures released today reveal. The disease has entered several previously unaffected places despite efforts of health authorities to check it. Deaths since June 20, last, are estimated at 221.

The disease has appeared for the first time in the Provinces of Pangasinan and Bulacan, on the Island of Luzon, on the Island of Leyte and in the city of Cebu. As a result, Dr. R. W. Hart, director of the United States Public Health Service in the Philippines, placed the city under a modified quarantine requiring examination of all departing passengers and their vaccination.

The official report for the period from June 20, last, to the 1st inst., places the number of cases in the islands at 436 and the deaths at 188. Since then reports from various places indicate seventy-eight additional cases and thirty-three deaths. The figures are probably correct, although some private sources say the disease is more prevalent than the insular health department is willing to admit.

Bantayan, a small island north of Cebu, was the hardest hit with 241 cases and 125 deaths.

GOVERNORS' GATHERING DISPERSES

Tour of Bryce Canyon Concludes Conference Held in Utah

BRYCE CANYON NATIONAL PARK (Utah) July 6. (Exclusive)—After a tour of the colorful silent city in Bryce Canyon, the governors and their parties dispersed today, having written finis across this year's national conference last night. The governors' party left here by way of Cedar Breaks and Cedar City, where they entrained for their various points of destination.

Gov. Trumbull of Connecticut, and Gov. Case of Rhode Island left Bryce Canyon for Los Angeles with President Carl R. Gray of the Union Pacific system, and will remain in Southern California several days before returning to their respective States.

The remainder of the governors left Cedar City for the north and east. Gov. Dern of Utah and the large party of State officials and other Utah representatives who piloted the governors' party through the Southern Utah parks, returned to Salt Lake City tonight.

BAD FUEL LINE ENDS TRY AT AIR RECORD

OAKLAND, July 6. (Exclusive)—A. J. Edwards, flying a light plane in which he hoped to shatter an altitude record of 13,000 feet for that type, was forced down with a dead motor from an altitude of 6000 feet today at Oakland Airport and escaped uninjured, although the ship nosed over at landing. Edwards said a clogged gasoline line caused the trouble. The nose-over came when a gust of wind hit the tail as Edwards was about to land.

ST. LOUIS TO HOLD 1933 SAENGERFEST

ST. LOUIS, July 6. (Exclusive)—The 1933 Saengerfest by the North American Saengerbund will be held in St. Louis, it has just been announced here. SURGERY OF DIM PAST RECORDED

Papyrus of 2700 B.C. to Be Offered in Book Form

Strides of Scientist in Days of Pharaohs Set Forth

Chicago University Makes Plans for Publication

CHICAGO, July 6. (AP)—The record of one of man's earliest efforts to cast off the drag of primitive superstition in favor of intelligent observations of life and death will be made available by the University of Chicago Press next week.

The university today announced its plans for publication of a two-volume edition of the Edwin Smith surgical papyrus, an early Egyptian document, dated about 2700 B.C. and composed probably by Imhotep, great surgeon and architect of the pharaohs.

One volume will contain a reproduction of the fifteen-foot papyrus, the other a translation and critical study by Prof. James Henry Breasted, famous Egyptologist and head of the university's oriental institute.

Imhotep, if Prof. Breasted is correct in his surmise as to the author, was a true scientist, reaching for a scalpel instead of a sacrifice-knife when illness or injury came before him for treatment. He practiced dissection, he devised splints, bandages, surgical swabs, adhesive tape and surgical stitching. He discussed operative technique.

FINDS CONCERNING BRAIN

Imhotep, his record shows, first distinguished "brain" from "head." He refers to "rupture of the sack containing the brain," meaning apparently the meningeal membrane, and, although the seat of consciousness from early days had been believed by the Egyptians to be in the abdominal or thoracic cavities, he noted that brain injuries effected other parts of the body and drew the obvious conclusion. Later generations disregarded this advance.

Imhotep notes the shuffle, presumably partial paralysis, resulting from cranial wounds and observed that an injury to the right side of the head affected the left limbs and vice versa. This localization of function, Prof. Breasted says, has been fully developed by surgeons only with the present generation.

OTHER DISCOVERIES

The Egyptian also noticed that the heart is a center of distributing vessels and realized the importance of the heart in determining the condition of a patient. He devised a special splint to hold open the mouth of a sufferer from lockjaw, so that he could be fed; and another of sun-dried brick to hold erect a man with a compound-comminuated skull fracture. He mentions a fire-drill, used to cauterize.

The papyrus is a copy made by a scribe about 1700 B. C. of a book written about 1000 years earlier. One volume of hieroglyphics at the beginning is lost and the scribe broke off suddenly in the middle of a word. Later he returned and copied on the back of a hodgepodge of treatments for the complexion and another and a later scribe added a prescription for an ointment to remove the wrinkles of old age.

Edwin Smith bought the papyrus from Egyptian natives in 1862 and it now is property of the New York Historical Society. This is its first publication, although it has been known among medical men and orientalists for years.

Philanthropy Resented by Passengers

NEW YORK, July 6. (NANA)—When a falling-off in trade threatened to become chronic an officer of one of the trans-Atlantic steamship lines proposed that groups of employees be given vacations, with free passage on the ships. Then the size of the passenger lists would appear to grow and trade might pick up.

Unfortunately this semiphilanthropic business policy was disclosed among regular passengers and the more snooty of them deeply resented it.

Gossip Drives Victim to Death

NEW YORK, July 6. (Exclusive)—The idle gossip of neighbors which arose when she assumed the position of woman chauffeur to a wealthy patronness caused Mrs. Virginia Closer, 42 years of age, divorcee, to commit suicide today.

Her futile struggle to make life worth while was set down in a letter. She spoke of her divorce as her first setback, then told how the stock market crash last fall had caused her to lose a position as social secretary to a rich woman.

Having been an expert driver in her more affluent days she related she then became chauffeur for another woman but her appearance in this capacity created so much talk that her employer finally discharged her and she could find no other work.

Golf Matches Will Go on Air

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System plans a nation-wide description over the air of outstanding features in the national open golf championship, to be played Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the Interlachen Club, Minneapolis.

In addition to a summary of developments in actual play, the system will broadcast short talks on various aspects of the game by such stars as Walter Hagen, Chick Evans, Horton Smith, Jock Hutchison, Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel, Harrison R. Johnson and Cyril Tolley.

CHANCE BRINGS GREAT LIBRARY

Vollbehr Collection Gained for America

Hoover Signs Measure for Its Purchase

World's Greatest Assemblage of Incunabula

WASHINGTON, July 6. (Exclusive)—A chance meeting several years ago of Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago with Dr. Otto H. F. Vollbehr of Berlin, Germany, has resulted in the acquisition by the Library of Congress of the famous Vollbehr incunabula which, with its original Gutenberg Bible, is recognized as the greatest collection of fifteenth-century books in existence.

Last Friday President Hoover signed the bill authorizing the purchase for $1,500,000 of the rare volumes conservatively estimated by American and foreign experts to be worth at least $3,000,000. An appropriation for the purchase was included in the deficiency appropriation bill finally approved by both houses in the closing hours of the session.

THIRTY-YEAR SEARCH

For more than thirty years, Dr. Vollbehr searched Europe for incunabula books printed in the fifteenth century immediately after the establishment of the first printing press by Johannes Gutenberg. After the war and the slump of the German mark, Dr. Vollbehr made some of the important additions to his collections and among them the greatest prize of all—one of the three parchment copies of Gutenberg's Bible, itself valued at more than $1,500,000.

Dr. Vollbehr had intended to present the collection to the German nation or at least sell it to the government at a nominal figure. There was a ready market for the books elsewhere, but he refused to break the collection even when offered tremendous sums for individual volumes by American private collectors.

MEETS CARDINAL

Then he met Cardinal Mundelein traveling in Europe and the cardinal, visioning the collection as the possible nucleus for the library of the great university he was planning near Chicago, persuaded Dr. Vollbehr to bring the incunabula to Chicago for exhibition during the Eucharistic Congress there several years ago.

Cardinal Mundelein's hope to acquire the collection did not materialize, however, and Dr. Vollbehr prepared to return with it to Germany. He refused uncounted offers to sell the Gutenberg Bible page by page at figures which would have netted him much more than $3,000,000 for that one volume alone.

ANGLICAN SECT OPENS SESSIONS

Lambeth Conference Held in London Colorful

Second Pope Centers Scene of Oriental Splendor

Bishops and Archbishops Join in Communion

LONDON, July 6. (AP)—The Lambeth conference officially opened today with a special service at St. Paul's Cathedral, with 300 bishops and archbishops, representing the Anglican sect all over the world taking part.

A note of oriental splendor was introduced by Patriarch Meletios of Alexandria, known as "The Second Pope," robed in pure white, and headed a procession of bearded, black-robed clergymen of the eastern Orthodox delegation. They marched down the center aisle of the church to take places in the choir stalls.

All participating archbishops and bishops joined in Holy Communion, preceded by the litany, sung in procession. The Archbishop of Canterbury headed the procession, which filed out the south door of the cathedral, re-entering by the great main entrance to take seats for the rest of the service.

The Archbishop of York, delivering the sermon, stressed the need for churchmen to keep minor disagreements on church routine out of the way of the great issue of religion, namely, faith in the living God.

The archbishop paid tribute to Lord Davidson, late Archbishop of Canterbury, who, he reminded his hearers, was present at five Lambeth conferences scattered over a period of fifty years.

The conference meetings to last several weeks, will be secret, although official statements will be made on progress of the long agenda.

FALLS RIDER FOUND DEAD IN BARREL

Coroner Declares Man Who Dared Horseshoe Cataract Suffocated

NIAGARA FALLS (N. Y.) July 6. (AP)—George Stathakis was suffocated in the barrel in which he attempted to navigate the rapids above Niagara Falls and plunge over the cataract yesterday, according to Coroner Thompson of Niagara Falls, Ont.

The body was removed from the barrel this afternoon.

The barrel, intact, was sighted shortly after 6 o'clock this morning by Canadian observers at the Canadian end of Falls View bridge. It was bumping against the rocks on the Canadian side of the river.

William (Red) Hill, veteran riverman, and his son, William, Jr., descended into the gorge and after much difficulty the barrel weighing more than a ton was taken to the Canadian shore, near the Falls View bridge.

It was floating end up, but the manhole through which Stathakis entered was on the submerged end. When the manhole finally was brought above the surface, Stathakis's body was found still strapped to a mattress he had designed as a buffer against the side of the barrel.

Coroner Thompson expressed the belief he had been dead ten or twelve hours.

Air-Record Pair Enjoy Holiday Riding in Plane

CHICAGO, July 6. (AP)—John and Kenneth Hunter, who hold the world's refueling endurance flight record, enjoyed an aviator's holiday today. They went for an airplane ride.

Although not fully recovered from the rigors of the 554-hour flight ended Friday, the champions spent a happy period in a borrowed plane above Sky Harbor Airport, scene of their epic conquest.

The Hunters will appear in the Cook county Circuit Court Tuesday to answer a suit seeking to enjoin them from selling their plane or handling the profits of their flight until an accounting is rendered stockholders of a corporation which sponsored their endurance attempt last November at Chicago.

COAST ARMY CHIEF TO QUIT POST THIS FALL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Maj.-Gen. John L. Hines, commanding the Ninth Corps Area of the United States Army, will be relieved about September 10, next, it was announced today at the Presidio on the basis of advance orders received by radio from the War Department. Gen. Hines, who has commanded the Ninth Corps Area since December, 1926, will sail for Manila to assume command of the Philippine Department. So far, no information has been received regarding his successor.

Floods Sweeping Northern Spain in Quake's Trail

MADRID, July 6. (AP) — While many residents of Southern Spain were camping in the fields in fear of another earthquake following the shocks last night, serious floods were reported in Northern Spain today.

Dispatches said crops, live stock and buildings had been damaged by floods near Santander, Pampolo, Locrono and Burgos. Vineyards were especially hard hit, high winds adding to the damage.

The earthquake shocks were of great intensity at Seville, Granada and Cordoba. At Lucena, loud subterranean noises were heard, while the trembling earth rang the church bells.

I Choose the $99 Vacation Trip Through the Northwest

About two things are my ideal of a vacation—a trip to some great scenic place and a visit with relatives and friends back East. I've just discovered that I can combine both!

"This year I'm going to travel through the charming Northwest where America plays in summer!

"I've just called at the city office of the Northern Pacific and I never realized before how many famous scenic regions there are to visit when one travels the scenic Northern Pacific route. They told me all about it.

"Just think! Majestic Rainier, Mt. Baker, Magic Yellowstone Park, Dude Ranches—all right along the way, besides numerous other resorts in the interesting cities of the Northwest, the Rocky Mountains and on farther East to Minnesota's 10,000 Lakes.

"Amazing? But wait an instant until you hear the low cost. When they told me, I surely did register surprise, as they say in Hollywood. The whole trip, 7800 mighty miles, will cost me only $99.00 round trip rail and steamship fare from Los Angeles to St. Paul, Duluth or Winnipeg and I can go on farther East, if I decide, at correspondingly low fares via the Northern Pacific Railway.

"Starting up the coast, I travel by steamship or train to Portland or Seattle. Then comes a delightful sidetrip to quaint English Victoria and Vancouver, B. C. In fact, I can visit Canada twice—again by sidetrip from Minnesota to Winnipeg.

"East from Seattle a new delight awaits me, a trip on America's newest train, the palatial North Coast Limited, fast only All-Pullman train in the Northwest. What a trip it's going to be, with luxury, comfort and those 'famously good' Northern Pacific meals.

"I don't know just when I'm coming back. I can revel in all the summer beauty of the North and even see the glory of the painted autumn, for my return ticket will be good until October 31st. Probably I'll be tempted to loaf along the way, as I have complete stopover privileges."

The Northern Pacific will gladly plan your trip, too. Just call, telephone or write J. C. Spracklin, 510 Central Bldg., 108 West Sixth St., Los Angeles. Phone Trinity 2322.

BOMBAY'S RICH FOREGO SILKS

Wives of India Millionaires Wear Homespun

Noblewomen Join Move for Independence

Ten Hurt in Clash Between Police and Paraders

BOMBAY, July 6. (AP)—The wives of Parsi Merchant Princes, who joined the Swaraj, or independence movement, have cast aside costly foreign silks, and now are wearing simple homespun materials.

Women dressed in this manner made their first appearance today at a meeting of the Parsi Political Association, held to protest against the arrest of Mrs. Pepin Captain. Among those participating were Lady Petit, wife of Sir Dinshaw Manocwee Petit, and Lady Jeejeebhoy, wife of Sir Byramjee Jeejeebhoy, as well as the wives of other titled millionaires.

The meeting was addressed by Pandit Vallabhai Patel, president of the National Congress, who urged all Parsis to join the independence movement in their own interests.

"It has been suggested that the Parsis might lose all their wealth under Swaraj, but instead of being millionaires as at present, you would all become multimillionaires under Swaraj," he said.

TEN HURT WHEN PARADERS AND POLICE CLASH

POONA, BOMBAY (India) July 6. (AP)—Ten persons were injured today in a clash between police and members of a large procession which was on its way to the Yeravda Jail to pay homage to Mahatma Gandhi on completion of his second month's imprisonment.

The police told leaders of the procession that it constituted unlawful assembly whereupon the marchers stopped on the road for six hours throwing stones and flower pots at the police. Several officers were injured. They finally dispersed the crowd with a charge.

Capt. Blake of the royal Bombay sappers and miners passing in a motor car with his wife was injured slightly by a stone thrown through the windshield. His wife fainted, but was uninjured.

Farm Boys Will Try for Scholarships

CHICAGO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Three college scholarships, worth $500, $300 and $200, annually, will be among the prizes for which high school boys and girls of the nation will be competing when they take part here late this summer in the live stock judging contests to be held in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition. The scholarships, offered annually by the Chicago Association of Commerce, have been won most frequently in recent years by youths from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and other southwestern States.

EXTERMINATION FACED BY KURDS

Turks Close in On Tribesmen of Mt. Ararat Reaches

Hemmed in and Bombed With All Escape Cut Off

Rebels Long Have Been Source of Great Trouble

ISTANBUL (Turkey) July 6. (AP) Official announcement today indicated the Turkish government is closing in on insurgent Kurds on Mt. Ararat, and that the rebel tribes face extermination.

Bombed by Turkish planes, hemmed in by the reinforced Nationalist army, the tribesmen, said a dispatch from Angora, are finding escape toward Persia impossible.

If the government's campaign is successful, it will break the power of the fierce Dueliali and Haydaranli tribes. The latter numbers about 5000, and for centuries has maintained its stronghold on Mt. Ararat, descending the slopes each spring to pillage the valley villages.

LATE SULTAN BLAMED

Turkish press blames the present trouble on the Turkish Sultan Abdul Hamid, who died in 1918 after being deposed. The newspapers say he gave unlimited power to tribal leaders and sheiks, many of whom were of the fanatical Dervish orders.

The fact that Kurdish tribes recognized no other authority than these leaders is considered responsible for the present uprising.

The anti-Persian tone of the press is growing bitter. The newspaper, Vakit, discussing the situation today, said:

"We laugh when the Persians assert they are not responsible for arming these tribes, but our laughter merely is a prelude to tomorrow's roar from Ghazi."

ARREST STIRS ROW

Turkey denies her forces are crossing the frontier to attack Kurds reported advancing toward Turkish territory, but well-informed circles here point out it will be difficult to respect the northern boundary rigidly. For twenty-five miles at one stretch the sole mark on the boundary fixed by treaty is one tree.

High mountains have impeded the Turkish attack, and rumors here say the Kurds have brought down three Turkish planes.

Kurdish tribes are believed to have been stirred to action by the Turkish government's arrest of Sheik Selahedding, 20-year-old son of Sheik Said, leader of the Kurdish revolt in 1925. The Turkish government yesterday sent to Teheran a note protesting against the arming and provisioning of the Kurdish tribes in Persia.

POORHOUSE CONDEMNED BY EAGLES

Organization to Discuss Age Pensions at Annual Conclave in Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (Exclusive)—"Abolish the Poorhouse in America" will be the slogan of the business and legislative sessions of the thirty-second annual international Grand Aerie convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, to be held in this city August 11 to 16, with 50,000 visitors expected here from all parts of the United States and Canada for the conclave. Foremost among the many progressive activities and programs of the Eagles' organization, the proposal for the establishment of old-age pensions for dependent aged people in every State in the Union, will be given careful analysis by standing and special committees of experts, who have been directing the intensive campaign waged by the order for several years, to secure the enactment of old-age pension measures in all of the States of the nation. Thus far, eleven States have passed such laws—Colorado, Kentucky, California, Maryland, Nevada, Minnesota, Montana, Utah, Wisconsin, Wyoming and New York—and the official pens with which the governors of each State signed the measures will be on exhibition at the coming Grand Aerie in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium.

Museum Gift Made Because Son Interested

CHICAGO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Years ago a father stood beside his son in the Museum of Machinery at Munich, Germany, and noted the rapt attention with which the lad gazed upon the many mechanical wonders on display. Chicago's new Museum of Science and Industry, the Chicago Association of Commerce reveals, is the outcome of that boy's interest in mechanics.

Julius Rosenwald, noted philanthropist and the donor of the new Chicago museum, is the father who saw and remembered the pleasure his son experienced in the German museum years ago. "I decided then," declared Mr. Rosenwald in a recent address, "that Chicago should have such a museum so that others, too, might enjoy such sights."

The museum, for which Mr. Rosenwald gave $3,000,000, will contain exhibits showing the types of machinery the world has used from the earliest days down to the present period of mechanical efficiency. The museum will be housed in the Fine Arts Building, used during the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893 in Jackson Park, and now being reconditioned.

OWNER OF RECKLESS CAR HELD GUILTLESS

CHICAGO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Judge Freeman of Fairbank has ruled that a man can't be charged with reckless driving if he's not in his car when it jumps the sidewalk and crashes into a store front. Kibby West was charged with reckless driving. He told the court he had bought a new car and the engine went dead on him. He got out and started to push. Suddenly it started and went across the sidewalk and crashed into the front of a store owned by Charles Stegman. "This is a civil matter," ruled Judge Fairbank. "Discharged."

WESTERN AIR CHANGES BAY CITY PORTS TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Planes of the Western Air Express to Los Angeles and West Coast Air Transport to Portland and Seattle are scheduled to begin operations tomorrow from the San Francisco Bay Airdrome at Alameda, thus allowing opportunity for hurried passengers to take full advantage of all time-saving measures possible in bay territory. Connections will be afforded with transbay planes of Air Ferries, Ltd. A saving in time of as much as forty-five minutes can be effected over the automobile and ferry accommodations previously afforded between this city and the flying-fields of the two lines.

IMPORTANT GERMAN CANAL COMPLETED

MUNSTER, July 6. (Exclusive)—The Lippe Canal from Wesel to Datteln, creating a new and highly important water route for the Rhenish-Westphalian industrial district, has been completed after fourteen years of work. It is about thirty-eight miles long and has six locks. With a depth of eleven and one-half feet and a width of nearly 125 feet, it can accommodate the largest inland vessels. How densely the district through which it passes is settled is indicated by the fact that fifty-four bridges cross the canal in its comparatively short course, or nearly one and one-half in every mile.

JAIL OPENER FACES OUSTER

Alderman Who Freed 268 Prisoners Assailed

ATLANTA (Ga.) July 6. (AP)—J. Allen Couch, Atlanta's bighearted Alderman who freed 268 prisoners in a gesture of independence while acting as Mayor on the Fourth of July, tonight faced possible impeachment.

Alderman G. Everett Millican announced he probably would begin impeachment proceedings at the next meeting of the City Council, charging Couch exceeded his authority.

Police spoke their displeasure at Couch's action and continued to rearrest as many prisoners as they could on old charges.

Couch, who is under indictment on a charge of bribery which grew out of an expose of wholesale graft in municipal affairs, served as Mayor, while I. N. Ragsdale, regular head of the city government was in New York welcoming Bobby Jones home.

CASE FOR KING SOLOMON SEEN

New Story of Two Women Claiming Babe Theirs

Mrs. Bertha Higdon in Jail, But She Has Child

Declares Kidnaping Charge of Sister "Spite"

SAN BERNARDINO, July 6.—As if she were in her own home, Mrs. Bertha Higdon, 34 years of age, of Bloomington, hummed a lullaby today as she rocked in her arms little Leta Joyce Higdon—or Smith—8 weeks of age, in the matron's quarters of the San Bernardino County Jail.

If Mrs. Higdon, the wife of Allan Higdon, an accountant, was troubled by the claim of Mrs. Ruth Smith of 1270 McAllister street, San Francisco, that the babe is her own flesh and blood, she concealed it behind her apparent love, instinctive mother love which excluded her cares for her own plight.

Nor had a night in the jail upset Mrs. Higdon. She did, however, refer to the kidnaping story told in the sixth by her sister, Miss Gladys Hatfield, as "just plain spite," but declared she is willing to face Mrs. Smith, who signed the complaint, and disprove her claim to the babe.

MRS. SMITH CLAIMS CHILD

Miss Hatfield told San Francisco officers that her sister, Mrs. Higdon, took the baby away from her home a month ago. It had been left at Miss Hatfield's home by the mother, Mrs. Smith, who said she was unable to care for it. Since, Mrs. Smith has changed her mind and wants her baby back, Miss Hatfield said.

"Why, of course, this is my baby," said Mrs. Higdon. "Do you think I could love anyone else's baby as I do this one?

"Little Leta was born May 8 in San Francisco," she continued. "I had left my home in San Diego and gone to San Francisco to be near my mother. The baby was born in her apartment on O'Farrell street—I forget the number just this minute. I was attended by a Dr. Cooley, from a clinical hospital. Why, the baby was born at 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Any mother knows when her baby is born.

"After the baby came, I stayed with my mother for nearly a month. Then my husband, Allan, came and I returned to his mother's home at Bloomington.

"I never heard of this Mrs. Ruth Smith. Who is she?"

Allan Higdon, the woman's husband and asserted father of little Leta, was not at home today. He was in Los Angeles on Saturday, when his wife was taken into custody by deputy sheriffs, taking a civil-service examination for a Federal job, his wife said.

ARREST EXPLAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Higdon were living at the home of Higdon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Higdon, well-to-do Bloomington ranchers. The mother-in-law was noncommittal to the officers who arrested the asserted mother.

Mrs. Bertha Higdon explained her arrest as a spite move by her sister, Miss Hatfield. She said that she owed the sister "some money," which she was unable to pay because her husband, Allan Higdon, was out of employment.

"She knows how much Allan and I love this baby," said Mrs. Higdon. "She is just doing this for revenge. But I can prove—to anyone—that this is my baby. And I'll keep her, too."

Meanwhile, San Francisco officers are en route to San Bernardino to take Mrs. Higdon and the baby back to the north—and the courts.

Prowler Tells Why He Could Not Find Home

PASADENA, July 6. — "Just drunk and can't find my home—that's all."

Such was the explanation of the dubious activities of a man who aroused home owners in the exclusive Rose Villa district here this afternoon as he broke into house after house, wandered around, and escaped without taking anything.

Acting upon the report of Mrs. A. S. Puckle, 35 South Parkwood, detectives descended into the district searching for a "choosy" type of burglar.

They arrested, instead, George Warren Gosch, 341 South Berkley, on a charge of being drunk.

"I was trying to find where I lived," he told arresting officers. Among the homes he is asserted to have entered was that of Dr. J. D. Dunshee, city health officer.

BABY'S MOTHER, NOT KIDNAPER, SHE SAYS

Whose Child is This?

ANGELENO SAVES TWO AT BEACH

Charles Butler Hailed as Hero in Double Rescue of Men Whose Boat Capsized

NEWPORT BEACH, July 6.—Charles Butler, 16-year-old Los Angeles youth, is named a hero for having saved the lives of two men yesterday. Edward Taratino, 21, Los Angeles, and W. L. Williams, 30, of that city, were riding the swells of Camp Shell near the Santa Ana River, when their boat capsized, throwing them into the water. Butler, on the shore 600 feet away, saw the men floundering in the rough sea and grabbed a life-guard cylinder and went to their rescue. Both men were seized with cramps, but the daring youth brought both safely to shore before lifeguards and rescue workers arrived from Newport Beach, three miles away.

Guards Gillian, Turner and Teeter and Rescue Squadmen Pellet, McCormick, Broscoe and Windringer, treated the men for shock and exposure for more than an hour. Crocker, head of the lifeguard department, praised the boy for his heroic deed.

He also said that Newport Beach has sixteen life-saving stations located between the harbor entrance and the Santa Ana River on the north, and planned to establish five additional stations.

Two bathing beauties sitting on the bank of Newport Bay at the foot of M street slipped off into eighteen feet of water and were almost drowned, yesterday.

Gerald Davis and Sis Lazarish, two local youths, swimming in the bay not far distant, rushed to their rescue upon hearing their screams and brought Helen Kublitz of Santiago street, Santa Ana, and Sue Verburg of 709 McFadden street, that city, safely to shore. Lifeguards treated the girls and after a few hours rest their were apparently no worse for their experience.

Pomona Elks Plan for Fete

POMONA, July 6.—A two-day stag event, to eclipse anything of its kind ever before given, was announced today by the Pomona Elks' lodge, to be held at Rowland's Grove, Walnut, on the 26th and 27th inst. Fred E. Brown, Exalted Ruler of the local order, stated that the days of '49 will be depicted in the general arrangements, with a monster free barbecue on the second day.

A special committee has been appointed to stage the event, while all lodges in Southern California will be visited by special delegations to extend an invitation to them to participate. As a result, Elks from over the Southland are expected to swarm the affair and stage a lively celebration.

PIONEER WOMAN SUCCUMBS

Octogenarian Relict of Late Dr. Jefferson Taylor of Ontario Dies There; Funeral Tomorrow

ONTARIO, July 6.—A pall of sadness hung over the community today at the death of Mrs. Lillian Monroe Taylor, wife of the late Dr. Jefferson Taylor, one of the leading educators of Southern California. Mrs. Taylor died at her home, 419 West E street, at the age of 80 years.

Recognized as one of the pioneers of the valley, Mrs. Taylor and her husband came here forty years ago when Chaffey Brothers of Canada were establishing their colonization idea here.

Mrs. Taylor was active in the Eastern Star, and was a Past Worthy Matron of Euclid Chapter here. She was also prominently identified with the First Methodist Church. She was a charter member of the local Eastern Star Chapter, and one of the organizers of the Friday Afternoon Club, the oldest and most exclusive woman's club in this city.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Frank G. Reed of Long Beach, and Mrs. Ralph Howell of San Antonio Canyon; two sons, Dr. Frank M. Taylor of Ontario, and Morris M. Taylor of Los Angeles, and one sister, Miss Kezzie Appleton Monroe, resigned librarian from Ontario Public Library.

Funeral services for Mrs. Taylor will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Draper chapel here. Officiating minister will be Rev. Josiah Sibley, pioneer Ontarian, now living in Pasadena. Rev. Sibley was formerly with Dr. Taylor.

THREE WASHED OFF SHIP DECK

But All Were Brought Back, Tuna Skipper Reports

Chief Engineer Pulled Into Briny by Huge Fish

Another Man Follows Suit; Backwash Rescues Third

SAN DIEGO, July 6. — Three members of the crew of the tuna clipper Glenn Mayne were washed overboard while fishing in southern waters. But all were brought back, it was reported today, after the vessel's arrival here.

Herbert Allen, chief engineer, was jerked in to the water by a 400-pounder, but caught a handline and pulled himself back to safety. Emil Marlow went the same way a few minutes later but got beyond the reach of a line and nearly drowned, before his shipmates rescued him. Then Angelo Castiguder rode a big sea over the rail, but was miraculously saved when a freak backwash of a second wave carried him to within reach of a line.

Capt. E. W. Cullen reported boisterous weather for almost the entire trip. The captain is said to have had a narrow escape from injury when a shark snapped at his hands while he was washing in the water alongside the boat.

Orange County Girl Reserves Enjoy Asilomar

FULLERTON, July 6. — North Orange county has several delegates at the Girl Reserve Conference at Asilomar in Monterey county. Miss Edna Mumford of Fullerton is in charge of the delegation which consists of Sarah McElhemy, Jean Ling, Pearl McAuley, Geraldine Wolfe and Rebecca Marsdon of this city, and Betty Shafer, Caroline Moore and Mildred Teele of Brea. Miss Mumford, the local Girl Reserve secretary, reports that the conference is a huge success and the Orange county girls are having a most interesting and enjoyable time.

The Asilomar grounds have been turned into cities of the time when craft guilds flourished and every tradesman was proud of his craft. Instruction in many crafts is offered to the girls and they are supposed to master at least one of them. Each tent-house has become a guild hall and the craftsmen of each guild will exhibit their wares on fair day.

Dalton Wash's Course Changed by Lemon House

GLENDORA, July 6.—Expansion of two citrus packing plants, the Glendora Heights Orange and Lemon Association and the Glendora Lemon Growers' Association, now under way, includes not only the installation of additional machinery and equipment, but also a change in the course of the Dalton wash which runs east and south of the lemon plant.

Finding that additional storage capacity is needed, the lemon association has decided to build an extension on the property east of the present plant, which is now intersected by Dalton wash. The course of the wash, which is the main drain of the city, will be changed to run north of the lemon house, then diagonally to the highway and railroad bridge south of the heights plant. Pacific Electric tracks serving the plant will necessarily be changed as they lie in the direct course which the wash will take.

Cupid's Marks Few at Santa Ana for June

SANTA ANA, July 6.—The well-known archer, Dan Cupid, is brushing up on his marksmanship now, following a disastrous record for the month of June, during which the little bowman found target fewer times than in any June since 1922.

Marriage license records for Orange county, disclosed by County Clerk J. M. Backs, show that only 386 licenses were issued during June, the lowest mark in eight years. "The three-day marriage law cannot be blamed altogether for the decrease," said Backs, "for June of 1929 had 487 licenses and June, 1928, had 377. The law became effective in July, 1927."

The same depression in the matrimonial market was noted in May of this year, which recorded 283 licenses, as compared to 309 for the preceding May.

Robinson Named Harbor Master

NEWPORT BEACH, July 6.—M. S. Robinson, former president of the Balboa Angling Club, and, until recently captain of one of the J. B. McNally's Thistle line of fishing craft operating here, has been appointed harbor master.

The appointment is nominally deputy harbor master, and was made by Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson, nominally harbor master. It is expected that the City Council will pass favorably on it at an early meeting.

Robinson takes the place of Tom O. Jay, who has gone on an extended vacation to Canada and the northwestern States.

DOG HERO OF DAM DISASTER PRAISED

"Don" and His Master

PASADENA, July 6.—Don is "just dog," and he didn't think of medals or of this tardy public recognition of his heroism when he saved the lives of his master's wife and two children in the St. Francis Dam disaster in 1928.

Chic Chivvis of 4743 La Canada Boulevard, befriended Don when he was a homely and homeless puppy, but when the dog saved Mrs. Chivvis and her children, Wilsey, 8 years of age, and Carolyn, 10, he wiped off his debt of gratitude and accumulated a credit on his side of the ledger that will never run into the red.

On the night of the disaster, Chivvis left his family in Don's protection in a small adobe house while he went two miles up the Santa Clara River to look for some stray horses.

"It was about 2 a.m.," Mrs. Chivvis recalled, "when Don awakened me by pawing at my face and barking furiously."

Terrified by the roar of the seventy-five-foot wall of water, the mother dragged the sleeping children from their beds and followed Don toward Nigger Canyon Mesa, a quarter of a mile away. The water rose to little Wilsey's chin and Don was forced to swim during the final lap of the race with death, but all succeeded in reaching a point of safety from which they saw the waters close over the roof of their home.

At daybreak, Chivvis, sickened by fear for the safety of his family, searched frantically for them among the dead and injured.

When the group finally were reunited and he had heard of Don's part in the rescue, the master rewarded the dog with a two-pound steak.

"He liked that steak better than any medal, but we've spoiled him and he's getting fat," remarked Chivvas as he patted Don's sleek flank.

TEACHERS OF MUSIC GATHERING

PASADENA, July 6.—Five hundred music teachers were ready to invade Pasadena today to open the twentieth annual convention of the Music Teachers' Association of California at the Hotel Huntington. The conclave will close Thursday night.

The first day's session includes registration in the morning, roll call and reports of committees in the afternoon, followed by a banquet in the evening.

Hermosa Still Draws Throngs

HERMOSA BEACH, July 6.—Crowds outnumbering those of July Fourth thronged the beach here today, the final day of the three-day celebration of the national holiday. Band concerts afternoon and evening and transportation to the United States destroyer Sicard, stationed in the bay over the holiday, furnished some of the diversions offered the visitors.

The celebration was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and drew a record attendance.

VALENCIA SALES IN NEW RECORD

Visions of Another Banner Year Seen by Growers

Business in June of Orange Exchange Sets New Mark

Receipts for Last Month Total $2,063,366.53

SANTA ANA, July 6.—Visions of another record-breaking year for citrus returns, which may approach last season's record total of nearly $12,000,000, were seen here today when the Orange County Fruit Exchange established a new record for June sales, breaking the market set in 1928 when receipts for June totaled $1,277,674.40, sales for the past month aggregated $2,063,366.53, according to the report of C. C. Hillis, exchange manager.

With receipts from November 1 to July 1 having reached a total of $5,731,559.53 and with four months of heavy receipts in prospect, it appears that the record of $12,000,000 made last year will again be closely approached.

June receipts this year were the highest ever received by the exchange and for the first time passed the $2,000,000 mark. The estimate of fruit remaining to be shipped through the local exchange as of the 1st inst. is 2747 cars of Valencias and 771 cars of lemons, exchange officials announced today.

Shipments for the season up to date have been 1343 cars of Valencias, it was stated. The shipments are on a basis of 482 boxes to the car of Valencias and 348 boxes on lemons. The sales reported for the month of May, totaling nearly $900,000, also established a new record for May receipts.

Maj. Young to Command at Rockwell Field

SAN DIEGO, July 6.—Maj. Barton K. Young, Air Corps, has been ordered to Rockwell Field as commanding officer, relieving Maj. A. L. Sneed, who leaves the 14th inst. Maj. Young was graduated from the Military Academy and received his commission in 1907 as second lieutenant of infantry. He transferred to the air service in 1920 after service in the Signal Corps. He is a native of Ohio.

Maj. Sneed, who assumed command of Rockwell Field November 15, 1927, has been ordered by the chief of air staff to Fairfield air depot at Fairfield, O. This will place him in command of the Army's largest aero-repair depot. It was announced at Rockwell Field, Fairfield Air Depot is near Wright Field, where the Army's flying equipment is checked and tested in some of the world's most elaborate research laboratories.

It was under Maj. Sneed's administration that the Seventh Bombardment Group was reconstituted at Rockwell Field in June, 1929. Since that time the group, commanded by Maj. Carl Spatz, has made an enviable record for itself. Maj. Spatz will be acting in command of the field until September 14, when Maj. Young will arrive.

Officers of the field will give a farewell party to Maj. Sneed Wednesday at Casa de Manana, La Jolla.

Woman Heads Alhambra Board of Education

ALHAMBRA, July 6. — For the first time in the history of the Alhambra Board of Education a woman sits in the president's chair. Mrs. Lillian M. Gilstrap, a member of the board for seven years, was elected to the presiding office at the recent organization meeting. She succeeds A. Janssen, whose term expired the 1st inst.

Mrs. Gilstrap has been prominent in local educational and club circles for many years. Charles H. Munson was named vice-president.

H. H. Montgomery, who was elected last month to fill the vacancy on the board, assumed his duties at the first session of the new board.

At the meeting tribute was paid to Janssen, the retiring president, who, during his four-year term of office had missed only three meetings of the board.

George L. Yelland was reappointed secretary of the board, beginning his fifteenth consecutive year.

GLENDALE GOES ON STATE MAP

Long-standing Injustice to be Righted by Placing Community's Name Upon Chart of California in Ferry Building at San Francisco

GLENDALE, July 6.—A long-standing injustice to Glendale is about to be adjusted.

In the Ferry Building at San Francisco there hangs a large relief map showing the State of California, with its leading cities plainly marked. Most of the cities, that is. Glendale was left out when the map was made and the omission has formed the theme of countless letters that have been written to civic bodies, to the City Council and to the editors of the local papers.

These protests, however, failed to bring about any change until William H. Ellery of 535 Palm Drive, invaded the Bay City last week and came back and wrote another letter to the editor. This time the letter came to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce officials and Dr. T. C. Young, the president, took action.

Through the California State Chamber of Commerce, of which he is regional director, Dr. Young insisted that Glendale be given its place in the sun, and as the State chamber maintains the map, it realized that something must be done about it.

Ellery has been advised that Glendale is to be marked on the map and the outrage to his civic pride is completely assuaged.

But the ironic angle of the matter is that the relief map was constructed in the first place by a citizen of Glendale.

BANKERS BANK ON AIR FLIGHT

Raise Given Staff, on Aerial Picnic

Bank of Inglewood Force Embarks on Plane Flight

Reading from left to right, as the first contingent of the bank staff lines up to enter the plane, are: Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Baker, E. D. Boone, Mrs. N. J. Salyards, Ralph P. Lamb, and Sam H. Greene. The latter may be seen assisting Miss Ethel Johnson (above,) into the plane, and hence she may have convincing evidence that the bank president is giving her a raise.

INGLEWOOD, July 6.—The first aerial picnic in the history of aviation, so far as is known here, was held today by the entire force of the Bank of Inglewood, of which Sam M. Greene is president. The occasion was in celebration of the bank's recent attainment of $1,500,000 in assets, hence the raise, vertically speaking, for the bank staff.

The women of the staff, as well as the wives of bank officers and other employees, co-operated in providing the aerial picnic lunch, which was so bountiful that there was some demur on the part of the pilot on the plea of overloading, but enough was taken along to assure the cutting of a melon or two when the plane, like the bank, had reached the zenith of its rapid rise.

Sam Greene, who has earned a reputation for a wisecracker, following several years of earnest endeavor as an after-dinner speaker, explained that he was taking up all the bank force, inasmuch as bankers are supposed to have a strong reluctance against lone, or loan, flights, of any kind.

Even high in air, however, the bankers failed to escape the daily routine as they banked on every turn.

As a precaution against contingencies, the bank president called upon Albert Lindburg of this city to take a photograph, in sections, of the group of twenty-four in the party, just in case that their respective friends might have something to recall how they looked, in case of a bank failure in the air.

But happily, there was not even a ripple or a jolt, in fact, not even a cashier's check, to mar the aerial journey in the cabin passenger planes provided by Lawrence Talbot, president of the California Aerial Transport Company at whose invitation the picnic was arranged, he being a customer of the bank.

Those in the picnic party were: President Sam M. Greene and daughter Doris, Misses Helen Rockwell and Annabel Wright, Cashier Ralph Lamb, Assistant Cashier E. D. Boone and wife and son, Buddy, Assistant Cashier Roland Robbins and wife, Mrs. Blanche Salyards, Mrs. Luella Newberry, Will Pearce and wife, Hubert Baker and wife, Miss Mabel Johnson, Wallace Beautreau and wife, George Gorciak, Vernon Spencer, Don Ross and wife, and Miss Ethel Johnson. Lindburg and his assistants also took a ride after folding up their cameras, which completed the most novel picnic celebration ever held in Inglewood.

AIR BASE REMOVAL PROTESTED

Chula Vista Citizens Join in Avalanche of Wires to Hoover on Subject

CHULA VISTA, July 6.—Local citizens are joining in the barrage of telegrams to President Hoover in protest against removal of army aviation activities from Southern California.

Sent in response to a request from A. G. Arnoll, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the telegrams call attention of the president to the fact that removal would leave the naval base at North Island without adequate defense and remind him that the cost of the change would be $8,000,000.

Telegrams sent from here remind him in addition that this city has offered the government 900 acres free for an army airport and has voted $1000 for their improvement.

Delay of the President's approval of the Kahn bill, which authorizes the transfer, is requested in messages from here and from all the chambers of Northern San Diego county, under the direction of Walter C. Witman of Vista.

President Hoover is being kept informed that according to the 1930 census Southern California has increased 125 per cent in population against the 16 per cent increase in the San Francisco Bay region and Northern California.

Fete in Bowl Financial Flop, Chief Coop Says

PASADENA, July 6.—Pasadena Fire Department's Fourth of July celebration in the Rose Bowl here may have been an artistic success, but it was anything but a money-maker, reports of Fire Chief Ernest Coop revealed today.

While more than 20,000 persons are said to have witnessed the huge spectacle, only $4700 in cash came through the gate. Cost of the show is expected to consume that amount and more.

The sale of very few dollar seats, an extraordinarily large number of children present, and the issuance of many complimentary tickets, are given as reasons for the financial flop of the affair.

Milk Put Into Water by This Dairy Driver

NEWPORT BEACH, July 6.—In the wee sma' hours of the morning, H. A. Luhrs, driver of a milk truck from the Ideal Dairy at Costa Mesa, ran his truck off of the ferry approach at Palm street on the Balboa side and dived nose first into twenty feet of water of Newport Bay.

Residents in the neighborhood responded to his cries and rescued Luhrs. Later in the day the truck, laden with bottles filled with milk, was raised from the bottom of the bay.

Luhrs asserts that he thought the ferry was there, and in the fog did not discover his mistake in time to stop, because his brakes were poor.

Pharmacy Held Up by Bandit

PASADENA, July 6. — Making his escape in a car asserted to have been purchased with a fraudulent check in Los Angeles several days ago, a young gunman held up the Palm Garden Pharmacy at 1850 East Colorado street here last night and walked off with $40 in cash.

The hold-up artist entered the pharmacy and tendered 50 cents in payment for a package of gum. While the proprietor was reaching for the change, the would-be customer whipped out a gun and ordered him to place the contents of the cash drawer in a gray cap which he held out.

Miniature Golf to be Theater Attraction Now

HAWTHORNE, July 6.—Opening of the miniature golf course at the Fox Plaza Theater, one of the first to be installed by the theater chain, is expected to take place about the 19th inst.

The course, utilizing the grounds surrounding the theater, was designed by Walter Kofeldt, manager of the house. It is to be known as the Fox Movietone News Course, the eighteen holes being arranged to represent a trip around the world.

The theater management and merchants plan a tournament as part of the opening week entertainment.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Chulk and a half dozen other apes waddled rapidly forward and, following the ape-man's directions, seized both him and Werper and bore them off toward the jungle. The Belgian officer now succeeded in persuading his trembling command to fire a volley after the retreating apes. A ragged, straggling volley it was, but at least one of its bullets found a mark, for, as the jungle closed about the hairy rescuers, Chulk, who bore Werper across one broad shoulder, staggered.

Chulk reeled from side to side and at last fell mortally wounded. As he went down he dropped Werper so that the latter fell face-downward with the body of the ape lying half across him. In this position the Belgian felt something resting against his hands, which were still bound at his back—something that was not a part of the hairy body of the ape. Mechanically the man's fingers felt of the object resting almost in their grasp—it was a soft pouch filled with small, hard particles.

Werper gasped in wonderment as recognition filtered through the incredulity of his mind. It was impossible, and yet—it was true! Tarzan, sitting at a short distance away, was busy with the remaining knots of the cords that bound him. Presently he flung aside the last of them and arose. Approaching Werper he knelt beside him. For a moment he examined the ape. "Quite dead," he announced. "Too bad. He was a splendid fellow," and then he turned to the work of liberating the Belgian. When he had freed his hands Werper stayed him.

"I can do the rest with my pocket-knife," he said. Thus he succeeded in ridding himself of the ape-man's attention. A moment later he had cut the thong which fastened the pouch about Chulk's shoulder, and once more he was in possession of the jewels of Opar. Then he arose and approached Tarzan. "Now," said the ape-man, "keep your promise to me. Lead me to the spot where you last saw my wife." The apes trailed after the two white men, but soon their interest lagged and Tarzan bid them rest in a leafy glade while he and Werper continued.

"Well, I see Bert has a new car!"

"I DON'T see how he manages it . . . he makes far less money than I do and I Know that I can't afford a car".

"That's just like you, Joe, we ought to have a car you KNOW that, too. NOW I'll tell you something that you DON'T know. That's not a new car. Bert's been watching the used car ads in the Los Angeles Times and he bought that car at a price that would make you ashamed to admit you couldn't afford it. If you would do a little want ad reading, we could both do a lot of automobile riding."

Calumet-Arizona President Issues Statement

Says Plant Running at Half Monthly Capacity

Company Ready for Step-up When Tide Turns

WARREN (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Gordon R. Campbell, president of the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company, has issued a statement concerning the effect of the depressed copper market upon his property. He states that the company is now equipped to produce at the rate of 175,000,000 pounds of copper a year. Additions and improvements to power plants, mills, mine equipment and smelters, to secure greater economies and increased capacity, are rapidly nearing completion, and larger reverberatory furnaces, new waste heat boilers and accessories at the smelters are on a program temporarily deferred. The mines of the company are declared "in splendid condition and can produce to capacity whenever called upon to do so."

He observes that, "The business depression may continue for some months, but the tide will turn and, in our opinion, American prosperity will demand the full product of our mines." The mine values, under a recent survey, were found very much greater than indicated by the present depressed market value of the share of stock. Production now is at the rate of 50 per cent of plant capacity, with output of about 7,500,000 pounds of copper a month.

Local mining authorities state that the proposed merger of Calumet and Arizona and Phelps-Dodge is in a very nebulous state.

In the C. & A. Campbell ore body, forty feet of 6 per cent ore was developed in cutting a station at the 2300-foot level. This Campbell ore body is believed one of the greatest ever found in the district, extending at least from the 1300 to the 2300-foot level of the Campbell shaft. On the 1200-foot level has been found a large irregular oxide ore body. Most of the ore is a smelting sulphide.

State Geologist Calls Oil Group in New Mexico

ARTESIA (N. M.) July 6. (Exclusive)—State Geologist Staley of Santa Fe has called a meeting of drilling superintendents and geologists of oil companies operating in the Hobbs field for next Tuesday at Roswell, to discuss problems connected with development of the Hobbs area.

While the State Geologist has authority to make arbitrary rulings, he states that he prefers to discuss matters with interested companies before making any decisions.

Operators here believe that proration of the Hobbs production will be brought up for discussion, because some of the operating companies continue to seek some sort of proration agreement.

Good Showings of Oil Sand in Fruitvale Hole

FRUITVALE, July 6. (Exclusive) The Standard Oil Company has passed through good oil showings in its No. 4 well on Sec. 26, 29-27 in the Fruitvale field. Showings were encountered between 2815 and 2845 feet. The crew is drilling ahead below 3100 feet in search of better oil sand.

The Shell Oil Company is drilling at 4200 feet in its Shepard No. 1 well on Sec. 14, 29-27 in the Fruitvale area. The casing was set at 2527 feet. Shale and sand formation predominates.

BALL MILL IN USE AT GARDNER MINE

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive)—A small ball mill, with capacity for about fifteen tons of ore a day, has been put in operation at the shaft head of the J. D. Gardner Mining Company, southwest of Wickenburg. It is working on ore from a limestone dyke, from which several hundred tons have been mined.

MACLENNAN GIVES VIEW ON COPPER

Miami Company Manager Says Recovery Hinges on Business Revival

GLOBE (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive) Manager F. W. Maclennan of the Miami Copper Company declares that the "recovery of copper depends upon recovery of general business." The mines will benefit only when 'building' and the automobile industry revive. He sees no menace to the American copper industry in the possible output from South African mines and believes that such mines will only add a quantity equivalent to the natural increase of demand. One of the most potential factors against competition from Africa is the poor quality of native labor. Mining engineers, he said, have estimated that the South African copper will cost practically 11 cents a pound, about the same as is known in this district. The Miami company is continuing operations at the rate of about 17,500 tons of ore a day.

Inspiration is running only its leaching-plant. Old Dominion is producing about 1600 tons a day. Van Dyke Copper will ship about 1000 tons of carbonate a month. Because of the much smaller concentrate output, the International smelter will operate only one furnace.

Magma, at Superior, has not curtailed production materially, but is reported to be considering giving its annual vacations at once.

At Christmas about 100 tons a day of concentrate from 400 tons of ore a day are being shipped to the Hayden smelter. A new shaft is nearing the 500-foot level, from which production is expected in the near future. This shaft has been equipped with an electric hoist and steel headframe, moved over from the Iron Cap shaft near Globe.

REFINERY AT DAYTON OPEN SOON

Reconstruction of Plant Near Artesia, New Mexico, Reported Completed

ARTESIA (N. M.) July 6. (Exclusive)—The refinery at Dayton, eight miles south of here, which has been undergoing repairs for the past thirty days, is ready for operation, according to Stephen Lanning, former Inglewood (Cal.) oil man. Mr. Lanning has made extensive repairs to the plant, which has been idle since 1926, and has added new equipment. Trucks will be used to transport oil from the Getty pool, a distance of twenty-four miles, until a pipe line can be built.

It is understood that Mr. Lanning and associates, owners of the refinery, have secured a contract to furnish the New Mexico State Highway Department with 45,000 barrels of road oil during the next six months. The Getty oil is of low gravity and is especially suited for surfacing oiled highways. Experiments conducted by the State Highway Department in the Pecos Valley have revealed that even the unrefined oil is satisfactory.

Tombstone Mine District Hit by Drop in Silver

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Up to a car a day of ore is being shipped from this district, mainly to Douglas and El Paso, though local miners have been hard hit by the depreciation in the values of silver, lead and copper. There has been something of a slowing up of activities, with possibly fifty men dropped.

The Tombstone Mining Company, at forty feet of depth, has a new eighteen-inch vein of high-grade silver ore, one that is being followed in a winze now about fifty feet below the 130 level.

Tombstone Extension has eight feet of high-grade silver-lead ore in its shaft at 142 feet depth.

An eighteen-foot body of vanadium ore has been cross-sectioned on the Larrieu-Chadwick property. It is stated that the material is of excellent mining grade, with vanadium crystals showing throughout the mass.

The old Connecticut property in the Patagonia district has been leased by Reid & Francione, the latter a Los Angeles man. Ore is being taken out for shipment.

Move Afoot to Correct Abuse of Mines Laws

To develop remedial legislation in connection with the fraudulent use of mining claims, E. W. Murphy, chairman, conservation committee, California State Chamber of Commerce, recently appointed Dean Theodore J. Hoover of Stanford University as chairman of a special mining claims committee, which is to confer with the mineral committee of the State chamber on this question. Other members of this special committee include J. Sterry Lamson, San Francisco, and E. G. Scammon, Westwood.

In recent years, the question of preventing the filing of mineral claims which contain no minerals, obstensibly for the purpose of mining, but in reality for summer recreation hotel sites or hot-dog stands, has become increasingly difficult. It is stated that these illegitimate mining claims have seriously threatened the standing of prospectors who desire to develop the mineral resources of the State.

OIL PRODUCTION GAINS AT HOBBS

Three Projects Completed During Past Week

Two Estimates as Good for About 14,000 Daily

Another Running Tubing as Preliminary to Test

ARTESIA (N. M.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Production of the Hobbs field has been boosted considerably in the past few days with the completion of two big wells. Another well, which is running tubing preparatory to making a test is expected to further increase the output of the field.

Probably the largest of the three wells completed is the Northrop State No. 1 of the Ohio Oil Company on Sec. 32, 18-38, offsetting State No. 1 of the Shell Petroleum Company. The Northrop well is estimated at 7200 barrels daily from a depth of 4175 feet. In a seven-hour test it flowed 333 barrels of 36-deg. gravity oil per hour, making 35,000,000 feet of gas.

The Amerada Petroleum Company has brought in its McKinley No. 1 on Sec. 35, 18-38, at an approximate depth of 4225 feet. During the first twenty-five minutes it made sixty-five barrels of oil. Estimates say that the McKinley No. 1 will be good for 6000 to 8000 barrels when completed. The crew has run tubing in State No. 1-G of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Company on Sec. 24, 18-37, at a depth of 4215 feet to test for production. This well has been closely watched the past ten days and should its initial performance come up to expectations, it will extend the proven area approximately a mile to the northwest.

The second pipe line into the Hobbs area has been completed. It being the line of the Atlantic from its tank farm near Midland, Tex. Workmen are making connections with production both at Hobbs and in Andrews county, Texas. Two ditching machines are rushing the work on the Shell line into Hobbs from its main line at Wink. About 250 men are employed.

CONDITIONS AT SONORA MINES TOLD

Labor Trouble Clearing Up With Slight Cut in Operating Forces

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive)—No further labor troubles are noted in the northern Sonora mining districts, though it is understood that most of the mines are having a degree of difficulty in reducing their forces. Several mining company officials have issued statements that their difficulties have been of a very peaceful nature and that they are rapidly arriving at an understanding with the government and with the labor organizations.

Greene Cananea is operating steadily, on a somewhat diminished schedule, after expenditure of about $1,000,000 in remodeling its flotation and concentration plants and installing waste heat boilers.

According to Manager F. W. Bailey, the El Tigre Mining Company is experiencing trouble due to the faulting of its vein on the 1600-foot level, with apparent displacement of about 800 feet. The company is pushing development on the west side of the fault in the hope of picking up the ore body. This has been one of the most notable ore deposits of Mexico, with many years of successful operation on its upper levels.

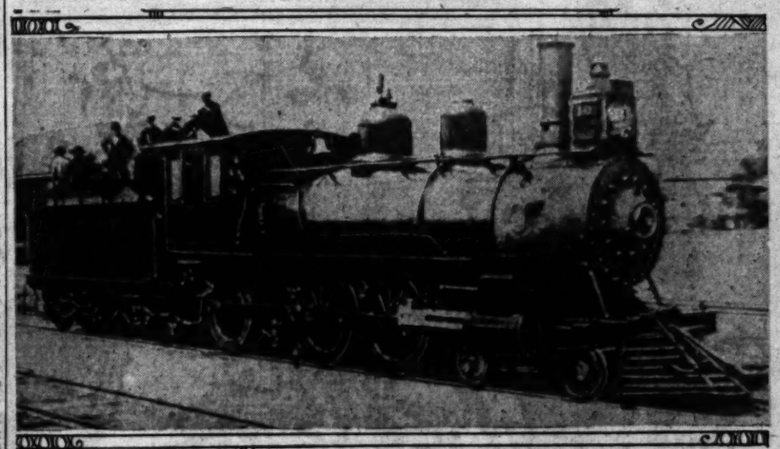
Maricopa Flat Oil Allowable Fixed for July

MARICOPA, July 6. (Exclusive) Out of a potential oil output of 522,877 barrels for the month of July, operators in the Maricopa Flat field may produce a total of 279,879 barrels or a daily average of 9028 barrels, according to notices sent out by H. P. Grimm, oil umpire.

Daily average allowables for the various companies are as follows: Barnsdall, 883; Birch-Royer, 213; California Western, 272; Doyle Petroleum, 3472; Doyle-Chune, 265; Hancock, 247; North American, 290; Rio Grande, 1322; Signal Oil and Gas, 555; Standard, 696; Wellington, 813 barrels.

OIL LOCOMOTIVE IDEA WAS BORN HERE

Santa Paula Shops Proved Practicality of Plan



First Engine Burned Fuel Oil Nearly Forty Years Ago

Old Baldwin locomotive No. 10 of Southern California Railroad was used for unique experiment. At left is Jess C. Martin of Santa Rosa, who served as fuel expert. He spent fifty years on the rails before being retired by the Southern Pacific system.

THAT California pioneered the way in the development of the oil-burning locomotive which today uses one-seventh of all the fuel oil produced in the United States is an interesting fact which has just been brought to light by the department of public information of the California Oil and Gas Association. The first oil burner was developed nearly forty years ago.

In 1879, according to Edwin Higgins, managing director of the association, the first experiments with oil as locomotive fuel were conducted in Oakland by the Central Pacific Railroad, the original unit of the Southern Pacific system. An eight-wheeled, wood-burning locomotive which had been converted to burn coal was fitted with an oil burner taken from a marine fire box of a San Francisco Bay steamer. While the test was partially successful, fear of fires and explosions through the handling of the oil retarded the actual adoption of the new fuel.

Between 1879 and 1894 various further experiments were conducted, not only on railroad locomotives, but on bay steamers and ferries. The data acquired in these early tests led, in October, 1894, to road tests in which the Southern Pacific, the Southern California Railway Company (later absorbed into the Santa Fe System,) and the Union Oil Company participated. The engine used was the Southern California Railway Company's No. 10; the engineer was Jesse C. Martin of the Southern Pacific Company, and the oil-burning equipment was fitted by the Union Oil Company shops at Santa Paula, under the direction of Foreman Davis. The locomotive was a ten-wheeled Baldwin.

Efforts to devise a satisfactory oil-burner had been begun some years before by Hardison and Stewart, the partnership which later developed into the Union Oil Company. Attention was first given to the use of fuel oil under oil-field boilers and, when this problem was successfully solved, the development of an oil-burning locomotive was undertaken. It was a matter of importance to the railroads, because coal then was costing upward of $20 a ton in California. After three weeks of tests in 1894, the Santa Fe at once began the use of oil in its engines, and the Southern Pacific adopted the practice a short time later.

It was not long until several western railways began converting their coal-burning locomotives into oil burners. Although the idea caught on rather slowly, it gained ground steadily. Today practically every mile of railway west of the Missouri River is operated with oil-burning locomotives.

The Santa Fe uses oil exclusively in California. It also uses oil for most of its passenger service this side of Kansas City. Coal only is used between Kansas City and Chicago. Oil only is used from Winslow, Ariz., west. This leaves the territory between Kansas City and Winslow subject to the use of both coal and oil, although more oil than coal is used.

The Southern Pacific runs its engines with fuel oil all the way from El Paso to the Pacific Northwest and Ogden. Of the total number of locomotives operated by this company, 96.1 per cent are oil burners. The Union Pacific runs to Salt Lake City on oil, and practically all the railways in Texas run on oil.

During 1929, the consumption of fuel oil by Class One railways in this country was 61,148,000 barrels, which was 11½ per cent of all the locomotive fuel used during the year. The 1929 consumption by steam roads showed a gain of 5 per cent over the requirements of the previous year.

Against a fuel-oil production of 447,894,000 barrels for the entire country during 1929, the requirements of the railroads amounted to about one-seventh of the supply. Fifteen years ago it was frequently remarked that the country could never produce enough fuel oil to supply the needs of all the railroads.

In many States coal is so convenient and inexpensive that the railroads will not consider changing over to oil; but oil is being used to pull passenger trains in some territory where coal is burned in freight service, because the oil is cleaner and does not produce cinders.

While considerable quantities of heavy crude oil from California, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas have, in past years, been used as locomotive fuel, the bulk of today's supply of fuel oil is a product which is drawn off from refinery stills after ordinary crude oil has been "topped" for gasoline and other volatile products, in the customary refining process.

SHASTA COPPER MINES CLOSING

SACRAMENTO, July 6. (Exclusive)—Faced with necessity of cutting down its copper output as a result of low prices for the red metal, the Mountain Copper Company, Ltd., Shasta county's oldest producer, is earning good profits from treatment of the gossan croppings on the Iron Mountain property. This material carries gold and no copper, and overlies the deposits of sulphide copper ores. A cyanide mill is treating 300 tons of this material daily.

The company has laid off its night shift of sixty men, and is gradually curtailing activities at its No. 8 mine. The management is preparing for resumption of work on the old Hornet property, preliminary to steady shipments of pyrites to plants engaged in manufacture of chemicals and fertilizers.

The Idaho-Maryland Mines Company, operating at Grass Valley, reports that plans are proceeding rapidly for addition of new units to the mill. Special machines will be installed to increase the gold extraction. Raises are advancing from the 2000-foot level to the 1500-foot level to open extensions of the Dorsey ore body, and a station has been cut on the 1600-foot level. Late work is said to have materially enlarged the reserves of commercial gold ore.

The Lady Bug group of ten quartz-gold claims in the Washington district, about twenty miles from Nevada City, has been acquired by the Harmill Mining Company. Developments include a 1200-foot tunnel and lateral workings, with a substantial tonnage of low-grade gold ore reported in sight. The Harmill management plans to enlarge the five-stamp mill, and conduct mining along comprehensive lines.

The Hoge Development Company reports the discovery of a four-foot ledge of excellent ore on its holdings near Nevada City. The strike was made on the 300-foot level, and the ledge is thought to be the extension of a rich ore-body worked by pioneer miners. The quartz is a heavy sulphide, with a little free gold. The company is understood to be largely backed by residents of Southern California.

SAN SIMON PROJECT GETS OIL SHOWINGS

BOWIE (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive) The drill of the San Simon oil well, No. 1, two miles west of San Simon, is reported to have reached a depth of about 3350 feet, after passing through about 160 feet of hard brown limestone, and red sandstone, well saturated with oil and gas. The situation is declared such that the drillers are taking all precautions in the event that a gusher is tapped.

Gold Strike on Property in McCoy Field Stirs

LOVELOCK (Nev.) July 6. (Exclusive)—The Hilderbrand-Holm group of gold claims in Troy Canyon, thirty miles from Lovelock, has been purchased by A. G. Smith and associates of Long Beach, Cal. The group which contains eight claims, has been undergoing vigorous development for seven years, and is credited with containing substantial deposits of profitable ore. A corporation is to be formed, a mill and large mine plant provided, and developments conducted along broad lines.

The Nevada-Mont Company is arranging for activities on a larger scale on its Placeritos gravel properties, forty miles north of Lovelock. The placers were provided last year with a storage reservoir and sluices, but more efficient gold-saving devices are to be installed. The auriferous deposits cover over 1000 acres.

A remarkable gold strike on the property of the Nevada Gold Dome Company at McCoy, by the McCoy-Strong lease, has caused considerable excitement in the district. The lease has opened a shoot of specimen ore at a depth of twelve feet, and is sacking material said to sample nearly $400 a ton. Several other leases are shipping steadily. The Brown-Caldwell lease has been acquired by the McCoy Consolidated Company.

Recent work has demonstrated the existence of rich deposits outside the mine area of the Gold Dome, and the veins show indication of persisting to depth. The McCoy Consolidated Company plans extensive work on its own acreage besides the operation of leases on the Gold Dome.

Tungsten Mine Shuts Down as Price Tumbles

TONOPAH (Nev.) July 6. (Exclusive)—The temporary collapse of tungsten prices has forced suspension of production at the Silvery Dyke-Wagner properties of the Nevada-Massachusetts Company near Sodaville, and checked development of many other groups in various sections of Nevada. The Silvery Dyke seventy-five-ton mill was but recently completed and placed in commission. The management states that the demand for tungsten has practically ceased, but that this condition is expected to pass as soon as the steel companies settle down to normal production.

The Lucky Boy Consolidated Company is resuming work on its Hawthorne and Lucky Boy properties near Hawthorne, and preparing for early production. J. H. Miller, general manager, states overhauling of machinery and repairing of timbering are progressing favorably. Good ore is said to have been showing at several points when financial difficulties forced the management to suspend work last year.

SHELL TO ABANDON TEMBLOR HILLS' HOLE

TAFT, July 6. (Exclusive) — The Shell Oil Company will abandon its Goyner No. 1 well on Sec. 32, 32-23 in the Temblor Hills area after drilling to a depth of 4134 feet. No showings of importance were encountered.

Curb of Hobbs Field Output Not on Slate

ARTESIA (N. M.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Need of the New Mexico educational institutions means that there will be no prorating in the Hobbs field for "some time to come," Gov. Dillon told citizens of Hobbs while on a recent inspection of the new oil field. The statement of the Governor is said to concur with the view held by Dr. Crile, State Land Commissioner.

Since development of the Hobbs area is largely on State land the matter of proration is left with State officials, who say that revenues are too badly needed at present to consider curtailment of production.

OILDALE, July 6. (Exclusive)—The Standard Oil Company is having trouble with heaving sand in its No. 24 well on Sec. 15, 28-27, Kern Front field. The well is down more than 2350 feet with casing set at 2102 feet.

In the same field Kilmer & Abbott are drilling ahead in gray sand in Hibbard No. 1 on Sec. 25, 28-27. The hole is down more than 2500 feet.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company is below 1000 feet in its No. 35 well on the front with the drill going through thicky blue shale at 960 feet.

...nnyville Brucite Deposit ... to be Opened Up

...TONOPAH (Nev.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Hoisting of ore started this week from the 100-foot level of the Gold Metals Company of Manhattan, owned by the Gold Metals Company of Manhattan. The ore is stated to be averaging nearly $40 per ton. The 100-foot shaft is being sunk to 300 feet, to be followed by extensive lateral development. A splendid plant has been erected and the product will be treated at the Millers plant of the Tonopah Mining Company until the latter is ready to operate its own mill facilities.

The old Thanksgiving property at Manhattan has been leased by "Dry Wash" Wilson, Nevada operator. The property has been developed to a depth of 300 feet and is said to show several veins of commercial value. The Verde group has been leased by Los Angeles operators and is reported actively at work. The Manhattan field is displaying the greatest activity of a decade, due to the increasing demand for gold.

The United Brucite Corporation, controlled by the Standard Slag Company of Youngstown, O., has been incorporated to operate the Gabbsville brucite deposits near Tonopah. The deposits have been demonstrated for a length of 1200 feet, and are to be extensively prospected by core drills. Brucite is a magnesium hydrate used extensively in the manufacture of magnesium metal, medicine, refractories and boiler-pipe covering. Magnesium metal is much lighter than aluminum, is practically as strong, and is in brisk demand for airplane construction.

The Van Ness Quicksilver Company has placed its new reduction plant in commission on its properties above the old camp of Belmont. The plant has a capacity of seventy-five to 100 flasks of mercury per month, and a second furnace soon is to be added to the mill. The management reports that a large tonnage of 3 per cent ore has been developed, with the usual product accompanied by shoots of rich material.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents who send mineral five of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Chrysoprase

REDBANKS, June 15.—Question: I am forwarding under separate cover samples of talc and rock taken from my ranch located at Venice Cove, near Ivanhoe, Cal. At the time I came upon the talc deposit I was looking for chrysoprase, which was mined on the property many years ago and I have reasons to believe there are still deposits of this gemstone, as the mines formerly worked were covered up and concealed. Kindly advise me through your In the Earth column what you think of the talc samples and if you believe there is any commercial value; also note whatever comments you have to make on the rock samples sent. Thanking you. X.

A.: Chrysoprase is a gemstone of not very high price in the United States. It is a green or leek-green variety of chalcedony, carrying some 98 per cent silica, and colored with 1 per cent nickel oxide. Lime traces.

The two sawed and polished cubes of mineral are impure soapstone, spotted with iron oxide and manganese traces. The foliated—two white specimens—are good grades of talc, but coated with impurities of hematite, in traces. The eleven greenish samples are of siliceous, low-grade talcose matter with chrysoprase indicated, for the reason that they give a slight reaction for nickel. The grayish rock shows veinlets of probably altered talcose matter, reacting for iron and represent a very doubtful commercial value. The chances, at the locality, for chrysoprase are good; in fact, it was mined years ago near Venice Hill. The white, foliated samples have low value as talc. As to the remaining specimens they represent problematical values.

Montana Sulphides

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Q.: The two ore samples are from Lost Creek, eight miles west from Anaconda, Deer Lodge county, Montana. In limestone formation, and approximately 300 feet above a grayish contact. I know they carry iron largely, and am interested in the copper content. X.

A.: The brownish sample No. 1 carries quite a percentage of marcasite, (white iron pyrite) and pyrite—both iron disulphides. Chalcopyrite, in low percentage. Blende present, with traces of native copper. No. 2 is tetrahedrite, in part gray copper ore of the mining boys in the hills. It reacts also for pyrite, some antimony, and zinc.

Free Gold Traces

FELLOWS, June 16.—Q.: The two samples of quartz I wish to have analyzed. Thanking you in advance. K.

A.: Sample No. 1 carries copper in low percentage; limonite present; fuchsite, (chrome mica) traces, and the limonite is slightly auriferous. No. 2 is also ferruginous quartz; copper traces, and limonite in high percentage. Free gold a trace.

Iron Ores

EAGLE ROCK, June 17.—Q.: Will you kindly through The Times, In the Earth department, state, approximately, what the two samples contain? They come from a locality about forty miles south of Los Angeles. Does No. 2 carry scheelite? P.

A.: Scheelite absent from both samples. No. 1 is a mixture of limonite and calcite. No. 2 is hydrous iron peroxide, (limonite.) Calcite present.

Beryllium Absent

ALTADENA, June 18.—Q.: I am sending you two samples of rock; kindly enlighten me as to their contents. By breaking the lime sample in two and rubbing them together, a nauseous odor is given off. I think it might contain sulphur and phosphate. The other specimen I thought might contain Beryllium; it seems to show some kind of a metallic sulphide. Thanking you very much for your help. B.

A.: The lime sample is a variety of anthraconite which gives off the odor you refer to, and the odor is that of hydrogen sulphide, probably. The Germans refer to the mineral—which is a variety of limestone—as Stinkstein. The other specimen is quartz, and it carries three sulphides; one of lead, one of zinc and one of pyrite.

It would appear as if certain chemists are making most amazing claims regarding Beryllium. Many are the kicks coming to this department of The Times with statements that the samples sent in for tests contain 32 per cent Beryllium. Other chemists go as high as 55 per cent Beryllium. Beryl is the chief source of the metal and it carries approximately some 14 per cent of Beryllium oxide. The proper market for the metal is Germany and the price of it ranges from $31 to $41 per pound, and not so high in price as $500 per pound, as alleged by some correspondents.

Chromite

LINDSAY, June 18.—Q.: I am sending two samples of rock for classification. No. 1 pans out a heavy mineral and it is taken between serpentine and diorite. E. O.

A.: Sample No. 1 is in part serpentine carrying traces of magnetite and hematite. Chromite present. No. 2 is a good grade of chromite.

Quarts

PARKER (Ariz.) June 19.—Q.: The two samples come from San Bernardino county close to the Colorado River. Please analyze same for uranium and vanadium. H.

A.: The two specimens are stained with limonite and carry a little microscopic orthoclase known as sericite (potash mica.) They are not radioactive, and uranium is absent. Carefully tested for vanadium with negative results.

Free Gold Absent

PERRIS, June 19.—Q.: Am sending a package of rocks. All taken from the Penacarte mining district about eight miles from Perris. Please analyze them for me.

A.: No. 1 is quartz stained with hematite; cinnabar absent. No. 2 is of quartz and sericite (microscopical potash mica.) No. 3 is in part hornblende containing microscopical yellow mica known as cat gold and traces of other microscopic mica found in the specimen.

Alunite

MONTEBELLO, June 20.—Q.: Am inclosing samples of mineral known as alunite (?) Locality, Marysvale, Utah. Please analyze same for aluminum sulphate and aluminum hydroxide; also for potash. For the benefit of all concerned, please state through In the Earth column just what the samples carry. S.

A.: The samples are hydrous sulphates of aluminum and potassium and contain, when pure 11.4 per cent potash. (U.S.G. Survey.) The samples are good grade alunite. They also react for approximately 28 per cent sulphuric acid.

Five Samples

EL SEGUNDO, June 20.—Q.: Please give me qualitative analyses on the five samples of rock. Sample No. 1, black, found in Santa Monica Mountains. No. 2, volcanic rock from Imperial county. No. 3, sandstone, found in Santa Monica Mountains. No. 4—crystal rock—from Santa Monica Mountains. No. 5, gray rock with brown stripes, found on Mojave Desert. X.

A.: No. 1 is blackish-gray calcite, near marble. No. 2 is impure chalcedony; bluish crocidolite traces. No. 3 resembles drill matter, and seems to be sandstone conglomerate. No. 4 is calcite, and No. 5 is probably fossiliferous dolomite.

ARIZONA COPPER MINE CURTAILS

United Verde Plans Further Cut in Output

Lay-Off of 825 Men Docketed for Present Month

Monthly Output Rate Fixed at 5,000,000 Pounds

JEROME (Ariz.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Official declaration has been made by General Manager W. V. Dig Camp that the United Verde Copper Company has found it necessary to curtail production still further and that 825 men will be laid off during July, at the mine at Jerome and the smelter in Clarkdale. Construction work at both points is nearing completion. Two furnaces will be kept busy at Clarkdale and it is expected that this production will continue at the rate of about 5,000,000 pounds per month.

The fourth unit of the United Verde concentrator at Clarkdale will be complete very soon, giving capacity for 2200 tons of ore per day instead of the present 1600 tons. The new unit does not duplicate the former equipment, but especially is for the handling of massive sulphide ores by means of a differential flotation. There is understanding that an electrolytic zinc plant will be added to the smelter equipment.

The 200-ton flotation mill of United Verde Extension at Clemenceau is to be complete within sixty days. The primary job is the removal of the silica and concentrates will be of low grade, probably amounting to eighty tons a day. Statement is made that the plant will be fed from a developed mine supply of about 400,000 tons, averaging 5 1-2 per cent copper. This mill is believed of very large importance in connection with continuance of operation at the Extention, where the supply of direct milling ores has been reported on the decline for several years past.

The Arizona Chemical Company now is shipping from Clemenceau about 250 tons a day of sodium sulphite, mined at its plant near Camp Verde. This property has furnished much new employment in a time of rather general depression.

Man, 78, Makes Run of Life

Accomplishing what he long desired, 78-year-old Thomas May recently ran from Kingston Vale to Putney Bridge, England, a distance of three and one-half miles, in twenty-five minutes. "I have realized a life-long ambition," said May. "I have always wanted to complete the run, and I am glad and happy that at last I managed to do it."

SCOTLAND YARD TO USE WOMEN

Weaker Sex Invades Field of Secret Police

Officials Realize They'll Come in Handy

Force of Eight Recruited to Try Scheme

LONDON, July 6. (NANA)—It is an extraordinary thing that in London, the largest city in the world, there never has been heretofore a single woman detective. The English spirit hitherto has never thought it consonant with its ideal of women to put them on secret police work. Now, suddenly, Scotland Yard realizes that there is an enormous field in which an intelligent woman in plain clothes can make herself useful in the detection and prevention of crime, so London is to have a corps of women detectives.

Visitors to London are familiar with policewomen in uniform, those quaint and rather pathetic figures in clothes identical with those of the male bobby, except for the skirt and with the huge and terrible, ill-fitting boots. They may be seen moving slowly and apparently painfully in the Strand and in the neighborhood of Piccadilly.

DUTIES LIGHT

They do not seem to do very much except keep an eye on the frail sisterhood which gleans a precarious livelihood in the West End of London. Every now and then they arrest a man, usually one of those fellows who push a fruit barrow close up by the sidewalk and get into the way of the traffic. It is a terrible disgrace for a London costermonger to be arrested by a woman bobby and there is generally some sort of a protest in court afterward.

Although nothing is ever officially admitted, it is rumored that when the magistrate comes to apportion out punishment, either in the way of days in jail or a fine, a certain discount is allowed to the prisoner as a soothing salve to his feelings after he has been run in by a blue-skirted policeman.

When the police have wanted to employ women in the past on detective or near-detective work, they usually called in the assistance of the wife of a constable. This is done quite frequently in cases of fortune tellers, whose activities are very widespread in London and who make a lot of money out of credulous people, mostly women.

BRIGHT FUTURE

A policeman's hard-boiled wife, adequately disguised as a credulous woman, will go to one of these clairvoyants and having paid the necessary fee will be told that her future is the rosiest possible one and that she will shortly be married to a tall and handsome man with blue eyes, the poor clairvoyant not knowing that her patron is already married to a stout and possibly not repulsive man with a blue coat. A summons is thereupon issued and the unfortunate fortune-teller, who certainly has been unable to look into her own near future, is fined $25 or $50.

The new idea of women detectives is quite on a different basis. These women will be exactly on the same level as the men detectives and no doubt will be eligible for promotion like their men colleagues. They will do some of the work which has hitherto been carried out by men without any very great success. For instance:

As in every other city which has a wealthy section, night clubs flourish here. These are ephemeral things. A man will hire a fairly large underground room with a ground-floor entrance and will run the premises as a club, selling drinks at extortionate prices during prohibited hours and attracting all sorts of undesirable people. Plain-clothes police are told off to investigate these places and they get themselves taken in as members. After securing all the evidence they require they either have the place raided or else they proceed by a summons served on the proprietor.

NOT ALL FOOLS

Night club proprietors, however, are not altogether fools and they can detect a plain-clothes officer as easily as the next man. There is a tradition in England as in New York that a detective can be told by the size of his feet, but even if that is a cruel libel, it is very often possible to recognize a plain-clothes policeman by other signs. He is usually a well-fed, well-drilled, clean-cut sort of fellow: "You can tell him by the set of his shoulders, which he can't help holding straight," to borrow a line from Kipling. After such a man is seen to enter the club or asks to be admitted as a member, the word goes round at once and drinks are put away.

That is where women are going to be useful to the police. Women's shoulders are very rarely drilled and the type of woman who is being taken into the force as a detective will be rather different from the ordinary police type. She will be rather more educated and will be able to go anywhere without attracting attention to herself.

Other duties which may be assigned to the women detectives are those relating to offences by women, such as shoplifting, trafficking in dangerous drugs and the checking of women who act as go-betweens among thieves and receivers of stolen goods.

EIGHT APPOINTED

It is said that eight women have already been chosen. They will be under the control of Miss Dorothy Peto, a well-connected woman of good family, many of whose relatives have already rendered good service to the state. There are Petos in the diplomatic service and in Parliament and the name is a highly respected one in England. Miss Peto, in addition to controlling her eight detective women, is also in charge of the women in blue who perambulate the Strand and Piccadilly.

No sort of information is being handed out as yet from Scotland Yard, the London police headquarters, about their secret eight. All that is known is that Miss Peto, a very determined-looking woman, has been appointed to co-ordinate the new service under the Commissioner, Gen. Lord Byng, and neither the names nor the exact duties of the eight have yet been divulged.

MARKETERS OF STATE FORTUNATE

New Agriculture Official Gratified Over Services Offered Growers

SACRAMENTO, July 6. (AP)—Declaring he was gratified with arrangements for a working relationship between the State Department of Agriculture and the Federal Farm Board, Harry J. Eustace, new chief of the division of markets, assumed his duties with the beginning of the new fiscal year.

"No other State has such a market news service in all its ramifications," Eustace said. "California leads the country in giving her producers and shippers the most up-to-the-minute marketing information available."

Serious marketing problems are arising from competition from other States, Eustace said. "We need the best co-operation between all of us, no matter what divisions or institutions we represent, to help solve these problems. I am entering the work pledged to give it all the experience and talents I possess."

Professional Ethics Voiced

WASHINGTON, July 6. (Exclusive)—The college or university professor must not accept compensation from any private corporation for the pursuit of investigation if the subject of the research is related to actual or probable questions of controversial public policy, according to the report of the Committee on Ethics of the American Association of University Professors in the last issue of the association's bulletin. Nor is it proper for an educational institution to receive aid from a corporation in carrying on research if controversial public policies are involved.

This report, which was prepared by Prof. E. R. A. Seligman of Columbia University at the request of the committee, is the result of the recent governmental inquiries into the propoganda activities carried on by public utility corporations and particularly of the charges that the academic profession had become agents of the propoganda.

Leaning Tower Operated Upon

PISA, July 6. (Nana)—It was no mean feat to substitute a new marble column for a damaged one in Pisa's famous leaning tower, but the operation has been successfully performed by Signor Fascetti. The damaged column formed part of the upper portion of the tower and the task was doubly difficult, since it was one of those on the shorter side and thus more exposed to strain.

It is 100 years since restoration work of this kind has been carried out on the tower.

PROPERTIES:

This company controls the immensely valuable Sunnyside and Dewey Gold properties, located in Valley County, Idaho, comprising over 300 acres, about half of which is patented. These properties are proven. Positive ore reserves are developed, running into the millions of dollars in value, and in addition there is a vast tonnage of semi-proven or probable ore surrounding its proven reserves.

HISTORICAL:

What is known as the "Dewey" property was purchased soon after its discovery which occurred in 1899-1900, by the late Colonel W. H. Dewey of Nampa, Idaho, and the Sunnyside property adjoining the Dewey was purchased by the Sunnyside Mining Company, headed by Mr. T. H. Lovejoy.

These properties were developed until 1907, operations being suspended during the panic of that year. The late T. N. Barnsdall acquired both properties which later reverted to the "Barnsdall Corporation."

DEVELOPMENT:

Development work on the Sunnyside alone consists of over 12,000 feet of drifts, tunnels, etc., driven into or immediately under a vast ore-body, which is a blanket vein 25 feet thick. The ore is a quartz-porphyry containing free gold and an ideal ore for treatment by amalgamation, the cheapest and simplest method of recovering gold from ore. A limitless supply of water and timber is available at the property.

ORE RESERVES:

Over 400,000 tons of ore are blocked out ready for extraction and milling, with an average value in free gold of over $7.00 per ton, or $2,800,000.00. In addition to the above blocked ore, there is estimated in excess of 28,000,000 tons of semi-proven or probable ore demonstrated by drilling, tunnels, outcrops, prospects shafts to surround the above workings and with the same average value.

OPERATIONS:

It is proposed to install and operate an initial reduction unit of 300 tons daily capacity and thereafter to increase same as rapidly as possible to a minimum of 500 tons.

PROFITS:

With the thickness and character of the vein (35 feet thick,) the enormous tonnage available, the uniformity of the dissemination of values (averaging over $7.00 per ton in gold,) together with the simplicity of milling practice and equipment to be employed, the costs of mining and milling this ore should not exceed a maximum of $2.50 per ton, leaving a net profit of over $4.00 per ton.

MANAGEMENT:

All operations are to be under the direct management of Mr. P. B. Butler, for several years in charge of mining operations for the Barnsdall Corporation of New York, and a director and general manager of several Barnsdall mining subsidiaries. Mr. Butler is particularly well equipped to manage this property, as his past experience has included the successful management of many major operations of this character.

OFFICERS and DIRECTORS:

Mr. J. S. Tremayne.....President Mr. Frank L. Clark.....Secretary-Treasurer
Mr. P. B. Butler.....Vice-President Mr. T. W. Rorke.....Director
Mr. Dan V. Noland.....Vice-President Mr. W. A. Cates.....Director
Mr. Louis H. Bering.....Director

Seldom has a proposition of this character been opened to public participation, where such a vast amount of development work has first been accomplished, and large sums of money spent to demonstrate the essentials for a highly successful future. American Gold Corporation, Ltd., occupies a place in this category. This Corporation has possibilities of becoming a profitable gold producer and we recommend this security to all types of investors, as an excellent speculative investment.

PHYTOSAURS SOUGHT IN TEXAS AREA

Prehistoric Creatures Resembled Crocodiles, Thirty Feet Long

AMARILLO (Tex.) July 6. (Exclusive)—W. H. Buettener, preparator, vertebra paleontology, University of Michigan, is trying to find fossils of phytosaurs at a secret camp not far from Amarillo, Potter county, Texas. Phytosaurs were crocodile-like animals with heads four feet long and roamed the Panhandle of Texas about 20,000,000 years ago, it is estimated. A complete mount of the animal would be about thirty feet long, Buettener says. Partial mounts have been found, but no complete ones are in existence. Hence the intensive search now on. A head measuring forty-eight inches was found near Big Spring, Howard county, three years ago.

Ancient German City Celebrates

BERLIN, July 6. (Exclusive)—Although the Province of Brandenburg began to play a part in German history later than did those parts of the country penetrated by the Romans, it is not without its ancient cities. Altlandsberg, only thirteen miles from Berlin, last month celebrated its 700th anniversary. This city of 4000 inhabitants had its origin, like so many other cities in this part of the country, in a Wendish settlement, and developed into a strong, walled city. The ancient walls still encircle the older part of the town, and the main towergate still stands, a defiantly massive brick construction. It is surmounted by a stork nest which has been there for generations and is peopled every year. The present church stands on the site of a church built in the thirteenth century and burned by the Hussites in 1439. Parts of the original walls are preserved. Frederick William I, father of Frederick the Great, spent his boyhood in Altlandsberg.

FAMINE MEASURE TAKEN BY CHINESE

The coupons bear at the rate of 8 per cent and are redeemable semiannually, with principal redemption scheduled to be accomplished through semiannual drawings until maturity in June, 1939.

CONGRESS AIDS GOLDEN STATE

California Helped by Recent Federal Legislation

Boulder Canyon, Tariff and Harbor Bills Notable

Shortridge and Evans Are Outstanding Workers

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 6. (Exclusive) — The session of Congress which ended the 3rd inst. was an eventful one for California, producing an unusual amount of legislation of vast importance to the Golden State. It is doubtful, if any other State received as much benefit from the session and the California delegation is dispersing for home happy in the realization it has built up a record of accomplishment to which it may justly point with pride in the coming campaigns.

Of paramount interest among measures affecting California was the second deficiency bill finally enacted in the closing hours of the session and immediately signed by President Hoover, supplying the initial appropriation of $10,660,000 for starting construction work on Boulder Dam. The money is immediately available and Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, has left Washington for the Denver office of the Reclamation Service personally to supervise preliminary plans for the great Colorado River project.

TARIFF HELPS STATE

Second in importance and of more general application in the State is the Hawley-Smoot tariff revision already in effect raising import duties to protect many of California's major agricultural products against foreign competition. The lemon tariff, biggest item from the standpoint of Los Angeles county, was increased from 2 to 2 1-2 cents a pound. Thanks largely to the work of Senator Shortridge and Representative Evans of Glendale, Cal., fared better in the tariff making than any other State, obtaining favorable consideration on at least 95 per cent of the increases sought.

"The tariff bill," said Representative Evans, "undoubtedly will go a long way in the encouragement of all kinds of agricultural and industrial activity in our State."

Another outstanding measure is the rivers and harbors bill signed by President Hoover, carrying $8,346,000 for improvement of the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor and distributing approximately $4,500,000 additional to other California ports up and down the Coast. The feature of the Los Angeles-Long Beach authorization is a breakwater extension costing $7,000,000, which will give increased protection to the harbor and afford adequate inner anchorage for the battle fleet.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Also in the second deficiency act and of especial interest at this time because of unemployment are immediate appropriations for new public buildings in a number of California cities. The projects provided for include a $70,000 quarantine station at Los Angeles Harbor and postoffices at Berkeley, El Centro, Merced, Modesta, Oroville, Palo Alto, Stockton and Watsonville. The measure also carries $25,000 to continue the investigation of the water supply in the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers, and $145,000 for maintenance of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle.

In future public construction California receives an enormous program in the omnibus buildings bill enacted in the session just past. Under the program more than two-score Southern California cities and a smaller number in Northern California will get new Federal buildings within the next ten years. Individual contracts will be put under way as present leases expire and other local conditions justify.

Representative Evans estimated that with the appropriations made at the recent session California now has outstanding in her behalf Federal appropriations for improvements of various kinds totaling well over $200,000,000, by far the largest amount the State has ever had. This is the result, he said, of final favorable action on an accumulation of projects for which California has been fighting for years.

NEW FEDERAL JUDGE

Through the efforts of Senator Shortridge and Representative Evans Congress passed a bill providing for the appointment of an additional Federal district judge at Los Angeles to relieve docket congestion. The need for an extra judge had been felt keenly for several years. The Federal calendar at Los Angeles is so crowded, in fact, that Congress is expected within the next year or two to create a second new judgeship for that district.

Other important measures benefiting California which were enacted during the session include:

Colton-Oddie bill increasing appropriations for roads in national forests.

Douglas resolution advancing money to Arizona to enable that State to conduct an eradication campaign against pink boll worm which threatened destruction to the cotton crop in Imperial Valley.

Kahn bill transferring army air activities from Rockwell Field, San Diego, to sites in San Francisco Bay area.

Nye bill giving legislative support to the administration's program for stopping waste of natural gas in the Kettleman Hills oil field.

Congress adjourned without settlement of the controversy as to whether the giant dirigible base which the Navy plans to establish in California shall be located at Camp Kearny, San Diego, or Sunnyvale, on San Francisco Bay. Camp Kearny was recommended by the Navy General Board, but after protracted hearings the House Naval Committee postponed a decision until the December session.

The session was marked by another bitter fight for and against exclusion of Mexican immigrants, an issue that has been agitated constantly in Congress for the last five or six years. Proponents of restriction succeeded this time in slipping a measure through the Senate, but it was blocked in the House. The battle over the legislation will be renewed next winter.

There was also considerable discussion this last session of the Filipino problem and from the Watsonville disturbances Representative Welch of San Francisco introduced a bill barring residents of the Philippines from the United States. Hearings were held on the measure by the House Immigration Committee, but that is all that was done.

The Japanese question also came to the fore with announcement by Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the House Immigration Committee, that he would sponsor a measure giving Japan an immigration quota and thus removing from that country the exclusion stigma. However, the bill failed to materialize, Johnson evidently concluding there was little chance of obtaining action on it at this time. He is expected to introduce the bill next session.

SHORTRIDGE LOYAL

All through the session just ended Senator Hiram Johnson demonstrated his intense hatred and jealousy of President Hoover by working and voting against administration measures at every opportunity, while Senator Shortridge supported the California President loyally at every turn, except for one brief lapse during debate on the original veterans' compensation bill. When it came to voting Shortridge was found in the administration ranks and it is said there is complete understanding between him and the White House as to his temporary stand for a measure the President disapproved.

In the House the California delegation, including the lone Democrat, Lea of Santa Rosa, for the most part, gave Mr. Hoover solid support on all measures throughout the entire session.

A notable exception was when Representative Crail of Los Angeles voted against sustaining the President's veto of the veterans' measure as it was first passed and then walked out without voting at all on the compromise bill which Mr. Hoover approved.

Representatives Swing of El Centro, Englebright of Nevada City, Welch of San Francisco and Lea also voted to override the veto, but immediately redeemed themselves partially by supporting the substitute bill. Friends of the administration were considerably shocked by Crail's double desertion of the President on this critical legislation.

RETURN OF HAPSBURG OPPOSED

[Copyright, 1930, Chicago Tribune]

BUDAPEST, July 6. (Exclusive) On the eve of the first visit an Austrian chancellor has paid Hungary since the dissolution of the Hapsburg empire, Count Stephen Bethlen, Prime Minister of Hungary, broke the silence he has maintained for eight years today and announced for the first time that his government will not permit a new putsch, now or later, to bring young Prince Otto Hapsburg back to the vacant throne.

Driven by accusations from all sides that his recent visits to Rome and London were primarily to obtain permission from Italy and Great Britain to restore the Hapsburgs and that the arrival of Chancellor Johann Schober of Austria here tomorrow had as its original purpose securing Austrian support for the Hapsburg revival, Count Bethlen revealed the attitude of the government of which he is semi-dictator, toward a question on which he hitherto has refused to comment.

MILLBANK FUND FIGHTS DISEASE

Quarter Century Battle to Aid Health Continues

Research and Education to Be Main Program

Foundation Studies Methods of Administration

NEW YORK, July 6. (Exclusive)—Having just completed twenty-five years of philanthropic pioneering in America, the Milbank Memorial Fund, of New York, will continue to devote the income from its capital of $15,000,000 mainly to the financing of public health improvements. This is announced by John A. Kingsbury, secretary of the foundation, in its twenty-fifth annual report published today.

Since its establishment in 1905 by Mrs. Elizabeth Milbank Anderson, the Milbank Memorial Fund has paid out $6,716,473 for health, social welfare, and education. More than 90 per cent of this has gone to 131 institutions and organizations, while the remainder has been used for direct fund expenditures. Commitments and conditional pledges unpaid or unclaimed at the end of 1929 bring the total appropriation up to $9,422,460.

RESEARCH AND EDUCATION

While the fund will continue its policy of aiding public health work of recognized organizations, according to Mr. Kingsbury, stress will henceforth be placed on public health research and education.

The major contribution of the Milbank Fund in the field of public health has been the successful organizing of three health demonstrations in New York State, on which it has already spent nearly $2,000,000. The experience gained by the fund in this work is now being made available to other parts of the country.

The New York health demonstrations were begun eight years ago in co-operation with local authorities and voluntary agencies in Cattaraugus county, in Syracuse, and in the Bellevue-Yorkville district of New York City. The fund has aimed primarily to assist in setting up administrative machinery adequate to cope with local public health problems. Its primary objectives having been gained, Mr. Kingsbury announces that the foundation will at the end of this year withdraw from active participation in the Cattaraugus county and Syracuse demonstrations. Striking results have been achieved in reducing infant mortality and deaths from tuberculosis, and in the control of smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid, according to statistics and graphs presented in the report. The Milbank demonstration in New York City will continue.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

An important enterprise aided by Milbank contributions is the anti-tuberculosis campaign, which has been credited with laying down the general laws for the development of the entire public health program of the present day. The history of this campaign goes back to a gift in 1891 from Mrs. Anderson, which marked the beginning of the Trudeau foundation at Saranac Lake, N. Y., which, along with other organizations fighting tuberculosis, has since been aided by the fund. The Trudeau Laboratory was the first one in the world devoted exclusively to tuberculosis research.

The Milbank foundation's interest in the National Committee for Mental Hygiene also began with a personal gift of Mrs. Anderson's in 1915. Her gift was equalled by one from Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, and this, it is stated, made possible the beginning of preventive work in the field of mental and emotional maladjustment.

DIPHTHERIA FOUGHT

Among the gifts reported for the past year is one of $75,000 to the Diphtheria Prevention Commission of the New York City Department of Health, making possible the continuation during the year of the campaign which resulted in the immunizing of 200,000 children.

Organizations of national scope aided by Milbank contributions include the American Association for Medical Progress, the American Child Health Association, the American Public Health Association, the American Social Hygiene Association, Inc., the Committee on the Cost of Medical Care, the National American Red Cross, National Board of Medical Examiners and the National Health Council.

PHILANTHROPY CHANGES

Referring to fundamental changes in American philanthropy during the first quarter of the present century, the Milbank report stresses the fact that the negative policy of relieving destitution, and even the more generous one of preventing it, have given way to the positive idea of raising life to its highest level. The Milbank Memorial Fund is one of the oldest of the social foundations which have effected these changes. Andrew Carnegie had created four and John D. Rockefeller two of the sixteen trust funds of this character set up in the United States prior to Mrs. Anderson's, says the report. Since

JAYWALKERS IN BAY CITY QUIT

Few Fail to Obey Ordinance, Police Chief Reports

Arrests Dwindle to Hardly 100 Per Year

Traffic Speeded Up Large Extent Downtown

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (AP)—As proof, officials think, that you can get the public to do almost anything if you go at it properly, Chief of Police William J. Quinn announces that San Francisco's anti-jaywalking ordinance is a 95 per cent success.

Chief Quinn, in a report, said that in 1928, first year of the ordinance, there were 3592 arrests for jaywalking. In 1929 there were slightly more than 100. To date in 1930 there have been considerably less than 100. Quinn, by careful checking with the aid of detectives, finds that not more than 5 per cent of the people will take a chance on going contrary to traffic signals, and many of these are slightly deaf, strangers ignorant of the law, or those who become confused.

As a result of the ordinance street car service has been speeded up several minutes to the mile, and a motorist now drives at an average of five minutes quicker from Van Ness avenue to the Ferry Building. Pedestrian control also is enabling fire department apparatus to make better time and to greater safety to the public, it is disclosed.

YOSEMITE SNOW PACK UNUSUAL

Watersheds of Merced River Will Supply Ample Moisture This Year

MERCED, July 6. (AP)—An unusually heavy snow pack in the watersheds of the Merced River above Yosemite Valley this year will assure an ample supply of water for irrigation and hydroelectric power, A. A. Blakesley, chief engineer of the Merced irrigation district, said. He recently made a survey trip of several days through the Tioga Pass country north of the Merced River.

Snow was still melting in the high Sierra country, Blakesley said, which maintained a substantial flow of water in the Merced River and into Exchequer reservoir. The reservoir was at its highest level since 1928, containing 223,000 acre feet of water.

NEW WORLD HOP PLANNED

Kingsford-Smith's Aide Tells of Coming Venture

Dutch Aviator Will Attempt to Circle Globe

Here in Los Angeles After Recent Atlantic Trip

Plans for another 'round-the-world flight—this time under the Dutch flag—were announced by M. Van Dyk, copilot with Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith on the recent globe-circling flight of the Southern Cross, when he arrived here Saturday via Western Air Express.

Van Dyk, for Kingsford-Smith, he is associated with world flights, according to his statement just after the Southern Cross had landed at Oakland on Friday. He said he plans to return the ship this week to his backer, Capt. Allen Hancock of Santa Maria, after which he will return to Sydney, Australia, where he is to wed Miss Mary Powell in September.

Van Dyk, who is staying at the Biltmore, spoke briefly of his plans for the future, but declined to give details further than a announcement that the flight will be attempted within a year.

The Dutch will leave Los Angeles at 5 o'clock today in a Western Air Express plane for Kansas City. From there he is to proceed to New York, where he will sail on the 19th for his home in Amsterdam. Hadenbrook, N. J., he is scheduled for a conference with Anthony Fokker concerning plans for a specially constructed plane — American type—for his proposed flight.

He says that ten years ago Van Dyk flew planes of the Fokker type, most of the time as a mail pilot for the Dutch government between Amsterdam and the Dutch Indies. His experience covers more than 6000 hours in the air. On the recent Southern Cross flight he was at the stick for thirty-six hours without relief, he said. Ten hours of that time the ship was shrouded to fly blindly because of dense fog and only five hours of visibility attended the entire trip.

It was also intimated that the complete flight will be financed by newspaper and petrol companies.

ACTRESS AND MATE AGREE TO DISAGREE

Lina Basquette

HERE'S NEW KINK IN FILM LOVE SPATS

Lina Basquette and Mate "Split Up" But Still Act Like Dear Old Pals

Lina Basquette, motion-picture actress, and her husband, Peverell Marley, cameraman, are treating their friends in the film colony to one of Hollywood's most unusual separations in months. Many of their friends do not believe they have actually come to the parting of the ways, but Miss Basquette isn't so sure.

In spite of the fact that the couple are continually seen together at social functions they are living apart. Whether there will be a divorce or a reconciliation depends on happenings in the next few weeks, Miss Basquette said yesterday.

"Pev is anxious for a reconciliation but I am not so sure," Miss Basquette declared. "It seems we get along better this way. Sure we go out together frequently and we are the best of friends. Many of our friends cannot believe we have even separated.

"I was the one that walked out. There was no reason in particular for it, just a series of little things. It may be that we will see our way clear to become reconciled; maybe not. It all depends what happens in the next few weeks."

The fact they are continually seen together, Miss Basquette asserted, provides the puzzle to their acquaintances.

Miss Basquette and Marley were married in January, 1929. Shortly after their honeymoon, he quit as chief cinematographer for C. B. De Mille to become his wife's dancing partner on a vaudeville tour. They returned from this tour only to separate. Marley is again at the crank of a picture camera.

It is believed by their friends the separation will continue thus, in event there isn't a divorce, at least until after the visit of Miss Basquette's daughter, Lita Warner, 4 years of age, whose custody was recently granted her uncle, Harry Warner, picture magnate, and brother of the late Sam Warner, who was Miss Basquette's first husband.

The little girl, on whom Harry Warner recently settled a $300,000 trust fund, is coming from New York to spend the summer with her mother. She is being brought up and educated by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warner.

TAX PROTESTS SET TOMORROW

Supervisors Sit as Board of Equalization

County Values Estimated at $4,500,000,000

Hopkins Sets Out Reasons for Reduction

Hearings on the complaints of property owners seeking adjustment of their tax assessments will begin tomorrow before the County Board of Supervisors sitting as a Board of Equalization on the third floor of the Hall of Records on North Broadway.

County Assessor Hopkins is scheduled to file his 1930-31 county assessment roll with the Supervisors today which will then begin its duties as a Board of Equalization.

Valuation of all property, both operative and nonoperative, appearing on the Los Angeles county assessment roll will approximate $4,500,000,000, according to Hopkins, who has had his crew of deputies and clerks working day and night over the week-end holiday to complete the huge task. The roll will show about 10 per cent less valuation on property than last year.

Hopkins said this is no reflection upon the prosperity of the community. He points to building costs having decreased as much as 25 per cent, deflation of securities, lower commodity prices requiring less mercantile investment the first of March and an impeded real estate market in certain classes of property in some sections.

VALUES SOUND

However, the Assessor says realty values "are as good as they ever were in Los Angeles vicinity. There can be no question about the future of any property between Saugus and San Diego, from the mountains to the sea. Increases will be noted this year in the more recently developed Wilshire and Hollywood areas, while downtown business district property, which I consider a key to all values, remain stationary. It is a fact that some reductions will be made around the fringe of substantial development, some valuations being lowered as much as 20 per cent, due to curtailed building during the country-wide depression and obsolescence in present structures. This situation should be viewed with no alarm for just as it was necessary during peak building years to make a horizontal increase in assessments, a similar adjustment downward must be made when conditions warrant."

The Assessor said that his policy was considered by more than sixty representative property-owner groups, including a committee from the Los Angeles Realty Board and delegations of realtors from county points called in by the California Real Estate Association. He said:

"I am satisfied the taxpayers appreciate that changes in the assessment rolls bear no relation to revenue necessities, politics or population trend, but are controlled by economic factors. Individuals can appreciate savings which will inure to them where valuations have been decreased, yet groups from districts or communities may be expected to make some protest when there is any indication of lowered values.

RECOVERY RETARDED

"Last fall I held the belief," he added, "that conditions throughout the nation would be much improved by the first of March when my office took up the mountainous task of writing one of the heaviest and certainly the most diverse assessment roll to be found in any political subdivision the world over.

"Had the theory, which most everyone held regarding quick economic recovery from the stock market crash, proved out there probably would have been sufficient increased values in real estate in the more active sections of the city and county to have cared for normal decreases where buildings wear out and conditions change. On the first Monday in March, when my office started its race to make the roll ready by the first Monday in July, general conditions were worse than anticipated and with real estate bearing a heavy burden it was decided to make an average 10 per cent reduction in values. This was done in the course of our reappraisal of 1,300,000 parcels of property," said Mr. Hopkins.

DRY HEARING SCHEDULED

Accused of violating the national prohibition act at St. Paul, Minn., John W. Ebert, recently arrested here, will be given a hearing on removal to that city for trial when he appears today before United States District Judge Cosgrave.

TWO MORE CAR DEATHS MARKED UP

Tia Juana Speed Victim Succumbs to Injuries; Man Dies in Collision

Two men are dead and four other persons are injured as the result of week-end traffic accidents. The dead are Emery Love of 1101 West Forty-fifth street, Los Angeles, and Harold J. Munday, 26 years of age, of 1077 East Fifteenth street, Long Beach.

Love died at the Roosevelt Hospital yesterday from injuries received when his car skidded off the pavement near Tia Juana last Friday. Witnesses said he was attempting to make a sharp curve while traveling at high speed. After leaving the highway the car turned turtle, pinning the driver underneath and crushing his skull.

Munday was hurt in a collision with another car said to have been driven by Jack Simms, 348 West Manchester avenue, Los Angeles. His skull was fractured and his right arm and leg broken. He died a few hours later at the Seaside Hospital. Following the crash Munday's car rolled into a ditch and burned. Others who were riding with Simms were reported uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Dupuir, 67 and 63 years of age, respectively, of 1236 South Mariposa street, were removed from the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital to the California Lutheran Hospital yesterday in serious condition as the result of being struck down by an automobile in front of the Wilshire Police Station on Pico street.

Silas A. Webb, 21, 6065 Fountain avenue, driver of the car, according to police, was arrested for assault with a deadly weapon and violation of the Wright Act. Arresting officers stated they found a bottle of liquor in his machine.

Detectives of Georgia-street police division were searching last night for the driver of an automobile which ran down and injured Fred Lang, 55 years of age, 640 South Bixel street, at Vermont and Leeward avenues and later was found

SPECIAL LEVIES DECLINE

Works Board Shows Fiscal Year's Total $25,289,835 Against $38,870,603 for 1928-29

A large decrease in the amount of special assessments spread by the Bureau of Assessments of the Board of Public Works during the fiscal year which ended last June 30, as compared with the previous fiscal year is shown in the bureau's annual report just made public.

The bureau, of which W. G. Schreiber is head, prepares all assessments for street improvements, sanitary sewers, storm drains, ornamental lighting systems (installation and maintenance,) street opening and widening proceedings and also for acquisition of land by condemnation for library, park and playground sites.

The total of assessments spread for street improvements during the past fiscal year was $25,289,835.94. This covered 829 separate projects and the number of parcels of property assessed was 246,049. In the preceding fiscal year the total of assessments spread for street improvements was $38,870,603.79, the number of projects was 943 and the number of parcels assessed was 249,319.

The total of assessments spread for street opening and widening proceedings under the Act of 1903 was $11,507,133.47 in the recently ended fiscal year, as against $23,387,770.01 in 1928-29. The number of separate projects was twenty-eight, as against thirty-seven the preceding year, and the number of parcels assessed was 14,094, as against 47,108 in 1928-29.

HARBOR JOB MAY GO TO FITZGERALD

Engineer Reported Slated to Succeed Spear, But Mayor Refuses to Talk

It was reported yesterday that the name of C. Gerald Fitzgerald, a hydraulic engineer, of 853 Fuller street, will be submitted to the City Council by Mayor Porter for approval as a member of the Board of Harbor Commissioners to succeed Emerson Spear, whose term has expired.

In a telephone conversation Fitzgerald said he has had several conferences with the Mayor relative to his appointment to a municipal commission, but that he "has no idea it will be to the Harbor Commission."

Mayor Porter, in discussing the report last night, declined to deny the appointment, nor would he admit Fitzgerald has been selected to succeed Spear. The Mayor was apparently surprised that the report had been made public and termed it as "premature." "I am not ready at this time to announce that Fitzgerald has been named to any commission," he said.

News of the appointment created a distinct surprise in harbor circles, as it has been consistently reported that the Mayor has repeatedly urged Spear to accept reappointment.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who is 41 years of age and is a graduate of engineering schools of both the University of Alabama and Stanford University, now is head of the Fitzgerald Engineering and Construction Company here and previously was associated with Leeds & Barnard, consulting engineers. He is a member of the American Legion and during the World War was a captain in France with the Three Hundred and Nineteenth Engineers.

Hearing Fixed on Education Board Electing

Following the receipt by the City Council of numerous letters and petitions asking that the city charter be amended so that members of the Board of Education shall be elected by districts and not at large, as at present, and the reference of the matter to the Legislative Committee, the latter committee has decided to hold a public hearing on the matter.

The hearing is scheduled for the 16th inst. at 2:30 p.m.

FLYER KILLED IN SEA PLUNGE

M. I. Dodds's Plane Crashes Off Laguna Beach

Sportsman's Body Recovered From Wreckage

Rich Airman's Craft Dives in Landing Maneuver

M. I. (Dick) Dodds, 29 years of age, reputedly wealthy and widely known amateur sportsman and aviation enthusiast, was killed yesterday when the taper-winged, three-place biplane he was piloting alone went out of control as he maneuvered for a landing and plunged into Crescent Bay, a quarter-mile off the cliffs of Laguna Beach.

One hour and twenty minutes after the accident, fishermen with grappling hooks located the sunken plane in fifty feet of water and dragged the wreckage to the beach. The body of Dodds was in the cockpit of the twisted ship. His neck had been broken.

TWO VERSIONS OF PLUNGE

Two versions of the fatal plunge were given by eyewitnesses. One is that Dodds sideslipped his plane to escape a treacherous air-pocket; the other merely that his motor stalled and nosed the ship downward to destruction. Both agree, however, that he dived from an altitude of about 200 feet.

Interested actively in the second annual women's air derby, scheduled for August, Dodds took off from Clover Field, Santa Monica, shortly after noon to act as an escort for C. F. Lienesch of Monrovia, manager of the Union Oil Company's aviation department, who had an appointment with Florence Lowe Barnes, noted aviatrix, in connection with the race. In the Union Oil Company plane with Lienesch were his sister, Miss Ruth Lienesch, and Gladys O'Donnell, another famous woman flyer, who finished second in the 1929 derby. Dodds flew alone.

The two planes flew to Long Beach Municipal Airport, where they made a brief stop, then continued on to Laguna, intending to land on the private field maintained by Mrs. Barnes adjoining her home there.

FLYING TOO FAST

According to Stanley Barnes, brother-in-law of Mrs. Barnes, Dodds was flying at too great a speed to make a safe landing. Realizing his error he climbed again and began another circle of the little airport atop the cliffs. On this attempt he struck an air-pocket, Barnes thinks, and threw his ship into a sideslip that carried it seaward at a sharp downward angle. He then "cut out" the motor the better to manage his craft, and when he had leveled off again close to the water, he "gave her the gun," hoping to zoom upward out of the danger zone. Instead of rising, however, the biplane nosed over and plunged into the bay.

Lienesch's version is that the motor in Dodds's plane failed as he hovered over the bay near the airport and nose-dived before the pilot could glide to safety.

Among the other eyewitnesses were Dana Lamb, Laguna lifeguard, and Fred Steeger, of 1311 1-2 Douglas street, Los Angeles, a bather. They say Dodds made frantic efforts to climb out of his cockpit and open his parachute. As the plane struck the water, both Lamb and Steeger swam out in an effort at rescue, but the wreckage was engulfed before they could reach it.

BACKED AUTO RACER

While Lienesch was flying back to Long Beach to land and return from there by motor, Barnes flashed news of the crash to authorities and Chief of Police Abe Johnson took charge of the search for body and plane. A large number of

The Lancer

FOR once there is a government investigation that promises to get somewhere. They might just as well go to the mat and settle this Indian Bureau question once for all.

The particular point of controversy is whether or not Indian agents and teachers in Indian schools have the right to administer corporal punishment in the interests of discipline. An order was made at one time forbidding it; then the order was put aside.

The point has now come up in the case of an Indian boy of 8 who died following his escape from a school where he had been whipped.

A BROKEN HEART

My experience with Indians is that you might as well kill them as whip them.

Indians have a peculiar attitude toward being manhandled. Zit-Kala-Sa, the little Sioux Indian girl who was found in her dead mother's arms after the battle of Wounded Knee, was adopted by an American cavalry officer and became a prominent author, gives testimony.

She says, at the age of 2, she was sent to an Indian school. A white visitor picked her up in his arms and tossed her—as we do with cute babies—saying "Up-t-dee"—or something equally profound.

Her heart was broken. She rushed to her room and cried for hours. It was an indignity beyond her power to bear.

HIGH-BROW STUFF

Incidentally, here is an interesting fact:

The late Dr. J. P. Widney of Los Angeles in his epochal book, "The Race Life of the Aryan People," says this "up-t-dee" moronism is one of our language bridges connecting us with the past. It is pure Sanscrit and means "up in the air."

THEATERS FOR ALL

An immense new theater is planned for Los Angeles. This is sunny optimism. What I wonder is where they are going to find the pictures to put in these theaters.

The present problem of the amusement world is to find stories. Something like 400 a year are needed. And there are not that many good stories and never will be.

A year that brings out a dozen really good stories in book form is a golden year. Genius isn't plentiful.

A STORY FAMINE

At the present time the movies—starving for good material—are going over their old junk in the hope of finding old silent pictures that can be made over into talkies.

They hopefully seize upon an author who has written a good book; hurry him out to Hollywood—pour the riches of Araby and India's coral strand into his lap and tell him to write another—usually to find that he has already written the only one he knew.

HAVE A HEART

P.S. Yes, dear reader, I know that you are now working on a scenario based upon your grandmother's life experiences that will solve the whole problem; but don't send it to me. Send it to the movie companies. They will probably return it to you unopened; but think of the good exercise you will get beating the typewriter.

ROMANCE DEATH REFUTED

California Marriages for Year Total 51,866, an Increase of 4921 Over Previous Twelve-Months Period; Los Angeles County Leads With 19,650

Where is that dyspeptic misogynist who said Romance is dead? Where is that sociologist who complained that the high cost of loving is forcing increasingly large numbers of swains and their sweeties to turn back when they approach the middle aisle and detect the fragrance of orange blossoms? Where is that statistician who announced to a palpitating world that the American home is losing ground because too many women prefer a career and too many men likewise prefer to go it alone?

Wherever they are, let them step up and help themselves to a load of Uncle Sam's latest findings in the matter of California bridal parties. Then, let them either admit they hazarded a bum guess, or forever hold their peace.

The report, just issued by the Department of Commerce which has reason to be snoopy about these things, shows that 51,866 marriages were performed in California during the year 1929. This figure isn't necessarily so startling when one considers that the State always has been well to the fore in the number of weddings per capita; but it takes on extra significance from the fact that it represents an increase of 4921 over that of the previous twelve months, 1928. The increase amounts to 10.5 per cent, which is not to be snickered at, as any one will tell—any one, for instance, who runs a furniture store or a delicatessen shop and awaits anxiously the coming of another pair of new customers.

The estimated population of California on July 1, 1929, was 4,679,000, and on July 1, 1928, 4,656,000. And on the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1000 of the population was 11.1 in 1929, as against 10.3 in 1928. Think of it! During the year 22.2 persons out of every 1000 living in the State ankled up the aisle to the halter, in pairs of course, and pronounced the words that made them each other's to have and also to hold.

Los Angeles county, with its preponderance of souls and, therefore, its proportionately greater number of "catches" among the men folk and marriageable maids among the girls, naturally led all others. "Here Comes the Bride," "I Love You Truly" and other kindred melodies were played here 19,650 times, an increase of 3863 times over 1928; proving something or other, probably that the three-day license ordinance has had no effect of consequence on Master Cupid's expeditions to the marriage clerk's office.

Far below Los Angeles county comes San Francisco county, with 6127 marriages. Then follow in

Collection Made by Arthur R. Sanger at Island of San Nicolas Brought on Sheep Boat

Arthur R. Sanger, Los Angeles collector, has recently received a shipment of prehistoric Indian relics from San Nicolas Island, barren and desert volcanic segment lying about 100 miles off the Southern California coast. This material includes one complete skeleton of a warrior, several skulls of both human beings and animals, the usual run of shell, stone, and bone work manufactured by the now extinct islanders, and one skeleton in the ribs of which a stone arrowhead was found which may or may not have been the cause of the aborigine's death.

Sanger collected this material while on a lone expedition to the island a month ago. Because of the unusually heavy seas that thundered down upon its shores during that time, he was forced to remain there for three weeks longer than had been his original intention. This was due to the fact that no boat could approach the spot. Finally he was rescued by a Coast Guard cutter when a Times correspondent happened to make a visit to the island for the purpose of examining the strange environment where a recent killing had taken place. Although he was himself brought safely back to Los Angeles, Sanger was at that time unable to remove his collection of Indian remains, and he was forced to leave it piled at the boat landing until the next sheep boat could come over and bring it off.

This material, which makes a valuable addition to Sanger's already extensive accumulation of prehistoric California coast and island remains, will probably be placed on exhibition at one of the local museums in the near future. Much of Sanger's collection is already on view at the institution in Exposition Park. Other portions of his collection have been bought by the Heye Museum of the American Indian in New York City, where they form an important adjunct to that institution's knowledge of the first inhabitants of the North American continent.

GASOLINE PRICE MAY RISE

Major Companies Predict End of War With Return of Cost to 19 1-2 Cents About Wednesday

Restoration of the price of 19½ cents a gallon for major brands of gasoline, which has been forced down to 12½ cents a gallon during a price war of the last few days, was predicted by officials of large producing companies yesterday. The cut price enjoyed by the motorists over the week-end is to be short-lived, it was asserted, as five of the major producing companies plan to increase the tank wagon prices to the filling stations.

The producers cannot deliver gasoline to them for that price and if they retail it for that they are losing money.

"The station operators necessarily must lay off their help or they will go bankrupt. We expect to raise the gas tank price during the week, probably Wednesday."

CITY ON GUARD FOR GASOLINE BOOTLEGGERS

Coincident with gasoline price wars T. A. Fitch, chief of the Bureau of Standards of the Board of Public Works, yesterday disclosed in the annual report of his bureau that many of the service stations retailing gasoline have been warned for selling an inferior product. Mr. Fitch said his department had experienced

DEATH AMBUSH PLANNED FOR CAPTIVE GANGSTER

Removal of Foster to Chicago Kept Secret Lest Wolf Pack Rend Trapped Pal in Fear

Removal of Frankie Foster, gangster and racketeer, from the County Jail and details of his return trip to Chicago, where he is wanted on a murder indictment, will be kept a strict secret, according to Investigator Dudley, who trailed the wanted man and his associates to their lair here.

Extradition papers sending Foster back for questioning on the daylight murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago newspaper man, were completed yesterday by Gov. Young, and the final documents are in Dudley's hands.

DIFFICULT PART

"All I have to do now," Dudley said yesterday, "is to take Foster from the County Jail and get him back to Chicago alive. And that is going to be the most difficult part of this gang round-up.

"There will be no advance information as to the train Foster, Scherping, my partner, and I will travel on. We will all travel together and Foster will be securely shackled to his quarters and will be watched at all times," Dudley said.

Dudley admitted he has received tips that rival gangsters as well as members of Foster's own crowd are planning to "take" the prisoner before he gets to Chicago, but the officer explained that he believes his plans for a secret departure will prevent any killing.

FOES AND FRIENDS

"There are plenty of racketeers and gangsters who do not want Foster back in Chicago, where he might start talking," Dudley said, "and it would be their plan to meet us somewhere en route. They would slay Foster on sight and he knows it. I think he will be a willing passenger on our secret journey.

"These gangsters can do all the killing of one another that they please, but I do not want to be met by a squad of their gunmen and be on the scene when the shooting starts. I'm no undertaker, but am in charge of a prisoner wanted in Chicago alive, if possible," said Dudley as he explained that his California hunt is finished and that he and his assistant are ready to leave.

STATUS OF GANG

Two of Foster's associates, five of whom were arrested in a raid a week ago, are held in the City Jail, two are out on bail on vagrancy charges and Foster's wife is held in technical custody until the investigation is closed.

George Davis, described as gunman bodyguard of Foster, is held here awaiting the arrival of Detroit officers, who will return him there to face charges of attempted murder. He is accused of a gangland shooting fray in Detroit, May 9, last.

Police here are investigation Davis's attempt to escape from the City Jail may file a complaint today which will charge attempted jailbreak. Frank Fisher, pal of Davis, is in jail awaiting the outcome of the investigation. Davis used Fisher's booking slip in his escape ruse.

CLEWS TURNED UP

Information obtained from documents found in possession of the gangsters has started an inquiry as to their possible connection with a narcotic ring. Belief that at least one of the five trafficked in drugs which were secured in Mexico and shipped to Chicago was expressed by Chief Investigator Matthews and Investigator King of the District Attorney's office.

Identification of persons in Chicago from whom letters and telegrams were received by members of Foster's gang is being sought. This information is expected to explain paragraphs in letters and memorandum books which are believed by the officers to deal with shipments of narcotics.

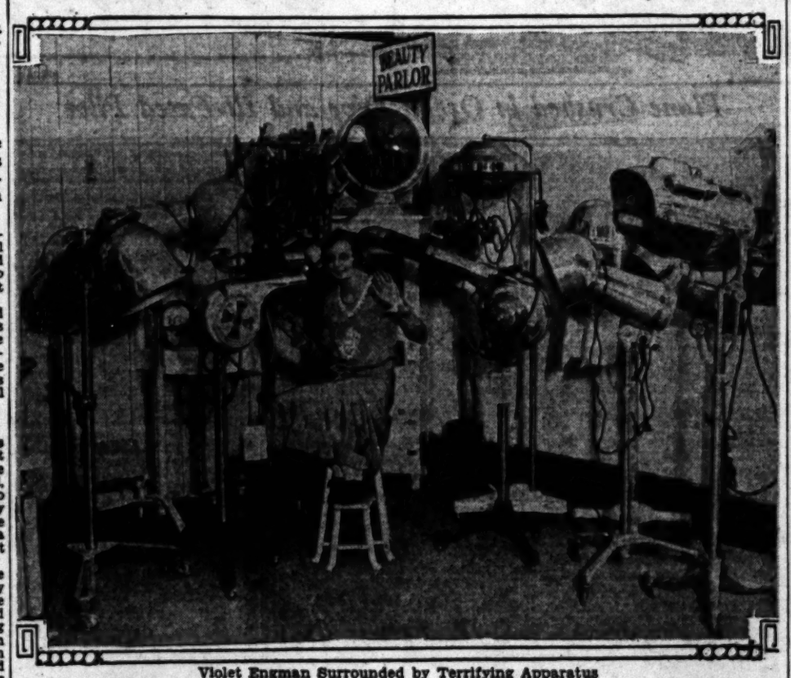
FRIGHTFUL MACHINES JUST BEAUTY AIDS

Feminine Attractiveness Now Made Like Factory Product



Violet Engman Surrounded by Terrifying Apparatus

JUST because a shop is full of big machinery no longer means that it is a place where battleships or something like that are made. It may be a beauty parlor roaring out mechanized feminine beauty or machine-made "it."

A big apparatus that looks like some kind of a deep oil well drilling machine may turn out to be a massageur to keep milady svelte and contoured along modernistic lines. Then there is something like an artist's dream of some intricate Martian device. It is a place of machinery to put kinks in the little lady's hair.

What looks like a good-sized piece off one of those great prairie wheat threshing machines is merely a device to blow the moisture off women's scalps. Another thing that looks like a giant's box of tricks is for something as minute as squirting electricity into a hair for coming out at the wrong spot.

There are big electrical machines to blast artificial sunlight into a skin and make it glow with the beauty of a summer sunset. Vibrations formidable enough to be in good place in a rolling mill give the flesh just the right softness.

"What started all this?"

"Bobbed hair," says Harry Ferguson, veteran of the game. "About ten years ago the women took a notion for bobbed hair. They went to a barber shop. Now ten salesmen go out every morning with supplies from our place alone for beauty shops. There are 4500 of them in Southern California. The State government has set up an entire department to supervise them. At the last State examination for beauty shop employees 900 persons took the tests. It's one of the big industries in the country now."

"And to think," casually remarked a male bystander, "that the women do all this that they may get our admiration!"

They are conducting their investigation in an effort to take to manufacturers an accurate picture of what the "style-conscious" housewife desires in the way of furnishings.

This is the tenth of twelve cities being visited by the experts, Seattle being the only other Pacific Coast city selected.

Differences of climate and customs as they affect textures, colors and fabrics are being checked and criticism of merchandise now being offered is invited. Miss Stuart and Mrs. Perkins expect to look within about 100 homes in Los Angeles.

RESERVISTS START LIFE ON WAVES

Southland Youths Embark on Destroyers to Cruise to Sound in Training

Three hundred and thirty Southern California Naval Reservists are under way on their annual fifteen-day training cruise bound for Puget Sound aboard six destroyers of the newly commissioned Thirty-seventh Division. The three Los Angeles divisions, headed by Lieutenant Commander L. F. Brown, are cruising aboard the U.S.S. Hovey, Long and Dorsey; the San Diego divisions are on the Chandler and Southard, while Santa Barbara's contingent embarked on the Alden. They left here yesterday morning.

The Los Angeles reservists will have the unique distinction of being the first to fire the twin-mounted four-inch guns of the Hovey and Long, which are the only destroyers in existence so armed. The right guns of each of these mounts require the services of left-handed loaders and block men, said to be rara avis among gun crews.

The reservists on the present cruise will receive training from four of the regular Navy's leading authorities in destroyer operations. Capt. Edmund S. Root, division commander, holds the Navy Distinguished Service Medal for convoy work during the World War and is a graduate of the Naval War College; Commander F. W. Rockwell, commanding the Dorsey, is a gunnery expert and in 1924 brought the gunnery trophy to the U.S.S. Tennessee; Commander J. M. Ashley, captain of the Long, has just joined the ship after communication duty in the office of naval operation at Washington; while Lieutenant Commander Tully Shelley, commanding the Hovey, is a radio expert and a year ago earned marked distinction as commander of the battle fleet bluejacket battalion in Nicaragua.

The division will go directly from a rendezvous off Santa Barbara to Port Angeles, where it will arrive for refueling tomorrow. On Thursday the six ships will go to Victoria and Vancouver for a holiday period and will depart from the British Columbia ports on the 14th inst. for San Clemente Island, where short range battle practice will be fired on the 17th and 18th inst. The reservists will disembark at their respective ports on the 19th inst.

PARDON FOR MOONEY NOT ESTOPPED

Supreme Court Ruling in Billings Case Doesn't Bind Him, Says Governor

Recommendation against a pardon for Warren K. Billings, convicted of participation in the San Francisco Preparedness Day parade explosion, by the State Supreme Court, will not bind Gov. Young in his consideration of the pardon application of Thomas J. Mooney, the executive declared yesterday.

Gov. Young is now studying the lengthy report on the Billings case as it applies to the Mooney application, and will act on the matter at the earliest possible moment, he said.

Return here today of Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, who is chairman of the Advisory Pardon Board, will permit a conference between the two on probable action on the Mooney case. Yesterday the chief executive intimated that such a conference is not imperative, and that it might not be necessary.

"I am by no means bound by the State Supreme Court recommendations in passing on the Mooney pardon application," said Gov. Young. "The findings in the Billings case are important in a study of the matter, but the final word rests with the Governor. The Billings proceedings were strictly a constitutional matter, and one in which the Governor has no part," he said.

ACTION ON LIFEGUARD PROPOSAL POSTPONED

A suggestion from General Manager Edwards of the Harbor Department that the Playground and Recreation Department obtain a permit to maintain life guards at that portion of the Terminal Island beach which includes Allen Field, the airport provided for the Navy, has been held over one week for investigation by the commission. The playground department has maintained guards at the beach for three years but the Allen Field frontage is under jurisdiction of the Harbor Department. With the increase in popularity of the Terminal Island beach, because of the smoothness of the water and ample space for parking cars, the question of responsibility for the bathers has arisen.

private fishing boats joined in the search.

On its recovery from the water, the body of Dodds was taken to the Laguna Beach funeral home by order of Coroner Carl Brown.

Dr. Elisabeth Tock, Orange county autopsy surgeon, will perform a post-mortem examination of Dodds's body this morning and the examination will be followed by a coroner's inquest which will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Laguna Beach funeral home. The examination of the body, county officers said, will be made to determine if Dodds's death was caused by drowning or from the injuries he received in the crash.

Dodds has been widely known in Southern California sports circles for several years. He took up aviation for the sport of it and was regarded as an excellent flyer. In the automobile world he was familiar as the financial backer of Harry Hartz, celebrated race driver and one-time national track champion. He divided his time between Los Angeles and his ranch at Lancaster, occupying an apartment at 569 North Rossmore avenue on his visits to this city. He leaves a widow, now on her way here from Reno, Nev.

In a collision between his automobile and another machine at Seventh and Gladys streets, Jesus Escolis, 55, of Laguna, received injuries which may result in his death. He was given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and then transferred to the General Hospital. Mary Madona, 12, of Williams ranch, Laguna, riding with Escolis, was slightly hurt.

order, Alameda, 3831; Orange, 3780; San Diego, 1915; Santa Clara, 1485, and Fresno, 1149, all other counties being under 1000. Sierra county with only three, is last in the list, unless one counts Alpine county, which had none.

So much for the business of "getting into it."

Now, as to "getting out of it:" the records reveal 15,100 divorces were granted in the State during 1929 as compared with 14,431 in 1928, representing an increase of 669, or 4.6 per cent. But hold on a moment; this news is not so disheartening if the figures are stacked up against the marriage returns. In other words divorces fell short by 5.8 per cent of keeping abreast of weddings. Moreover, only 1486 marriages, or forty-five more than in 1928, were terminated by the annulment process. The courts of Los Angeles county disposed of 7839 of these cases during the year, the report shows, 7115 of which were divorces and 724 annulments, privileging 15,678 persons—or 1476 more than in 1928—to go their way singing, "The Battle Cry of Freedom."

Pool Receipts Show Increase

Receipts from Los Angeles playground pools for the fiscal year ending June 30, last, total $47,205.34, compared with $43,436.88 for the previous fiscal year, and $34,667.39 three years ago, according to the playground department.

Exposition Park pool continues to be the most popular with an attendance during June of 2417. Griffith Park pool came next with 2225 and Evergreen, third, with 1232. Total attendance at all ten pools during the month was 22,117.

TENTH-STREET PLAN ADVANCED

Works Board Committee Recommends Project

Council Expected to Take Action This Week

Opening and Widening Suits Near Completion

Two important steps toward the eventual realization of the Tenth-street project may be taken by the City Council early this week, the Public Works Committee at its meetings last week having voted to recommend that both steps be taken.

One of the committee's recommendations which is expected to be acted upon by the Council this week is that the City Engineer be instructed to prepare plans and ordinances for the physical improvement of the long stretch of Tenth street from Indiana street to Lucerne Boulevard.

This is the section for which opening and widening proceedings are nearing completion and the committee's action was taken after the City Engineer received unofficial notification that the interlocutory judgment in these proceedings will probably be entered within three months. It is the desire of the engineer to be prepared to start the improvement proceedings as soon as the opening and widening proceedings are formally ended.

The other recommendation of the committee which will come before the Council for action is that the final ordinance for the improvement of the streets in the Olympic Boulevard and Stanley-avenue improvement district be adopted. This district includes two and one-half miles of Olympic Boulevard from Rimpau Boulevard to Robertson Boulevard and, therefore, the new paving specified in it will carry greater Tenth street westward from Rimpau Boulevard.

LIQUOR WINS WIFE DECREE

Many a man has had to choose between liquor and a woman—and when the choice came to S. B. Ellwood he did not hesitate, according to the testimony in divorce court of Mrs. Helen Ellwood. "I told him that if he did not give up liquor I would leave him," said Mrs. Ellwood, "and he told me right away that he would give me up—that there were plenty of women who liked him, and liked their liquor, too." Superior Judge Fleming granted the divorce.

NIGHT BATHING DISCOURAGED

Lifeguards Off Duty at Beaches After 6 p.m. and Before 9 a.m.

In line with its recent decision to discourage bathers from swimming after dark or during the early-morning hours, because of the drowning of a swimmer at Cabrillo Beach several weeks ago during a midnight bathing party, the Playground and Recreation Commission has adopted a notice which is to be posted opposite each life line on municipal beaches.

"Lifeguards on duty between hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. For safety do not swim at night or early in the morning," reads the notice adopted.

WIFE SAYS EFFORTS FUTILE

All her money was spent in a futile effort to induce her husband to return to her, Mrs. Dora Pearl Beach told Superior Judge Bowron, who granted her a divorce which yesterday was on file in the court records. She related that she spent the money and wasted her time going to Salt Lake City where her husband, Fred Robert Beach, was, but he would not come back to her. They were married in 1905, and separated April 30, 1928, her complaint set forth.

Living Intrude on Peace of Dead

Asking in Faith

Unidentified suppliant who yesterday knelt for hours beside grave of Padre Orosco in Calvary Cemetery.

MIRACLE-SEEKERS IN VIGIL

Padre Orozco's Humble Grave in Calvary Cemetery Thronged All Day by Devout and Curious

The silence of the congregation of the dead at Calvary Cemetery again was broken yesterday. A procession of the sorrowful and maimed streamed to the grave of Padre Amelcua Orosco all day, where beside the flower-strewn mound of earth they sought a miracle to heal and comfort them.

Ever since the rumor of a miraculous cure at the grave of this humble Mexican priest who was killed in an auto accident last February circulated among the Mexican colony, divine intercession has been asked by hundreds of supplicants.

Fathers and mothers with tears streaming from their eyes yesterday laid the little forms of sick children on the grass beside the grave. They sprinkled its earth on the little bodies while their lips moved in prayer.

CURIOSITY MONGERS

Mingling with the crowd of real worshipers were curiosity seekers who peered over the heads of the kneeling throngs at the flowers, already wilting in the sun; at the earth which hundreds have scooped and touched to absorb virtue from the spot that to them is sacred.

Cars were there with Illinois, Ohio and Alabama licenses. Cameras clicked and a few occupants joined the devout and dropped to their knees on the grass.

The throngs stood on the pedestal of the Station of the Cross which overshadows the grave of the padre. They tramped over the graves of scores of priests and Sisters of Mercy whose bodies are mingling with the dust at this quiet, beautiful spot; and always new bands of the devout came bearing flowers to the heaped-up mound.

ACT OF FAITH

Tomas Romero, 3782 East Third street, brought his little daughter Rosita, 4 years of age, who, several months ago suffered a broken leg. With the little body swathed in bandages it was laid directly on the flower-strewn mound. The child sobbed softly and picked at the flowers and then shielded her face with her hand from the gaze of the curious.

Encarnacion Morones of Arcadia, he who prayed for peace Saturday, again was there yesterday. For an hour he knelt with his crutches lying on the grass beside him and then he moved silently away among the trees.

NOT FOR SELVES

Aged crones prayed—not for themselves, many said—but for members of their families who could not make the pilgrimage. Others prayed for the sick as they came to the side of the grave, mingling their voices with those who chanted their litany of faith and hope.

The coughing autos, airplanes droning overhead, a boy in a bathing suit who clambered out of an auto dropped to his knees, disturbed them not in the least. In the intervals of silence their prayers arose like a whisper and then were drowned out by some new sound of the mechanical world.

Late in the afternoon attendants estimated that possibly 2000 persons had been at the graveside during the day. The greater portion were drawn by curiosity.

WIFE READY TO PAY COSTS

Ready to pay divorce costs, no matter which of them made the application, is the attitude of Mrs. Flossie Merritt, according to a letter filed yesterday with a decree her husband, Raymond L. Merritt, was granted by Superior Judge Guerin. They had been married a month and twenty-eight days, Merritt said, when his wife, who had fled to Santa Fe, N. M., wrote as follows: "A few lines asking you a great favor. Will you please apply for a divorce at the earliest possible time? I shall pay the costs. Or shall I apply for it instead of you? Whatever you do, please let me know at the earliest possible opportunity."

HOME WINE ORDERED RETURNED

Judge Frees Man Charged With Manufacture, Citing Federal Court Rulings

Holding, in conformity with ruling handed down by Federal courts, that manufacture and possession of wine in the home are not illegal, Municipal Judge Stafford acquitted Peter De Velaqua, 52 years of age, of a charge of possessing 200 gallons of wine seized by police officers and issued an order to Chief Steckel to return the wine to De Velaqua immediately. The decision is believed to be the first made by a State court in conformity with the Federal ruling on home-fermented wines.

A police raiding-squad reported finding the liquor in question at De Velaqua's home at 319 South Workman street. The defendant testified that he had made it for the use of himself and his family and according to his attorney, Clarence B. Conlin, did so in the belief that he was not violating the liquor laws. In his argument Conlin cited numerous decisions of the Federal courts on the question.

"Federal courts have repeatedly held that the prohibition laws do not make unlawful the fermenting of grape juice in the home for home use," Judge Stafford said in his decision. "In this case the evidence shows that the defendant made the wine himself for his own use and there is no indication that he was using it in a commercial way."

Los Angeles Boy Reported Dead in Eastern Mishap

A message announcing the death of a youth believed to be Henry Fritz, 22 years of age, of 1376 North Serrano street, was received yesterday by the young man's mother Mrs. Luise Fritz, from Chief of Police E. V. Moorhead of Port Jervis, N. Y. The telegram contained no details other than that death had resulted from injuries.

Inquiry at the youth's home in this city revealed that he left Los Angeles June 16, last, for a hitch-hiking trip to New York where he hoped to find employment as a sculptor's assistant and study art. The mother said she had received a letter from him Saturday, bearing a Chicago postmark.

While identification has not been positively established, according to the telegram from the East, letters found on the body indicated that the victim is the local man.

A description of Fritz was dispatched to the eastern city yesterday with a request for further information.

WIFE GIVEN CHILDREN

Prospective paternity caused her husband to curse her, Mrs. Marie Antoinette De Ventura told Superior Judge Cabaniss in obtaining a divorce. Later, he taunted that she did not have the nerve to leave him, Mrs. De Ventura asserted, in explaining why she wanted to part with her spouse. Judge Cabaniss granted her custody of her children, William, 3 years of age, and Marie, 15 months.

Today's Bible Text

Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. For in Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in Him.

GOLD IN ITS GIZZARD

A woman split a chicken's gizzard and found $54 in gold. This ought to be quite a stimulus to the poultry business.

MISSING A BET

Movie sign reads, "Sharkey and Schmelling, With Sound." What a golden opportunity the inventor of the "smellies" missed.

INTELLIGENCE TEST

Henry Ford says that the automobile has raised the average intelligence of the people. It may just seem that way; for it may have killed off all the others.

CALIFORNIA COIN

The highest price ever paid for a coin was $7900 for a privately minted $5 gold piece made in California back in 1940. Our climate makes even money grow.

NEEDS SOMETHING STRONGER

When Sherman used up one of our most popular and expressive words to describe war, he left no adequate vocabulary for the fellow who is digging out of a sand trap in front of the golf green.

EATING OUT

The American Restaurant Association says that more people than ever are eating out. Washington announces that roadside eating places did a business of $500,000,000 the past year. The General Foods Corporation declares that one-fourth of all our income is spent on food.

GOOD

"Think of our fathers and we think of making good; think of our mothers and we think of being good," says Rabbi Jacob Katz. What beats us is how anyone with so much good around in the family can be anything but good. Possibly if we could find another member of the family to inspire us to do good, he might be useful.

KNOB-TWISTERS

Cecil Lewis, an Englishman, came over to America not long ago for a couple of months, watched us twist our radio knobs and listened in to what we heard and went back and called us a bunch of knob-twisters.

America is even called a knob-twister's paradise. We twist it in the morning, at noon and at night. We twist it for comfort, for culture, for cash. We twist it for opera, sport and religion.

And it seems that we have nothing to hear. At that he may not be wholly wrong. Chaff and dust fill the air, blow into our ears and smut up our eyes. We have to take the smoke of a lot of people. Sometimes it cheers, but often depresses and clutters up our ideals.

And yet it is not wholly knob-twisting. Our 120,000,000 do more than sit up night after night twisting knobs. We may have to smoke cigarettes between some of the finest musical numbers and take Chicago beef even to the static squeal with our grand opera. We may have to brush our teeth both before and after Amos and Andy. And we may be compelled to oil up Sousa's March with petroleum.

But the American people are being taught the best classic music. Hardly a street gamin but knows "Aida" and "Il Trovatore." Radio has all but taken the copyright off everything and made the humblest citizen partner of the noblest ideas.

You can even go to church and choke off the preacher when he becomes too long-winded and hear Will Rogers without robbing the babe of his bread. Americans may shop around all over the country at times to find something worth while; but then they just get even with the other half that shops around Europe for fake masterpieces.

We may be knob-twisters; but everybody is learning the metropolitan language without any of the noise and gloom. We may be program tasters; but we are becoming acquainted with the great violinists and songbirds of the race. And even the President is becoming an intimate in every home.

THE PRESIDENT REPORTS

President Hoover, in his address to the Governors' conference, reported significant progress in his campaign for the expansion of public works to relieve economic depression. During the first six months of the present year the high figure of public works expenditure reached in 1929 was topped by approximately $200,000,000, the President said, the total being $1,700,000,000. In addition, public utility corporations expended an equal amount, in both cases the program being much larger than would normally have been the case.

Furthermore, the public-works program for the year is no more than fairly under way and the amounts that will be put to such use in the remaining six months will undoubtedly surpass the expenditures already made. Congress made considerable amounts available for the next fiscal year, which has just started, and State and local improvement programs also are just getting under way.

Following other depressions, public work fell off as private work did. This was true in 1908 and in 1922. While the President did not estimate how much more public work was done than would have been the case, but for the organization which he initiated at the beginning of the year, it is easy to suppose that the total might very likely have fallen below $1,000,000,000 and that the stimulation resulting from the President's appeal probably amounted to $500,000,000 to $700,000,000, rather than merely the $200,000,000 excess over 1929. That year, it must be remembered, was a peak year for public work.

To what extent unemployment has been affected by this program it is of course impossible to say, but Secretary Lamont's recent estimate based on census counts for about one-fourth of the nation's area, that unemployment averages around 2 per cent, indicates that something has caused a revival. Last January, a rough estimate that unemployment was then 4 per cent was hazarded at Washington. If this estimate was even close, the 2 per cent recorded as of April 1 represented a great improvement.

Secretary Lamont gave a few State figures as follows: Nevada, 4.5 per cent; Ohio, 3.3 per cent; Wyoming, 3.2 per cent; Massachusetts, 3 per cent; Michigan, 2.7 per cent; Colorado, Washington, 2.6 per cent; California, 2.5 per cent. Arkansas recorded the best percentage, having only .4 per cent out of work. Some seventy-five cities averaged 3 per cent, the country districts on the whole making a better showing, easily accounted for by the well-known fact that unemployed tend to drift to the larger centers. It will be recalled that Los Angeles city showed 3.6 per cent unemployment and the county including the city about 2.5 per cent, or the same as the State as a whole.

The idea of stimulating public work to aid in relieving depression is not a new one; but President Hoover was the first Chief Executive to start it operating. It had been discussed academically for years, and nearly everyone agreed that it was a good idea, but it never was tried out in practice, at least on a national scale. The President took the initiative and his report of success is gratifying, not only to his friends but also to everyone who has an interest in the welfare of the nation.

FAMOUS AIRPLANES

We already have preserved the names of horses, ships and steam locomotives associated with various triumphs achieved in promoting rapid transit. Aviation has reached the stage where famous airplanes may be added to the list. Men have always delighted to honor the machines through which the genius of the race has been able to express itself.

The last machine to attain distinction is the refueling endurance plane, City of Chicago, with its marvelous record of staying in the air for nearly 554 hours without mishap. It stood a strain on wing and shaft and engine and fin and rudder that was finally too much for the flesh-and-blood strain imposed on its indomitable and courageous pilots, the Hunter brothers. For, as John Hunter said, the ship was good for several more days, but in their weakened condition they did not feel able to fight it out that long.

Another airship undoubtedly destined to have a permanent place in the records of aviation, a plane which has withstood even harder tests than the City of Chicago, has just finished its world wanderings and come home to rest in our own State of California. Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith's Southern Cross, the first and at present the only plane to fly the Pacific and to make a complete circuit of the globe, undoubtedly will occupy a prominent place in whatever hall of fame is reserved for airplanes with historic records.

Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis, of course, is assured immortal memory in the story of the conquest of the air. That plane was a pioneer in the truest sense, for from its lone achievement started the new and extraordinary era of travel of the skylines by aircraft, as common today as it was rare before that spectacular flight from New York to Paris.

It is unfortunate that the original Wright plane, the little father of the present brood of accomplished children, was lost to the Smithsonian Institution and allowed to emigrate to the British Museum. Fifty years from today our children will certainly enjoy tracing the development of the monster flyers of that age from the little old Wright glider with as much instruction and amusement as we experience now when one of the first horseless carriages is displayed in a modern automobile show. Let us hope that by that time we may have been able to coax either with blandishments or cold cash the original American airplane back to its native shores.

CALLING THE BLUFF

Wonder what it is that makes the ferocious Chicago gangster so docile when he faces a Los Angeles cop? The glamour of the two-gun sheriff evidently still hangs over this section. Even the famous "Scarface" was driven out of town. Those fellows will learn after a time that this city has no yen for the stuff that New York, Detroit, Philadelphia and Chicago stand for.

LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

MORE than ever before, men and women from all parts of the world are bringing their bags of dreams to this Bagdad of the West. But many more are coming, like Marco Polo, with empty bags they intend to take home full.

Even governments are sending representatives here to study talking pictures, realizing the effect they may have in developing and educating their countries.

And some of these emissaries bring us surprising news of how talking films are Americanizing the world.

Sent by His President

Senor Jorg Delano has arrived from Chile. Delano is said to be the ace director of Chile and his latest silent picture, "The Street of Dreams," was awarded the grand prize at the exposition in Seville, Spain. Delano says that he was sent here by the President of Chile to study sound pictures.

"We already realize, in Chile, what not everyone here seems to realize—that the sound film is the greatest invention since that of the printing press," says Delano. "In my country there are many people of Indian blood who long have received inhospitably all efforts toward progress. But shortly before I left home those people went to the polls and voted money to the American Foundation Fund for the establishment of 250 schools and twenty hospitals like those which had been shown them in American-made talking pictures."

Japanese Copy Hollywood Styles

At the same hotel at which Delano is stopping, the Hollywood Plaza, is Matsui Suisei, master of ceremonies in a theater in Tokio, where they like talking pictures so well that Suisei translates into Japanese what the actors are saying in English. The Japanese are such natural geniuses in photography that they would much rather let the pictures run just as they come from this country than try to translate them, before they are shown, into sound which failed to synchronize, Suisei has to think and talk fast—but the audiences look at the pictures so discerningly that only a few explanatory words are necessary.

"Now every stenographer in Tokio dresses like Norma Shearer," says Suisei. "Not long ago a picture was shown in which the hero dashes into a ballroom in his smoking jacket. I failed to explain that he did that because he had had no time to change—and at the next fashionable soiree several of our young bloods arrived wearing smoking jackets!

"Our people see everything, miss nothing. Recently an American film showed a woman working at a washing machine. After that picture had been shown a week, Tokio agents for American washing machines noted a rush of business. They put out canvassers and found people more than ready to receive them. It looked so easy and charming for the beautiful heroine to wash with a machine that they all wanted to do it. The rock of eastern tradition at last has been blasted, one might say, by the microphone. We begin by copying American clothes and customs—are we not pretty sure, eventually, to copy a good many of American institutions?"

South Africa Interested, Too

W. Garrison Patley, barrister, from Johannesburg, South Africa, is another guest at that same hotel who has been drawn here from a far country by the talkies, and who has interesting theories as to their effects on the world. He believes that talking pictures are speeding the parting monarchs of all the world and are going to bring about the establishment of republics instead of kingdoms in more than one country.

"The more people see of republican institutions," he says, "the less they are impressed by the divine rights of kings. In Spain and Italy everyone understands that the kings hold their jobs only by sufferance. Even in South Africa the new stamps are being printed without the king's head on them. I believe motion pictures are the principal cause of the world's losing its awe for traditions. The people who do things because they always have done them and because their fathers and grandfathers before them always did them are seeing better methods presented as entertainments, not as arguments, so that their logic rather than their antagonism is awakened. Historians of the future well may trace the world's golden age of liberty, broad-mindedness and equality before the law to the little instrument which makes shadows talk."

Any Golf Widow Can Believe This

Lee: Your comments on peewee golf courses are all right, but you don't know half. Other night I was going home at 4:30 a.m. when I noticed a miniature golf course still working. A milk truck was parked in front of it. And the milkman and a policeman were absorbed in their game. I could have driven off with the whole truck full of milk and neither would have noticed it.—R. E. Porter.

Ah, There's the Rub

Yes, it looks like a perfect alibi for late hours. Any golf widow might believe it was a peewee golf course which detained you. But will she?

UP IN THE AIR

The number of people carried in regularly operated airplanes in 1929 was 16,263. In a country with a population of 120,000,000, evidently 726 stayed on the ground for each one going aloft. However, the 726 are investigating life insurance.

FRAGILE FIGHTERS

Ring gladiators in New York must gird themselves with foul-proof protectors. A lot of the present crop of heavies would welcome a return to armor plate all the way up.

CAROL

By James J. Montague

I was taught that the lot of a king,
Quite in spite of an ermine-trimmed gown,
A gem-studded scepter to swing
And a jeweled and glittering crown,
Is one of continuous worry and woe,
Decidedly sad and unpleasant,
And that men at the helms of monarchical realms
Would trade with the neediest peasant.

And yet it is rarely you read
Of a King who steps down from his throne
Resolved to go out and succeed
In the world of affairs on his own.
King Lear, you remember, was one of the few
Who ever attempted to do it,
But the trouble he found as he ambled around
Was so great that he couldn't live through it.

When Carol, a monarch by birth,
Decided to go his own gait,
Preferring to seek haunts of mirth
Than to rule the Rumanian state,
A number of people observed with a sneer
That the youngster had bats in his attic,
But most of us cried: "Here's a lad with real pride—
A King who has gone democratic."

But he longed for the glowing romance
And the crowd with its welcoming roar,
And as soon as he got a good chance
He was swinging the scepter once more.
As a person brought up in the land of the free
I should view his behavior with sorrow,
Yet if I could be king I would do the same thing
And probably do it tomorrow.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

THE BIG TEN

[New York Evening Post]

By estimate in some cases and official count in others, the standing of the biggest ten cities of America is now determined. Notable changes have taken place in their rating, though the four leaders—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit—are still holding their own. But Los Angeles has come up from tenth to fifth and Boston has dropped behind Baltimore, while others have moved down one place to make room for the ambitious California city. There are no newcomers among the big ten, but San Francisco has gained 115,086 and is only about 23,000 behind Pittsburgh, the tenth city of America.

The increases in most of these represent the filling up of wide-open spaces in comparatively young communities or else, as in New York, the growth in residential suburbs added recently to metropolitan areas. The total increase of the ten amounts to about 3,000,000. This disclosure shows the error of the earlier forecasts that big city growth would be found to be overshadowed in this census by the dramatic increases in small cities and towns. The percentage of increase in these centers is higher, apparently, than in the nation as a whole. It indicates that wherever there is space for it the energy of American business attracts more and more people within city limits.

ICELAND'S THOUSANDTH PARLIAMENT

[New York World]

At Thingvellir, which means "Parliament Fields," the little Kingdom of Iceland, less populous than Richmond Borough, is celebrating the thousandth anniversary of that Parliament. The King and Queen, who are also King and Queen of Denmark, are present with a great crowd of visitors, for whose shelter tents have been erected on the bleak Thingvalla plain.

A thousand years is a long time for a Parliament to survive. There is scarcely a government in Europe whose constitution in its present form is as old as that of the United States. Even in Switzerland the even course of government was rudely interrupted by the Sonderbund conflict in 1843 and the consequent new constitution of 1848. For that matter, Iceland has had political changes in her thousand years—from a republic to Norwegian rule, and later to Danish sovereignty. It was only in 1918 that Denmark acknowledged Iceland as a kingdom, independent except for an oversight of its foreign affairs, recalling the arrangement with Cuba under the Platt amendment.

But in all these changes the Parliament of Iceland seems to have preserved its endurance record to be the boast of modern times. It is a record than can have few if any serious rivals. We do not wonder that the people of the island kingdom are making much of it.

LONG LOOK BACK

[Boston Transcript]

Massachusetts, there she stands! With a little matter of 512,816 more people in 1930 than in 1920 and some 4,363,000 more than in 1630.

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLELAN

Whaddaya know—Herbert has had a break. Everybody except members of Congress are happy over it. He has taken the wriggling and recalcitrant forms of the misrepresentatives and Senators across his chubby knee and, oh, boy, what he has done to the spankable portions of their anatomies! And he has made them like it and say "Yes, Teacher."

Who would have thought it possible? It was like seeing a jellyfish turn on a swordfish and lick the tar out of it. This Quaker is deceptive. There is more to him than meets the eye. And did he get mad!

Here is the lay—get it; it's good: Early in his administration he called in Amos Mellon—I mean Andy—and had from that "figuring fool" a statement of the country's finances present and prospective. You can wake that bird any hour of the night and get a statement of anything financial, to the fourth decimal. Then Herbert wrote a letter to Congress, saying in substance, "Boys, here's how we're fixed for money, and it would be well to keep it in mind so we won't do anything silly that would raise taxes and hell."

Congress got sore and said, "Who is this guy Hoover—never heard of him. We know about our country's finances, and he has no business horning in, telling us where to get off. We know even more about economy than he does about blue prints. T'ell with him."

So the House of Representatives got them up a pension bill that was a darb. It 'ust proceeded to splatter pension money around as if it were made of discarded wall paper. They passed it with a whoop and a loud, demoniacal laugh. Then the Senate took it up. Herbert sent out a clear warning, telling what a wrong and unwise thing, from every possible standpoint, would be the passage of this bill. To this the Senate replied in its usual way, by passing the bill almost unanimously. Ha, ha! Then did Herbert rise in his wrath? Dunt ask. He said things that those who have known him longest and most intimately know to be characteristically Hooverian. He said the bill was not only unwise, but filled with lies. He said, and who could dispute it, that the members of Congress were suffering from election hysteria. He talked turkey and other large birds. And by that time he had them scared. They said, "Why didn't he tell us about this earlier? Why didn't he scotch this bill when it was in committee, instead of waiting till we had committed ourselves on it?"

Wouldn't that rattle your back teeth? He had told them, mind you, that they were to be careful of their expenditures, but to that bunch of unexplainables it didn't mean they were not to spend money foolishly. It was as if a father had given his son a dollar and told him not to spend it. The boy bought a dollar's worth of all-day suckers and when his father remonstrated he replied, "But you didn't say not to buy all-day suckers."

Then Herbert had them where the wool is short; he brought the House up with a jerk, and reduced that pension business more than half, at the same time making it infinitely more just to the beneficiaries and also to the public that pays the taxes.

In one of Corra Harris's stories, years ago, she said that when a certain village woman saw her own character depicted in a magazine article, she was as "startled as if an angel had spit in her face." That's the way the Senate was. The worm had thrown off its disguise and presto, it was a diamond-back rattler.

Attaboy, Bert! Go to 'em. The people will love you more than ever if you stand up to Congress and, since they would not listen to your kindly admonition, would not appreciate being treated as if they were intelligent, apply the cogent oil of hickory where it will do the most good. The back of the hairbrush for them instead of the hairshirt for you.

And also in this matter of considering the naval pact: He had given them every chance to get busy with it. They kept on frivoling. He told them if they didn't get after it in this regular session, he would call an extra session. That made them sit up suddenly and look around dazedly. The Senate, when he said extra session, cried, "Who, me?" Yes, you, Senate! For the House has nothing to do with treaties, Gott sie dank, and they can go out and electioneer and toss the hokum while the Senate will stay and work. The Senate said, "Surely the Pride of West Branch can't mean anything so cruel as that. Let's have our party 'leader' in the Senate go and talk him out of it." But Herbert wouldn't be talked out of it. The impudence of the Senate had penetrated through the soft part which they mistakenly thought was all of the man, and hit something like the Rock of Gibraltar. He stayed put.

They even sent him a round robin, signed by twenty-four oppositionists, but that also didn't get anywhere. A round robin—in fact, a robin of any given shape—has no chance against a peeved eagle that is square.

And do you know what I'd like to see? I'd like to see that bunch of twenty-four Senators, with George Moses in the center of the group, sitting in the very middle of Pennsylvania avenue at 2 p.m. the hottest day in August, right on their little sitdowns, considering that naval pact. Maybe they would then see what their duties had been away last winter when they were Parker-baiting and tariff-fooling and even later in the spring, when the naval pact came to them and there was decent weather for legislation. They say they are worn out—and how! They are not as worn out with what they have been doing instead of working, as are the people who have pungled the money they wasted at the job. An old Scotch preacher said, "I prrreached fower hourrrs this morrrrrning." "Oh, but weren't you tired?" asked a friend. "Deed aye," said the minister, "but ye should ha' seen th' congrrrrregation!!!"

LETTERS TO The Times

Too Theoretical

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The article by former Federal Judge Bledsoe, lately appearing in The Times on the question of prohibition was a splendid thesis in theory. It failed, however, to deal with the practical side of the question.

The judge says now that he is ready to indorse and support any system that is shown to be better than the present one. Well, no system will be better than the present one, if it is only founded on theory. Men like Judge Bledsoe should study out and present practical solutions of vexed problems. Theoretical solutions are for Utopia only and we are far away from that.

It behooves such men as our friend to analyze problems and present practical methods of attaining the object sought. It is apparent that the Volstead Act is almost universally adjudged to be out of harmony with the rank and file public opinion. Therefore, the mistake should be ferreted out and eliminated. Make the law practical; that is, make it fit into the reasonable public opinion. The American people will support anything reasonable for the public good, but it must be devoid of favoritism, cossackism and fanaticism; therefore, practical.

It must be admitted by all fair-minded men that something is wrong with Volsteadism. What is it? We should find out what is wrong and correct it. It would be fine if everybody said, "Let us all quit using alcohol," and then quit. That is all right as a family affair, but it could only be applied in a great government as a joke.

The writer is a staunch advocate of the Eighteenth Amendment and believes that if a fair law of enforcement is enacted thereunder it would succeed. The amendment prohibits the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. That is purely a plain and sensible principle. We certainly cannot have temperance unless we frown on the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

But, the Volstead Act goes way beyond intoxicating liquors; it converts a temperance provision into a total abstinence measure.

E. M. SWARTZ.

Appreciation

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the name of the Los Angeles Public Library, we wish to express our appreciation of the generous space given in the Los Angeles Times to local and national library news both preceding and during the recent conference of the American Library Association.

We wish to extend our thanks to editors and representatives of The Times for ably presented daily reports and attractive photographic displays of events of conference week, together with frequent mention of the local library. We may state that we have always found The Times a consistent and generous supporter of the cultural and educational interests for which the Los Angeles Library stands.

Would Discomfort Many

COSTA MESA (Cal.) July 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The letter of the secretary of the Western Growers' Protective Association in The Times of July 1 on the advantages of daylight saving for his particular group should have a reply. He there accuses those opposed to his ideas as being selfish, etc., whereas the very goal of his own group is a selfish one (as there stated) "better prices for farm products, etc."

No one is hindering those who would start work earlier from doing so now, but why force others to do so? Men and women are not machines to be switched around from a long-established order in a minute without in many cases causing great discomfort, but that to the modern "efficienist" seems to be of no concern.

IT DOES NO GOOD

Men say I'm lacking pep and spirit, because I like to stay at home, and bask all day pretty near it, without a murmur in my dome. The threatening clouds of perils coming in a gang; I sit dreaming here, and do not seem to care a hang. My neighbors do a lot of fretting about some crisis on the deck; they gather round and get flushed and panting, and they say Pete and also Heck. Why don't I join them in protesting? Why don't I quit my bootless ease, and gird my claymore and go fight? A long, long time I've been breathing the air of this old whirling sphere; when I was young my heart was filled with angry passions by the peck. For I beheld so many evils, my indignation made me sick. I took part in all reforms designed to turn some rascal trick. Devising methods of reform I sprained my lungs and got much sleep; I stirred up strife in every section, and quarreled with friends I wished to keep. I found the work was wearing, tiring, this saving of the country's flag, and I'd go home at night perspiring, and use up any cotton rag. And after years of frenzied striving, I looked around, to realize the evils were surviving, and new ones jarred my eyes. It does no good." I said, "no crisis in my time shall find me the candle of my eyes bestirred, henceforth I'll let the evils slide. It does no good to rant and clamor, and keep attacking what, and things with a hammer, and making speeches through a hat." And so I rest my bones, dreaming, beneath my favorite greenwood tree; and in the distance sounds the [illegible] which does no good, as I see.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

SUMMER SQUASH

The summer squash is a member of the gourd family, along with the cucumbers and melons. It is the same as the vegetable marrow of Europe and Canada, and is almost exactly like the edible gourds used in Spain and India.

As one cook has said, "Summer squash is mostly water—but what water!" For this reason it makes a good cleansing, cooling summer vegetable. It is a very delicious addition to the everyday diet. Summer squash may be secured in most parts of the country during the season and should be used as much as possible when available.

Several varieties are used: some are scalloped, some flat, some round, some crooknecked, some yellow, some white. The taste is very agreeable, being mild and bland. The squash of this group belongs to the nonstarchy vegetable class and may be combined well with either a starch meal or a protein meal.

One particular kind of little summer squash called Italian squash or zucchini, is green with stripes. Inside it is yellowish to white. It is used a great deal in Italy. These squashes may not be obtained in every market, but they are finely flavored when used young and are tender and of delicate taste.

Summer squash are classed with the alkaline foods, offering potash, lime and soda.

Squash has a number of qualities to commend it to the cook. It does not cost much, does not take long to prepare, and does not take long to cook. Since it cooks very quickly it does not warm up the kitchen on a summer day. It needs no preparing, as the skin washes up easily when cooked. The seeds are left in it. It should be washed, diced and cooked in very little water, just enough to cover it so that too much of the flavor does not cook out into the water. It carefully watched it is often possible to cook squash by cutting it up and adding no water at all, using a little butter instead. Squash cooked in this way will be sweeter and will lack that watery flavor which clings to a squash which has gone to a watery grave in the pan before it reaches the table. Most summer squash is cooked in too much water which renders it tasteless and unpalatable.

As summer squash is a nonstarchy vegetable it may be combined with almost any other kind of food, and it, therefore, lends itself easily to many mixtures with other vegetables.

In tomorrow's article I will give you some recipes which are suggestions of a number of different ways for using summer squash during the season. After reading these recipes I will be glad to have any of my readers send their favorite ways of preparing summer squash so that in future articles I may pass the recipes on to my readers.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Enough for Everyone

If your family is large, don't try to crowd your hot cakes or fritters into one pan and expect either to keep a supply on hand or to make good cakes. Use two pans and you will not have any trouble.

Scented Kerchiefs

To do away with that smell of the irons, a delicate scent of violet will be given to handkerchiefs if some pieces of orris root are placed in a muslin bag and put in the water in which they are boiled.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Be not too quick, though as you know,
'Tis often fatal to be slow.
—Old Mother Nature.

THE LITTLE MUSKRAT WHO WAS SLOW

One must think quickly in times of danger. The one who is slow in his thinking is likely to be too late. That is why these slow thinkers seldom live to grow old. To live long in the world of feathers and fur is to think quickly and to act as quickly.

Now, in Jerry Muskrat's big family there was one young Muskrat who was always just a little bit behind the others. If a danger signal was given this young Muskrat was the last one to heed it. This wasn't because he was careless or heedless. It was because his wits were a little slow. He didn't sense at once what the signal meant. But when he would see his brothers and sisters plunging under water, he would do likewise, for it would come to him then what that signaling meant.

Mrs. Muskrat worried over this little fellow more than she did over some of the others. "I am afraid," she said to Jerry, "that some day he'll just be too late. You will notice that he never does anything in a hurry. His wits seem to work slowly and his movements are just as slow. It takes him twice as long to get under water as it does some of the others."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about him," replied Jerry. "He'll be all right."

For a while the young Muskrat was all right. Nothing happened to him and his mother, becoming accustomed to his slowness, gradually forgot about it. Of course, she warned him that he must think more quickly and move more quickly. But the little Muskrat went his way unconcerned. As nothing happened to him, he made up his mind that nothing could happen to him; and this was, of course, a very foolish thing to think. You know, something can always happen. Now, there were others who had noticed the slowness of this little Muskrat. One of those was Whitetail the Marsh Hawk. It is the business of Whitetail to note such things as this. Many times he had flown where he could watch the young Muskrats around the Smiling Pool, without appearing to watch them. He was studying them; he was getting acquainted with their ways.

"There is one of those young Muskrats I am going to have for my dinner," thought Whitetail. "He doesn't know it and I'm not going to tell him, but I'm going to get him just the same. Were he as quick as his brothers and sisters I wouldn't be quite so sure of him. But he is slow and one of these days he is going to be too slow for his own good."

So every day Whitetail kept watch so as to learn the habits of the young Muskrats. He noticed that this particular young Muskrat was fond of sitting on the end of a certain old log. Back of that Whitetail took note of. All this White tail took note of. Then one morning when from a distance he had made sure that the young Muskrat was sitting on his favorite log, Whitetail circled far around and then, flying low, just above the grass tops, he headed straight for the Smiling Pool. He was flying so low that he knew the young Muskrat sitting on the log would not be able to see him, because of the bulrushes. Any young Muskrats who might be on the other side of the pond would be likely to see him before he reached the Smiling Pool. However, they would not see him until he was almost there, and he counted on the slowness of this young Muskrat to take alarm.

It all came about just as he had planned. Jerry Muskrat, from the farther side of the Smiling Pool, saw Whitetail coming. Instantly Jerry gave the alarm. Instantly, all the young Muskrats heeded the alarm; that is, all but the slow one. By the time he had made up his mind up to plunge into the water, it was just too late, and Whitetail the Marsh Hawk carried him away. So Jerry's big family was reduced to six.

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about him."

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, July 7. (Exclusive) With the increasing warmth of the weather, panamalac seems to have lost its final lac and we have panama as a leading straw for midsummer. It is subtly blocked with the new feeling for shape and draping. The crown is lower. Although it is always simple, a fold across the top of the crown, from front to back, will give it a femininity and charm it has never before possessed. One which I saw recently, by Rose Descat, has a brim which turns back slightly on the left side, and is very wide on the right with a deep, folded flange. The only trimming is a band around the base of the brim, black satin and beige linen woven together.

To the sports woman, summer has also brought the sennit straw sailors. These are almost replicas of the sailors of some decades ago, except that they are not designed for bicycling and have no elastic under the chin. The sailor is jauntier than ever, even though they no longer held sway from the top of pompadeurs. The straw is practically the same as that used for men's summer hats, and there is a color range so that you may match your riding habit or your spectator sport costume.

Half a Dress

At this time of the year, it is difficult for me to get very far away from the beach in thinking about clothes. As the focal center of our vacation lives, its costumes deserve special attention. Schiaparelli has designed one of the cleverest beach ensembles ever conceived. It consists of four half-dresses, each with an armhole on one side and on the other a tie to hold it in place, like an apron. The ties in one half pass through slits in the other, and both tie on the same side. The halves are, of course, in different colors, any combination you may choose, so that you who wear them have a succession of amusing, varied tussore dresses.

Tennis

The tennis player will be delighted with a Magy Rouff sleeveless tennis dress of white pique. The skirt is plaited to give the wearer complete freedom. Above this is a tunic fitted around the hips by two slits, cut up to the waist. These lace and tie in bows at the waist above which the dress blouses slightly. There are two shoulder straps on either side, approximately an inch wide and set about the same distance apart. It has real chic and is outstandingly practical.

Another delightful French tennis frock is by Schiaparelli in linen with a set-in front and cape sleeves of down to below the hips, then released to give the skirt width. The use of linen, cotton mesh and cotton pique is noteworthy for active sport clothes.

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

FROZEN WREATH CAKE

Beat the yolks of three eggs and beat into them four tablespoonfuls of sugar, mixed with one tablespoonful of corn starch, and four tablespoonfuls of milk, mix until smooth, and place in a double boiler, stirring constantly over a slow fire, until smooth, remove from the fire and stir in one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind and one-third of a cupful of strained lemon juice, allow the mixture to cool, beat to a cream one-half cupful of unsalted butter, and slowly add to it, creaming constantly one cupful of sifted sugar, combine the two mixtures and fold in the thickly beaten whites of three eggs, line a mould with lady fingers, placing them on the sides and bottom, close together, cover the lady fingers with a layer of the filling; overt his place another layer of lady fingers and cover with the filling; continue this until all the material has been used. Cover the top with a layer of lady fingers, place in a cold ice box for twelve hours, unmold on a serving plate and cover with one cupful of whipped cream to which has been added four tablespoonfuls of sugar and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

CANDIED APRICOTS

Dip two pounds of firm apricots in boiling water and allow them to remain for two minutes. Remove, drain and cool, place in a sauce pan two cupfuls of water and four and one-half cupfuls of sugar, bring to a boil, skim and boil for five minutes, add the apricots and boil slowly for fifteen minutes. Remove from the fire and let stand over night. Return to the fire and boil for ten minutes. Repeat this process of boiling and cooling for five days. When the fruit is transparent and bright lift it out of the syrup and place it on trays and dry in the sun. Place in a saucepan two cupfuls of water and three and one-half cupfuls of sugar, bring to a boil, skim and pour over the dried and candied apricots, let stand for three days, drain off the syrup and dry again in the sun. The stones can be removed and the space filled with blanched almonds.

PEACH BUTTER WITH CIDER

Boil one gallon of sweet cider until thick, then add to it ten pounds of peeled, pitted and mashed ripe peaches, cook slowly for thirty minutes, add seven pounds of sugar and cook slowly until thick as soft butter, spices may be added to this if liked. This same recipe can be used for apricot butter, using firm, ripe apricots in place of the peaches.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

DOMINEERING PARENT MAY CAUSE DISHONESTY IN CHILD

Dishonesty, to most parents, is a glaring tragedy. To find that their child is capable of sneering at the law and taking what does not belong to him is difficult for them to understand. Far from blaming themselves, they point to their own impeccable habits as an answer to such an absurdity. Sometimes they do not want to understand, because to do so would be to make themselves culpable, too.

Dishonesty in the very young child is commonplace. Children have no such built-up sense of property values as the adult. Everything about him is his and what he sees in some other home seems just as much his. Pennies and cookies are the same thing to him and he takes one as unconsciously as the other.

PROVIDE ALLOWANCE

Unless the child has an allowance sufficient for his needs, all money is a temptation to him when he arrives at the age of money spending. Parents are headstrong about allowances. They say, "I buy him anything he wants," or "I can't afford it." But if the child steals money from others, or is driven to taking petty trifles, or is tempted by material possessions, one has to face the fact that lack of money to spend as other children spend it may easily be at the root of his dishonesty. If he is ever to have a sense of money values he must handle money himself—spend it, throw it away, save it—so that he discovers what it is for and how to handle it. The only way to teach a child that is by experience with real money.

HOME MAY BE AT FAULT

The really criminal dishonesty that may crop up at the adolescent period is an outcome of the sore spots of early childhood. One of them C. Standford Read has made all too clear in his book, "The Struggles of Male Adolescents." Parents cannot afford to blind their eyes to these pertinent facts. He points out that in these homes where there is a domineering and self-assertive father, usually without understanding or sympathy for the child, quick to anger, quick to punish, the child is driven to hate the father. He never up and represses this emotion knowing it to be an unworthy one, but later when he comes up against authority at school or in society, he thority to this child represents just finds himself resenting it. Auta larger and sterner father, and while unable in the past to revolt against his father, he does revolt against the laws and orders of society. In so doing he regains some of his self-respect, and is able to assert himself in a way he never could in the home.

Many defiant adolescents are challenging authority, not because what they steal means anything to them, but because doing it satisfies this tangled mass of unhealthy emotions. It should make all parents think deeply, and look hard for the sore places in their own homes.

A Suggestion

If puzzled what to do with the restless youngster on a rainy day the wooden part of a handle used for carrying parcels will make a splendid pipe for blowing bubbles.

BERMAN TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

Forgery and Embezzlement Charge to be Heard

Case Outgrowth of Julian Company Scandal

Indictment Has Been Long on Court Records

Jacob Berman, prominent State witness in virtually all prosecutions concerning the Julian Petroleum collapse, today is scheduled to go to trial before Superior Judge Schauer charged with forgery and embezzlement. Berman already is under a sentence of seven years in Federal prison for using the mails to defraud.

The complaint against Berman charges him with embezzlement of $10,000 from Daniel Barnes on April 30, 1927. It is asserted that the defendant accepted the money from Barnes to invest in Julian stock but converted the funds to his own enterprises.

The forgery counts concern Berman's asserted forgery of numerous Julian stock certificates at the time when he was in charge of the transfer department of the firm.

The indictment against Berman has been on file in the Superior courts since the original Julian expose was made during a grand jury inquiry. It was never brought to trial, however, until recently after the defendant had completed his testimony as a State witness in other pending cases.

STATE CLOSES TODAY IN KRAUSE PROSECUTION

The prosecution will close its case today against Louis Krause, on trial for the past week before Superior Judge Wilson on bribery conspiracy charges growing out of Julian cases, it was announced yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Harold Jones, in charge of the State's case.

Jones declared that he had only two more witnesses to place on the witness stand before resting his case, and that their examination will be completed before court adjourned today. The two witnesses yet to testify are Mrs. Roy V. Fritzen and Blayney Matthews, chief investigator for the District Attorney's office.

When court adjourned for the week-end last Thursday, Roy Fritzen, one of the principle prosecution witnesses, was on the stand under cross-examination. Fritzen formerly lived in a bungalow court that was also occupied by John B. Groves, then a juror in the first Julian stock overissue case in 1928, and Fritzen testified that he saw Krause and Jacob Berman, a defendant in the stock overissue trial, visit Groves on various occasions, bringing packages that supposedly contained liquor. Mrs. Fritzen is expected to corroborate the testimony of her husband when she takes the stand today.

DAVIS CASE SET FOR ARGUMENT TOMORROW

Dep. Atty.-Gen. Richards plans to leave Los Angeles today for San Francisco to represent the State tomorrow at a session of the State Supreme Court at which arguments will be made in the appeal of the State from a District Court of Appeal decision granting a new trial to Harold L. (Buddy) Davis, former chief deputy District Attorney, convicted of bribery in the Superior Court.

Davis, while serving under former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, now serving a San Quentin term for bribery, was alleged to have accepted a bribe from Ben Getzoff to "go easy" in the prosecution of Edward H. Rosenberg on charges of conspiring to obtain money by false pretenses, conspiring to violate the Corporate Securities Act and conspiring to violate the usury law. The case was a phase of the Julian scandals. Rosenberg is now in San Quentin.

One of the chief reasons for the reversal of the Superior Court judgment in the Davis case was that the testimony of Getzoff, Spring-street tailor and chief witness against the former assistant prosecutor, was insufficient without corroboration. Getzoff was viewed as an accomplice and therefore his integrity was regarded as impeached.

PROTESTS HEARD TODAY

The City Council is scheduled to hear protests today against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of the streets in the Cove avenue and Cove Way Improvement District and against the resolution of intention to establish new setback lines on Soto street from Holbrook avenue to the south city boundary.

SCHNAUZER BIRTH RECORDS BROKEN

Twelve Puppies Born to Blueblood Couple of Dogdom

WITH pardonable pride born of instinctive realization that they have established a record, Mr. and Mrs. Fruit Sut De Montrevil, aristocrats of dogdom, yesterday announced the arrival of twelve additions to their family. The De Montrevils are German Schnauzers, and both are blue-ribbon winners.

The natal event took place at the Melford Kennels, 5828 South Grand avenue. The mother belongs to Louis M. Hahn. The size of the litter, heretofore unheard of in Schnauzer family history, is traceable to a special diet which he fed the mother, Hahn says.

New Arrivals Number Even Dozen

DANCE HALL BRAWL PUTS TRIO IN JAIL

Wounded Man and Others Arrested When Hospital Reports Case to Sheriff

Three persons, one man suffering from a bullet wound in the right leg, were being held last night by county authorities in connection with a brawl asserted to have taken place early yesterday in a dance hall one mile south of Newhall, on San Fernando Road. All were booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon pending the Sheriff's investigation, according to Deputy Sheriffs Gray and Penprase. The wounded man was taken to the prison ward at General Hospital.

The prisoners are Joe Kelly, 25 years of age, of 113 West Main street, Alhambra, the gunshot victim; Eddie George Yost, 23, dance-hall proprietor, and Miss Caryl Finch, 22, of 620 East Fifteenth street, Long Beach, entertainer.

Kelly, in company with Yost and Miss Finch, presented himself at the Newhall Emergency Hospital yesterday and asked for medical treatment, saying that he had accidentally shot himself while cleaning a revolver, according to the deputies' report.

Hospital authorities reported the matter to the Sheriff's office, and subsequent investigation revealed that several shots had been fired during a free-for-all fight occurring at Yost's dance hall several hours earlier, deputies said. The prisoners were booked on the assault charges on their refusal to reveal persons responsible for the shooting.

Goldsborough Plans New Trip

Flying the same plane in which he established a junior transcontinental record recently, Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old pilot, will take off from New York shortly on an air tour of the United States, according to word received yesterday by Paul E. Richter, Jr., general manager of the Aero Corporation of America.

The tour is to be made for the National Exchange clubs and will include a stop at the Aero Corporation field here. Goldsborough's ship is a Kinner-powered fleet biplane.

GRAHAM SEARCHER BACK

James, of Western Air Express, Believes Flyer, If Alive, Lacks Sanity Due to Ordeal

If Maurice Graham, missing air-mail pilot, succeeded in making his way out of the snowbound mountains of Southwestern Utah, he probably did so at the expense of his sanity, Jimmy James, assistant superintendent of Western Air Express operations, said yesterday on his return to Los Angeles. For two weeks James headed an expedition that combed Zion Canyon as far as its headwaters, without finding a trace of the long-missing flyer.

With Cedar City as their base, the fifty men of the searching party beat the brush in a fan-like formation. They covered a distance of two miles in every direction from the spot where Graham's wrecked mail plane was discovered about two weeks ago.

James is of the opinion that Graham's body is nowhere within the area already searched and that if he is still alive somewhere outside it he is without power to use his reason as the result of his trying ordeal.

Hope of finding Graham dead or alive has not been abandoned, however, James stated. Maj. Richard McDonald, a relative of the missing pilot, has taken up the search where James left off, and intends to press it indefinitely until he stumbles on Graham's trail.

Graham, veteran pilot of the Western Air Express, disappeared last January while flying a cargo of mail to Salt Lake City. The wrecked plane was found recently in the mountains. Evidence indicates that Graham occupied it for a time after it came down.

Street Names on Curbs Will Not be Adopted

The suggestion of the Realty Board that the city paint street names and block designations on the curbs and also that the ordinance covering this work require house numbers to be painted on the curbs has met with little favor in the City Council, which disposed of it by adopting a report of its City Planning Committee recommending that the Realty Board's letter be filed.

Economy was the ground on which the suggestion was turned aside, it being stated in the committee report that there are no funds available for the work. The City Engineer reported that the initial cost of such a program would be $119,000 and that the cost of maintaining the numbers and names on the curbs would be $59,500.

Briegleb Says Shuler Wrong on Crawford

Reproaching Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, South, for having referred to the conversion of Charles H. Crawford, former Los Angeles politician, in a slighting way in a radio talk, Rev. Gustav Briegleb, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, declared last night in his sermon that the purpose of the church is to save those who need help.

"Shuler had no right to say over the radio that 'I would just as leave baptist a skunk as Crawford.' I do not think, however, that he meant to hold a man up for scorn. He could have investigated the case more thoroughly. However, I am still a friend of Shuler and nothing can ever come between us," he said.

LOAFING BLAMED FOR WOE

Trouble started when John A. Roth loafed instead of following his profession of dancing teacher, his wife, Mrs. Katherine L. Roth, told Superior Judge Anderson in obtaining a divorce, which was on file yesterday. "He left me destitute in Cheyenne, Wyo., and a few days later he was sentenced to serve a year in the Alameda County Jail for a misdemeanor," testified Mrs. Roth.

POOR FARM CONTRACTS TO BE LET

County Infirmary Costing $450,000 Expected to be Ordered Today

Eleven contracts totaling $450,000 for the building of an infirmary and the extension of utilities at the County Farm, will probably be let at the meeting of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors today. It is expected that the work on the new building will begin on the 15th inst. and be finished within eight months.

The new structure is the first of forty-five units that will be built at the institution by the county from time to time in the future.

The infirmary building will be two stories in height and is to be a replica of the old San Luis Rey Mission at Oceanside.

The contracts will be awarded on the recommendation of Karl W. Muck, County Architect.

Macsmen Will Hear Glee Club

The enchantment of Hawaii will be interpreted in song by the Royal Hawaiian Girls' Glee Club at the monthly dinner meeting of the Macsmen Club of Hollywood in First Presbyterian Church, Hollywood, this evening.

The full membership of the Macsmen, numbering 2000, is expected to attend. Dedicated to community betterment and "making Los Angeles a hospitable place for strangers," the club includes 601 men who have no church affiliations and makes no distinction whatever between creeds.

There will be twenty-six native Hawaiians in the glee club appearing at the dinner tomorrow and they will sing all the beautiful melodies of the islands.

ACTRESS GETS DIVORCE

Jewell B. Darling, an actress, charged that her husband, Gordon Bruce Darling, grabbed her by the arm and hurled her against a wall. After hearing her complaint, Superior Judge Gould granted her a divorce decree which was on file yesterday. The Darlings were married March 26, 1928, and separated March 30, last, the wife detailed in a complaint prepared by Attorney A. A. Kidder, Jr.

ONE CAN'T REMEMBER OWN BIRTH

Hence False Age Oath at Marriage License Bureau Goes Lightly Punished

Because it is difficult to prove that a person can know, "of his own knowledge," the date of his birth, it being manifestly impossible to remember such an event, perjury convictions of persons swearing to false ages are extremely rare.

This legal situation is regarded as a nuisance by Superior Court judges who put in considerable time annulling marriages of precipitate youths, but there does not seem to be anything to do about it, except now and then some harsh words from the bench to the offending parties after the unyoking.

Superior Judge Fleming has evolved a new formula, it appeared from court records yesterday.

"If you ever get in trouble with the law, this matter might determine your reputation for truth, and affect adversely your credibility as a witness," said Judge Fleming to Norman G. Hamlin, whose mother had asked that his marriage to Leonore Doyle be annulled, because he had given false information to the license clerk.

"Your admission that you falsified your age to get a license is in effect an admission of perjury, and if it were not for a technicality you would be prosecuted."

But Hamlin's divorce was annulled, anyway. Judge Fleming had to do that.

ADDITIONAL JURY PANEL SUMMONED

Trial of Glenn Rogers on Murder Charge Will Proceed Today

Twenty-five prospective jurors have been summoned to appear in Superior Judge Fricke's court at 10 o'clock this morning when defense and prosecution attorneys will attempt to select twelve jurors to hear the trial of Glenn A. Rogers, 21 years of age, charged with murdering James J. Costello, Los Angeles police officer.

Previous attempts to select a jury resulted in complete exhaustion of the available jury panel. Judge Fricke then ordered twenty-five other prospective jurors called for service.

It is charged that Rogers, while seated in an automobile, was accosted by Officer Costello, who demanded his credentials. Rogers is asserted to have thrust a gun in the officer's face, ordering him to hold up his hands. Costello complied and his companion, Elmer Hoffman, opened fire. Costello was killed by bullets from Rogers's gun, investigators assert, and Rogers was wounded by a bullet from Hoffman's revolver.

Several days after the shooting Rogers was apprehended when he sought treatment for the bullet wound.

PIONEER OF CITY PASSES TO REWARD

Mrs. Charles Monroe, Wife of Former Judge, to Be Interred Tomorrow

Mrs. Ella Hadley Monroe, 75 years of age, wife of former Superior Judge Charles Monroe and a member of one of Southern California's pioneer families, died early yesterday at the family residence, 729 West Twenty-eighth street, after an illness of less than a week. She became ill several days ago and the disorder was diagnosed as possible food-poisoning, but a heart ailment is believed to have been the direct cause of death.

The golden wedding anniversary of the jurist and his wife was celebrated at their home on March 18, last, when the Quaker ceremony with which they were married in Lawrence, Kan., in 1880, was repeated.

Mrs. Monroe had been a resident of Los Angeles for about thirty-five years. She was the daughter of Washington and Naomi Hadley, early settlers of Whittier, and her father, who was president of the First National Bank, Whittier, at the time of his death was the oldest active banker in the United States.

She leaves two sisters, Miss Emilie V. Hadley and Mrs. George H. Little, both of Whittier. Gurney E. Newlin is a nephew. Funeral services will be conducted at the residence at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Large steel manufacturers in Canada are operating nearly at capacity.

OFFICER "WINGS" FUGITIVE

Burglary Suspect Falls to Policeman's Bullet After Knocking Out One Pursuer With Fist

After he had knocked Officer Knepper down and sought to elude arrest in a five-minute chase between dwellings, across back yards and through alleys, a burglar suspect was shot in the right leg and captured by Officer Meza, Knepper's partner, early yesterday morning.

The chase and shooting occurred in the vicinity of Thirty-ninth and San Pedro streets. The officers were called to the scene by H. F. Harrington, 105 East Vernon avenue, who reported he saw the suspect attempting to break into the rear of the Bradley Bakery.

When the officers approached the establishment the suspect ran down an alley. As Meza followed Knepper ran around another way and came upon the suspect as he turned a street corner. Disregarding Knepper's command to halt the suspect knocked him down with a blow to the head and dashed in between two houses.

Meza followed and after repeated commands to stop, leveled his revolver and fired once. The bullet struck the suspect in the right leg and dropped him. He was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and then booked on suspicion of burglary.

The suspect gave the name of Louis Wright, 22 years of age, of 3947½ South Wall street.

NATION TO HEAR BOWL CONCERTS

Radio Chain Will Carry Saturday Programs

Season Opens Tomorrow Night With Hertz

Many Noted Artists on List of Guests

With one of the greatest arrays of soloists, famous guest conductors and the internationally known Hollywood Bowl orchestra ready to entertain thousands this summer with "symphonies under the stars," the annual Bowl concert season will open tomorrow evening at the giant amphitheater in the Hollywood Hills.

Among the famous stars of the musical world who will aid in making the Bowl programs particularly popular this season are Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, prima donna of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company; Richard Crooks, Elsa Alsen, Percy Grainger, Kathleen Parlow, Alfred Wallenstein, Albertina Rasch Michio Ito and other master of music and the dance.

Opening the program tomorrow night and continuing for one week as guest conductor, Dr. Alfred Hertz, whose popularity has been attested by seven previous seasons at the Hollywood Bowl, will wield the baton at the head of the 100-piece symphony orchestra. Mme. Matzenauer will appear as the soloist of the first week, Friday night—solo night—being the time scheduled.

During the nine years of its existence, the Hollywood Bowl has grown to represent the best example of this city's artistic life and has proclaimed Los Angeles as a great center of culture. Besides the thousands of persons in this city and surrounding Southern California points who will hear the Bowl concerts this year, a national radio hook-up every Saturday will bring these symphonies into millions of homes throughout the nation as well.

The first concert of the season tomorrow night is expected to fill the Hollywood Bowl to capacity, and special arrangements for the handling of traffic, parking, and other incidentals will today be made.

STOCK SALE ORDERED TO BE STOPPED

Company Charged With Not Having Obtained State Permit

Selling of stock of Consolidated National Securities Company has been ordered stopped in California by Corporation Commissioner Athearn, it was announced yesterday at the Corporation Department offices.

Action by the department followed receipt of complaints by Assistant Commissioner Ellis to the effect that the company was selling its stock in this State without having first applied for and obtained a permit. The company maintains offices in San Diego.

The commissioner accompanied his order, which was directed to all officers, directors, agents and employees of the company, with a warning that failure to comply would be followed by submission of the matter to the proper law-enforcing officers.

At the Corporation Department it was stated that Consolidated National Securities Company apparently is a consolidation of three other finance concerns, First, Second and Third National Securities companies. Permits authorizing the three companies to sell stock were suspended July 1, 1929. The Consolidated company was incorporated later in Nevada.

MUNICIPAL BENCHERS REASSIGNED

Nine Judges Depart on Annual Vacation Leave; Justices Fill Places

Reassignment of many of the Municipal Court judges, effective today, is announced by Presiding Judge Ambrose, following the departure of nine judges on vacation leave.

Judges Bogue, Bush, Curtis, Galbreth, Pope, Rosenkranz, Sheldon, Stafford and Stutesman will start their annual vacations today. To partially fill their places, seven justices of the peace of near-by towns have been assigned to the Municipal Court bench temporarily. They are Irving Austin of Compton, C. H. Thompson of Burbank, Frank R. Carrell of Gardena, Will G. Fields of San Dimas, Edward H. Miller of Huntington Park, William M. Northrup of Alhambra and Burt L. Wix of Glendale. Four of these, Justices Austin, Thompson, Miller and Northrup, have been sitting in Municipal Court for some time.

The new assignment list closes four courts, Division 13, the drunk court, during the afternoon only, and Divisions 15, 17 and 26, all civil courts. Changes in assignment put Judges Austin and Thompson in traffic court, Division 10, for a half-day each, the other half-day being spent on their regular assignments in Van Nuys and San Pedro. Judge Willis goes to Division 4, liquor jury court; Judge Eagan to Division 5, liquor court without jury. Judge Northrup to Division 8, master calendar misdemeanor court; Judge Fields to Division 27, the small claims court, and Judges McConnell, Carrell and Wix to Divisions 16, 23 and 25, respectively. These latter three are civil divisions.

Falling thirty feet from a window at Cheriton, Eng., recently, a 13-months-old baby escaped without injury.

DIX IN ROLE OF GAMBLER IN LATEST

"Shooting Straight" Plot Climaxes in "Smashing" Hero and Villain Battle

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The punch is in the finish, and it's a real wallop. That goes for Richard Dix's starring film, "Shooting Straight," at the Orpheum Theater, which sounds as if it were a western, but, instead, is a gangstering feature, with lots of the stuff that has made the movies really movies at all stages.

"Shooting Straight" is nothing but a sheer straight melodrama. Sometimes it is even crude and obvious. But when there is suspense in a scene it really is suspense.

Dix plays a gambler, and early in the plot one of his pals is brought down by machine gun fire. He takes it on himself to go and discover the author of the murder, and makes an accusation that turns the killer's companions against him. The killer is summarily disposed of, and Dix is suspected of having finished him. Therefore he has to flee town to escape the police.

En route the train is wrecked, and the old reliable expedients of mistaken identity and the long arm of coincidence are invoked to give a new start to the leading character's career. He is injured in the wreck, and is taken to a minister's house for medical treatment and care during convalescence. In his hand after the accident the card of a certain well-known reformer is found, and it is assumed by the minister and his daughter that Dix must be this man.

The plot thickens measurably later on when it is discovered the minister's son is in debt to a local gambling house to the extent of $3500. The boss of this village Monte Carlo uses the debt as a means to inflict his attentions on the youth's sister. And then, of course, it is the hero to the rescue.

A lot of patented devices of the films are used to bring all this about as you may well surmise even from this cursory sketch of the story. But without question Dix's visits to the gambling den are productive of more than a few thrills, and the fight that he takes part in at the very close of the production is a battle de luxe. If there is anything left of the office in which it occurs after the battle, this is nothing much but kindling wood. They did everything but throw the desk.

As a film fight, however, this is really one of the best since the talkies have come in, and it undeniably adds the zest of truly strenuous action to "Shooting Straight."

George Archainbaud directed this feature, and the principal supporting roles are played by Mary Lawlor, Mathew Betz, William Janney, George Cooper, James Neill, James Mason and others. There is a degree of force and power, particularly in the case of Betz's portrayal of the gambling den boss. Dix troups notably well in the later portions of this film.

The story of "Shooting Straight" was adapted by Wallace Smith, with J. Walter Ruben.

An Aesops Fables cartoon and a comedy (with musical numbers, are also on the bill. Al St. John and Jimmy Aubrey appear in the comedy film, ycleept "Two Fresh Eggs." It's fairly funny, only, and at times.

Ronald Colman May Appear on Eastern Stage

NEW YORK, July 6. (Exclusive) It is likely that Ronald Colman will be seen on the New York stage during the coming season. According to announcement from the office of Samuel Goldwyn Mr. Colman who returned on the Aquitania Friday and left immediately for Hollywood said before his departure that he and Noel Coward had conferred abroad about a play which Mr. Coward is now preparing. Colman plans to appear on the stage either in this or in an adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's screen play, which is scheduled as his next talking picture.

Clairborne Foster has been engaged by Crosby Gaige for "Beautiful Evening," Vera Caspary's play, which will be acted by a cast composed entirely of women under the direction of Winifred Lenihan. The play will open Labor Day in Atlantic City.

Film Cast to Visit Theater

Those attending the baseball comedy, "Hot Curves," at the California Theater tonight will be given an extra treat, it is said, for the entire cast has been invited to appear in person on the stage, with Benny Rubin acting as master of ceremonies.

Among those who have signified their intention of being present besides Rubin are Rex Lease, Natalie Moorhead, Paul Hurst, Pert Kelton, John Ince, Mary Carr and Mike Donlin.

OLSEN TO HONOR COMEDY PRODUCER

Mack Sennett, noted comedy producer, will be guest of honor at George Olsen's new club, Culver City, Wednesday night. Gloria Swanson, Monte Blue, Marie Prevost, Wallace Beery, Louise Fazenda, Vera Reynolds, Harry Langdon, Buster Keaton, Polly Moran, and other stars who began their career under the Sennett banner, have been invited to attend this event.

Charles Irwin, famous Broadway comedian of Winter Garden fame, will act as master of ceremonies.

BARRYMORE PLAYS SLAPSTICK ROLE

John Barrymore for the first time since the advent of talkies has returned to the type of acting which first won him note. "The Man from Blankley's" is slapstick, telling a story of mistaken identity. It starts at the Tower Theater today.

DOLDRUMS HIT BROADWAY

"Swing High" Rated as Most Pretentious of Recent Offerings in New York Film Houses

BY NORBERT LUSK

NEW YORK, July 6. (Exclusive)—As if marking time before offering a group of promising pictures for the holiday trade, Broadway theaters seemingly competed with each other in the choice of mediocre films for the week preceding the Fourth.

The most pretentious is "Swing High," shown continuously at the Cohan Theater, where it has received scant praise from the critics and faint response from the public. It is rated as strictly a program picture in spite of an array of names which at first glance seems impressive, but on inspection they are found in bits. Absence of novelty in production values as well as in the story itself militate against any classification except routine for the entertainment, though it is nicely done and the recording is first rate. Of course, "Variety" and "The Four Devils" set a standard in circus life on the screen which remains untouched even by the introduction of sound and speech.

Nor are Helen Twelvetrees and Fred Scott in the leading roles able to strengthen the picture. Talented and a pleasing actress, Miss Twelvetrees has not yet realized herself on the screen as a magnetic heroine, and Mr. Scott, though possessed of a pleasing singing voice, indicates on his second appearance that he is deficient in the stuff that popular favorites are made of except possibly on the radio.

Dorothy Burgess, always interesting, here chooses to overact to the point of burlesquing her role, and so it goes. Minor parts in the hands of John Sheehan, Bryant Washburn and George Fawcett are played more skilfully than leading ones, but the picture remains weak nevertheless.

ROTHSTEIN AGAIN

Weak also is "The Czar of Broadway" at the Roxy, in spite of the accomplished John Wray as the racketeer, a role obviously inspired by the exploits of the late Arnold Rothstein. This inspiration was employed with so much better effect in Paramount's "Street of Chance" that the present stencil remains only that and nothing more. The majority of reviewers have ridiculed the newspaper atmosphere as well as the role of the reporter. They contend that no one connected with the picture had the least idea of the newspaper business.

Billy Dove fares no better than usual in "Sweethearts and Wives" at the Strand, according to critical appraisal. Though uncommon in point of story, the picture fails to provide a sympathetic role for the star and the narrative strikes the alert observer as being too complicated to strike popular favor.

Miss Dove does well with her French and presents a most alluring figure of a maid, but in later sequences her speech is amateurish. Sidney Blackmer has not the requisite lightness to cause one to forget that he is miscast as the quasi-hero, and Clive Brook, in attempting flights of whimsy, calls down upon himself the charge of smirking continuously. Even Leila Hyams, who always is received favorably hereabouts, is considered miscast.

NOTHING NEW

"The Big Fight," at the Globe, based on the play which served Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor a couple of seasons ago, recalls in its present form how unworthy a vehicle it was for the popular pair. A poor play in the first place, it offers nothing new to the screen except to emphasize the discovery of Guinn Williams as a very effective performer.

Last but not least is "The Border Legion," which vies with the personal appearance of Buddy Rogers at the Paramount Theater and is not submerged either. Excellently done in all departments of production, it has the advantage of clever characterizations such as were impossible in the days of silent pictures, when the works of Zane Grey, though popular in the hinterland, were languidly received on Broadway. It is a question, however, whether so highly regarded a young man as Richard Arlen finds his popularly advanced by westerns.

NOTED DANCER TO APPEAR

The film colony will tender Ann Pennington, Ziegfeld Follies and George White "Scandals" dancer, a welcome in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel tonight, when she makes her debut there.

Baby-Voiced Singer and Noted Comics Enact New Paramount Film

What Helen Kane started with her "Boop-boopa-doop" songs and caperings in "Nothing but the Truth" with Richard Dix about a year ago and carried on through "Pointed Heels" and "Sweetie," she is said to round out in full measure with fun and music in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," starting Thursday at the Paramount Theater.

"Dangerous Nan McGrew" is the story of a traveling medicine show which gets all mixed up with the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, with Klondike comedy characters and wealthy city folk vacationing at a luxurious hunting lodge in the wilderness.

In addition to Miss Kane, there are other comedians in the cast, including Victor Moore, Louise Closser Hale, Frank Morgan and Stuart Erwin. Romance is supplied by James Hall and Roberta Robinson, a new Paramount discovery. Mal St. Clair directed.

PLAYHOUSE HOLDS GALA CELEBRATION

Student Players Welcomed by James Howard, Irving Pichel and Others

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Pasadena Community Playhouse covered itself with glory when, waiving bad omens, it dared to celebrate its thirteenth anniversary with thirteen graduates, the first to matriculate in the recently established school of the theater.

James H. Howard, president of Pasadena Community Playhouse Association, made a graceful address of welcome, and Irving Pichel spoke from his experience of the theater with fervor. For he feels that way about the theater, and about acting as a profession. "Be serious! Be humble; Be advised!" he admonished.

The theater may be in a precarious situation, Mr. Pichel admitted, but it is more precarious to the individual than to the stage, which after all has invariably withstood all rivals.

"The Old Lady Shows Her Metals," from the pen of Sir James Barrie, written in his best vernacular style, won the quick approbation of the audience. Eugart Yerian met the exigencies of the situation with a fine bravado as the doughty Scotsman with a contempt for the softer things of life. Florence Buck achieved a touchingly sympathetic characterization as the pathetic slavey with the yearning mother heart. Others who gave interesting account of themselves were Douglass Cooper, Mildred Stockwell, Catherine Turney and Al Willard, Jr.

That hyperbolic genius of whimsical adventuring, W. S. Gilbert, divorced from the proximity of Sullivan's lovely music, more than proved his ability, in "Engaged," as a purveyor of proper, satirical and irresistible nonsense. Indeed, it has an almost Lewis Carroll spontaneity.

Laddie Knudson, as the pursued and pursuing bachelor of fickle heart, palpitated and emoted in properly Victorian manner. As the downright Scotch lassie conquered by his blandishments, Mary Duckett managed a convincing Scotch accent, charming humor, together with a deft sense of characterization. Luella May Wadsworth was daintily competent as the fiancee of a reckless bachelor, Margaret Tucker anguished through an incredible number of emotional experiences with commendable fortitude. Tom Hurt, Al Willard, Jr., Onslow Stevenson and others scored in smaller roles.

ROMANTIC BILL NEXT AT LOEW'S

Edmund Lowe and Perry Askam to Share Honors on New Program

Edmund Lowe will bring romance to the screen and Perry Askam in person will sing romance on the stage starting Thursday at Loew's State Theater.

Lowe portrays a wealthy and handsome lover with a notorious past. This is said to be quite a departure from his recent screen roles and one which it is believed will be welcomed by his feminine admirers. The story is called "Good Intentions." William K. Howard wrote the story and directed the picture, with Marguerite Churchill, Regis Toomey, Owen Davis, Jr., and Hale Hamilton in the supporting cast.

Fanchon and Marco will present Perry Askam, star of "The Desert Song," "New Moon" and other stage hits, as the featured member of the cast of their new "Green Devil" Idea.

STAGE SHOW COMING TO DOWNTOWN

Reception of Revue at Hollywood House Results in New Decision

The enthusiastic reception given the Larry Ceballos Revues at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood has resulted in the decision by the Warners to book these shows on the Downtown Theater stage, starting Friday. These revues will be seen in their entirety, with a selected symphony orchestra.

Now appearing at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater is "Bright Lights," a First National and Technicolor production starring Dorothy Mackaill, Frank Fay and Noah Beery. It is a swiftly moving story, with its locale jumping from the African Congo to life amidst New York's smart set.

Agnes De Mille Plans Second Recital Here

Agnes De Mille has postponed her European trip in order to give a second dance recital here. She will be seen on Wednesday evening, the 16th inst., at the Hollywood Music Box Theater.

Miss De Mille has arranged a new program of dances for this second recital. One in particular, "Cafe Dancer," promises something unique. In this she caricatures the dancing of the North African tribe of women dancers known as the Ouled Nail.

"The Parvenues" will be another new number, danced with Warren Leonard, and describing an elegant couple at a ball in the middle '70's. For contrast, Miss De Mille will do a modern number called "Blues." Mme. Boleslavsky, noted concert pianist, heard here last season with the Philharmonic Orchestra, will appear as soloist.

Prison Picture Breaks Records at Criterion

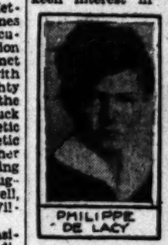
"The Big House" at the Criterion has broken all Fourth of July records established at that theater during the past eight years, according to an announcement.

The day-by-day diary kept at the Criterion discloses that "The Big House" is proving to be an ideal audience picture from the standpoint of balanced feminine and masculine patronage. Whereas, "The Divorcee" attracted a noticeable preponderance of women over men, the current film is drawing equally from both sexes.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, California Federation of Women's Clubs and the California Council of Catholic Women all have indorsed the picture, it is said.

Youngsters to Act as Hosts at Grauman's

As a tribute to the youngsters of the Southland who have taken a keen interest in "Hell's Angels," Sid Grauman has arranged to have Philippe de Lacy, juvenile film star, and Anita Louise, youthful "find" of Tiffany Productions, as host and hostess at today's matinee at Grauman's Chinese Theater.



PHILIPPE DE LACY

Because of the fact that young de Lacy is a French war orphan, it is particularly fitting to have him launch this series of events for the children, it is said. The young actor postponed a trip to New York for this appearance and the matinee party will be in the nature of a farewell festival in his honor.

NOTED STAR WILL SING FOR WAMPAS

A number of distinguished guests are scheduled to appear tonight at the meeting of the Wampas, at the Roosevelt Hotel. Gloria Swanson will be guest of honor. The star will not only talk, but will sing a new number or two, it is announced.

Ivy Leadbetter Lee, known as the millionaire press agent, and who is now touring the West, has also consented to appear.

GREED DECLARED MENACE TO NATIONAL EXISTENCE

U.S.C. Professor Says Love Alone Can Save Civilization From Destruction

Declaring that civilization is not, in itself, a guarantee of stability, Dr. Carl Knopf, a member of the faculty of the University of Southern California, in a sermon at the Messiah Congregational Church yesterday told his congregation that unless the law of love shall be allowed to rule the lives of the citizens of this republic, the United States will go the way of other nations that permitted themselves to be governed by the god of greed and the will of power. Preaching on "Civilization's Last Choice," Dr. Knopf spoke in part as follows:

"There are various types of civilization. Soviet Russia has chosen one. The experiment has been far from successful. European imperialism is a definite type of culture, but its finality is challenged by nations seeking self-determination and expression. India and China are symptoms of a deep-lying ailment. If we were to choose the things we could least dispense with in our modern civilization, we probably would sacrifice automobiles, radios, telephones, movies—everything but the solace of modern medicine and surgery, and the Father-Brother concept of God and man so beautifully portrayed by the Carpenter of Nazareth. Civilization has and will choose many things, material goods and theories, but to live it must make its final choice the highest possible. Brute force, ambition, selfish desires must give way to love, understanding and fellowship, or just around the bend in the trail lies the darksome cave, the war club and the night of a dying culture."

FAITH HELD NEEDED TO ENTER HEAVEN

Cultivation of faith as a requisite for the attainment of the kingdom of heaven was emphasized yesterday by Adjt. Frank Howell in his sermon at Salvation Army Temple. Adjt. Howell said in part:

"He that cometh to God must first believe. He must believe that He is and He must believe that He is a rewarder of them that love Him. There is no other hope for the world aside from this belief. No religion, no form of religion, save this simple religion, will save men. There must first be the coming unto God, and that coming is in belief that He is. Of Him it has been said, 'the same yesterday, today and forever.' Moses said of God when he went back to Egypt, 'The Great I Am hath sent me.' So we must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder. Men want rewards for good acts performed. God will reward such acts."

MINISTER DISCUSSES TWO KINDS OF FEAR

Dr. Sheldon Shepard of First Universalist Church preached yesterday on "Two Kinds of Fear." He said in part:

"There are two kinds of fear, one helpful and one harmful. There is the fear of consequences which inclines us to use careful judgment and to follow the dictates of our better reason. This kind of fear prompts one to keep the brakes of his automobile in good condition and keeps the air pilot on the ground until proper flying conditions obtain. Then there is the fear that handicaps, keeps us from attempting what we might do and interferes with our ability in what we do undertake. Fear of sickness may produce disease, fear of failure will hasten its coming, fear of misfortune may becloud the whole life. The principal difference between the two kinds of fear is that the first is a matter of intellect, reason, judgment, and the second a matter of glands, viscera and feelings. Intelligent caution is a good thing. Fear that becomes only an emotion is always injurious."

RELIGION DECLARED JEALOUS MISTRESS

"The Fruit of Religion" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Rabbi Julius A. Leibert at Temple Emanu-El. Dr. Leibert said in part:

"Religion in order to yield its fruitage must be taken seriously. In fine, it must be lived. A religious belief that makes no difference in conduct—makes no difference at all. Again, a religion in order to yield its abundant fruitage must be lived as if it and it alone contained the quintessence of the moral, spiritual and physical life. Religion is a jealous mistress, brooking no divided allegiance, no latitudinarianism, no shallowness. Hovering between two opinions is as dangerous in religion as it is in the practical world."

CHRISTIANS LIVE DUAL FORM OF ALLEGIANS

"Christians of America live under two flags, the Christian flag and the American flag," said Dr. J. George Dorn in his sermon yesterday at Hollywood Lutheran Church.

"In these two flags are represented all of our privileges, hopes and opportunities," said Dr. Dorn. "The Christian flag, wit hits blue and white fields and red cross, represents a spiritual Kingdom. The church's work is that in spiritual Kingdom. The church's work is that in spiritual matters only. She is in the world but not of the world. She cannot, as a church, take part in politics. Her work is far deeper, that of producing Christian citizens, who will carry on temporal affairs rightly. The American flag represents the United States of America. Different from the Christian flag, it stands for a nation which has an earthly head. "Old Glory" proclaims ou rliberty, our laws, our blessings—the highest and rarest enjoyed by any nation in the world. There si a friendly conflict going on between these two flags. The American flag represents things as they are. The Christian flag represents things as they should be. When we live the Christian flag, we continually raise the conditions represented by the American flag."

CHRIST LIGHTS WAY, SERMON EXPLAINS

"Christ the Conqueror" is the theme of a sermon preached yesterday by Bramachari Nerode at Mt. Washington Center. Excerpts from the discourse follow:

"As light is the conqueror of darkness, so is Christ the vanquisher of sorrows. To shipwrecked humanity He is the beacon light, to the erring man He is the only prop and comfort. The Christ spirit penetrates every atom, mind and heart. Everything vibrates in Him and without Him there is naught. When Christ arrives at the door of the human heart, He becomes invincible. No Herod can kill Him, no terrors can frighten Him, no storms destroy Him. He becomes indestructible, deathless, immortal."

GOD'S POWER CITED IN LESSON-SERMON

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scripture selections related the incident when Christ Jesus was besought by the blind man near Jericho, and included the following account: "And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought unto Him: and when he was come near, He asked him, saying, What wilt thou that I shall do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight. And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Him, glorifying God: and all the people, when they saw it, gave praise unto God."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated, "Every law of matter or the body, supposed to govern man, is rendered null and void by the law of Life, God."

INMATE OF POOR FARM FORGETS FORTUNE CACHE

Edward Chassey saved up $1500 to keep him out of the poorhouse when he got old—and then he forgot where he deposited the money, it appeared yesterday from the record of his estate in Probate Court. So Chassey went to the poorhouse.

Near the end of his eightieth year, he became ill, and on his deathbed he remembered where he had deposited the money. So Supt. Harriman of the County Farm came into court and told Superior Judge Crail that Chassey had $1500 in a building and loan association in Montana.

BURKHART'S TRIAL WILL BEGIN TODAY

State Will Seek Death Penalty for Book-keeper in Killing of Wife

Accused of murdering his 22-year-old wife after they had drunk freely during a reconciliation party, William Burkhart, 22, a book-keeper, today is scheduled to go to trial before Superior Judge McComb.

The prosecution, it is understood, will introduce evidence tending to support a charge of first-degree murder and demand the death penalty.

The complaint charges that Burkhart and his wife met in his apartment at 6742 Franklin avenue and drank a large quantity of wine tonic following a reconciliation. Shortly afterward, neighbors assert, Burkhart came to them and asked aid in placing his wife in his automobile, stating she had "passed out."

Witnesses, however, noticed blood on the woman's clothing and informed police. Investigating officers reported that they found the woman had been shot three times. They also asserted that they found a gun in Burkhart's apartment.

Mrs. Joy Hoskins, motion-picture actress and sister of the victim, is expected to be one of the principal State witnesses. Officers assert that Mrs. Hoskins will testify that Burkhart threatened to kill his wife on several occasions during their estrangement.

Foreign-Trade Chamber Dinner Topic Thursday

Trade possibilities between the I Angeles district and Mexico as observed by members of the recent scouting party for the proposed international highway by the Southern California Auto Club, will be a feature topic at the foreign-trade dinner Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce banquet hall, Carl E. McStay of the Auto Club, who directed the tour, is to give the principal talk. Harry Chandler will preside.

The dinner is the first of a series of meetings sponsored by the chamber to increase interest in overseas commerce. More than 1200 invitations have been sent out.

.arence H. Matson of the chamber will outline his organization's international-trade program. James H. Smiley of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, will discuss overseas markets.

Five-minute talks on foreign-trade subjects also are scheduled by the following: Maurice Carasso, importer-exporter; J. Kraack, Sillers Paint and Varnish Company; L. C. Penhoel, Southwestern Engineering Corporation; F. A. Sumption, Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles; F. O. Wallschlaeger, California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and E. G. Witt, Braun Corporation.

Fireworks Ban Nets Fugitive in Bail Jumping

Arrested for selling illegal fireworks, Salvatore Catalino, 55 years of age, was found by police to be wanted for jumping bail on a liquor-possession complaint two years ago. In Municipal Judge Curtis's court John Hyland, his attorney, entered pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity to both charges.

Hyland explained his reasons for the unusual pleas to the court. "Your Honor, at the same time this man was arrested for possession on March 22, 1928, he was operating a still," the attorney said. "In Superior Judge Gould's court he was given an insanity hearing and sent to Patton, where he spent ten months, and the still complaint was dismissed. Being in Patton he could not, of course, appear in court here and since he was found too insane by Superior Court to commit a felony he was also, I believe, too insane to commit this misdemeanor. I am filing the same plea on the fireworks charge to discover whether he still is insane."

Police Officers Smith and Carter reported arresting Catalino while he was operating a still at 1632 Portola street in March, 1928. He had three gallons of moonshine liquor in his possession in addition to mash, they said.

Former Bank Manager Will be Sentenced

Having pleaded guilty to a charge of misapplying bank funds, while manager of the Lake-avenue branch of the Pasadena National Bank, Arthur R. Brownell is to appear today before United States District Judge McCormick for sentence.

It was charged that the former manager misapplied about $2000 of bank funds, but it was stated by Asst. U. S. Atty. Layng that the bank shortage will reach about $12,000. One other man was also indicted but has not been brought to trial.

IMPROVEMENTS APPROVED

The City Council has approved the assessment district maps for the improvement of Ninety-seventh street between San Pedro and Main streets in the Marco-Drive and Lorenzo-Drive Improvement District, and in each case specified that the City Engineer be instructed to include water mains in the improvement.

PARALYSIS PRECAUTION HELD VITAL

County Health Officer Points Popular Errors Regarding Disease

Increase in the number of infantile paralysis cases throughout the southern part of the State during the last month yesterday led to a general summary of the situation in this county by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, County Health Officer.

The disease is unusually prevalent at the present time, though the State has been visited by slight epidemics heretofore, particularly in 1925 and 1927, the health official said. The disease usually manifests itself in the early summer months but the real danger of a serious outbreak presents itself with the reopening of school in the fall, he said.

In pointing out the characteristics of the malady, Dr. Pomeroy stated that it has mistakenly been termed a children's disease, when as a matter of fact it attacks adults as well as children. The health officer urges the services of a physician in any condition in which the individual is seized with fever, pain in the neck, back, arms and legs, and especially in cases of young children where vomiting or diarrhoea are present.

In all suspected cases of the disease all persons other than those necessary for the care of the patient should be excluded. If the illness is termed infantile paralysis quarantine is established for a period of three weeks and contacts are isolated for two weeks.

At this time Dr. Pomeroy advises all persons to stay out of swimming pools and to avoid contact with all persons who are ill with an unknown disease. He said the health department is carrying on a campaign of sanitation in relation to public gathering places as a preventive measure.

Promoter Again to Face Court

A. P. Luse, oil promoter, today will face a charge of perjury growing out of a former trial when he appears before United States District Judge Cosgrave for arraignment and entry of plea.

Luse was tried recently on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with his promotions, but the jury disagreed. It was stated by Asst. U. S. Attys. Redwine and Gallagher that the perjury charge grows out of testimony by Luse in his own behalf in his previous trial.

LAVINE LEARNS FATE TODAY

Miss Johnson Also Will Appear Before Court for Sentence in Extortion Case

Convicted of having attempted to extort $75,000 from Charles H. Crawford, Los Angeles politician, Morris Lavine, newspaper man, and Leontine Johnson, today are to appear before Superior Judge Schauer for sentence at 9:45 a.m.

Sentence on the charge may call for one year in the County Jail or five years in State prison or a $5000 fine, or both, under the California statutes.

The defendants, however, do not intend to submit to sentence without first exhausting every legal recourse, it was disclosed yesterday. First, motions for a new trial will be made by William Beirne, attorney for Miss Johnson, and Richard Cantillon and William T. Kendrick, Jr., representing Lavine.

Should these motions be denied, the defendants intend to serve notice of appeal from their conviction.

Lavine and Miss Johnson were convicted in Judge Schauer's court Friday night after the jury had deliberated twenty-five hours. At a former trial the jury was discharged when it failed to reach a verdict.

Recreation Area Sites Suggested

In response to a request from the City Planning Commission asking that the playground department plot on a map, which it has prepared for the purpose, the recommended recreation facilities for the Van Nuys district, so that there may be co-ordination in the development, the Playground and Recreation Commission has tentatively recommended two locations.

One location consists of ten acres at the corner of Cedros and Valleyheart streets. The other consists of fwelve acres near the intersection of Hazelton and Vanowen streets.

The Planning Commission is seeking from other city departments tentative plans for the future in park, library and recreation property for the purpose of co-ordinating the whole for the best service to the community.

BETTERING A GARRISON FINISH

Buster Crabbe of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and Maiola Kalili of Honolulu did that very thing yesterday in the finals of the half-mile national swimming championship event at Recreation Park, Long Beach. After swimming stroke for stroke over the entire distance Crabbe touched out the swarthy-skinned islander by a finger tip in a finish that will go down in aquatic history. The camera caught Crabbe as he lifted his head out of the water at the line. Maiola is just coming up from the brine (indicated by arrow.) The world's record for the distance went to the winner. STARTLING PERFORMANCES FEATURE AQUATIC FINALE

Crabbe and Kalili Steal Show With Pulse Quickening Duel in Breaking Half-Mile Mark

BY FRANK ROCHE
"Times" Staff Representative

LONG BEACH, July 6.—Slashing and tearing pages out of the book in ruthless fashion, America's leading mermen and mermaids brought the outdoor national swimming championships to Long Beach here today at Recreation Park with an afternoon of sensational performances that topped anything ever presented in the history of aquatics in this section of the country.

Records, world's marks and one world's record were swept into the discard when the curtain was finally dropped on the championship performance today.

The record-breaking, important as it was, is dimmed however, by the outstanding and spectacular exhibition put forward by Buster Crabbe of the Los Angeles A. C. and Maiola Kalili, of Honolulu in the half-mile championship. Crabbe and Kalili, who swam for the entire distance, came smashing their way to the finish fashion with the Los Angeles star winning by a scant inch.

The race was so spectacular that a record it chilled the spectators into a state of but when the announcement through with the time Crabbe had won the race by a rear that all present to bottom out of the stands. With the announcement of the winner also came that Crabbe had established a world's record and incidentally another beautiful mark to has never been equaled before at a record as far back as official present could find Third place in the race was Austin Clapp of the A.C.

INTERLACHEN, July 6. (AP)—Bobby Jones and his putter "Calamity Jane" made their debut today at Interlachen where, starting Thursday, they defend his national open golf championship. Jones shot par golf.

Jones' par was for title contenders during the morning round. In the afternoon practice rounds with his methodical play despite the fact that many times he shot without knowledge of location of greens except as given by his playing partners.

Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion, Jimmy Johnston, United States amateur titleholder, and Don Moe, Portland (Or.) amateur of outstanding ability, played with Jones, but failed to attack.

Harry Shaw, amateur radio operator, telephoned the Associated Press last night he picked up over his station, W-6AWG, a message from the yacht Talayha, one of four which began a 2225-mile race from San Pedro to Honolulu the 4th inst.

The message was addressed to the Associated Press. It read:

"Have seen nothing of the Enchantress (the largest and scratch boat in the race) for forty-eight hours.

"Our sides and stern are a mass of fog and everybody is slipping around. We will make a record run to Honolulu.

SERAPHS DROP TWO TO DUCKS

Portland Takes Both Games by 5-0, 8-4 Scores

Mails Shuts Out Angels in Opening Struggle

Ballou and Peters Fail to Conquer Beavers

PORTLAND (Or.) July 6. (AP)—The Portland Beavers unexpectedly stiffened their necks today and jumped all over the unsuspecting Angels. Portland took both games, 5 to 0 and 8 to 4. In the first, it was a simple matter of too much Walter Mails, the well-known southpaw having so much on the ball that only three men gained second base on him, and none of the three got any farther. In the second, Carl Mays submarined effectively, while Lefty Peters couldn't fool the Dick batsmen.

PERFORM NICELY

Despite the setback, the Angels did very nicely for the week and return home well satisfied with themselves. They won the series, six games to three, and more than hold their first half pennant lead with four full games to go on and only another week to play.

Win Ballou had one really bad inning, and two not so good ones in the first game, but any one of the three would have beaten him against such hurling as Mails displayed. The bad inning was the second, in which singles by Hillis and Mails, a walk and a sacrifice fly netted three Portland runs.

In the second game it was one-all to the fifth. In this inning Moore singled, Dittmar doubled and then, with the infield in to cut off a score at the plate, Harper lifted a high one just back of second base and nobody could quite reach it. Both runs scored on the scratchy hit.

DUCKS RALLY

The Ducks came back in their half, however, with three on singles by Orwoll and Woodall, a double by Carl Mays and another single by Robertson and kept ahead from then on.

In the seventh Rhiel and Hillis

HUBBARD'S TEMPE IV COPS RACE

Webster's Tom Robin Wins Second Place in Holiday Series at Newport

Walton Hubbard's Tempe IV won the three-day inaugural Fourth of July star sloop series yesterday with a victory in the final race. The races, sponsored by the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, were sailed over an ocean course off Newport Beach. The Tempe won the series by taking the final race by a margin of approximately two minutes over Tommy Webster's Tom Robin. The Tom Robin appears to be Hubbard's chief competitor again this year for the right to represent Newport in the internationals later this fall at Chesapeake Bay. Webster won the Newport fleet championship last year, but was unable to make the trip to New Orleans, and Hubbard was selected for the honor. Webster will be able to go east this year if he wins and is out to trim his rival.

Vittmen Come From Behind Twice to Win Out

Shellenback Settles First Clash With Homer

Sheiks Annex Seven Out of Eight From Acorns

BY BOB RAY

Having had their twelve-game string of victories halted Saturday, Oscar Vitt's hustling Hollywood Stars resumed their winning ways yesterday by nosing out the Oaks in both games of a thrilling double-header. The scores were 5 to 4 and 7 to 6, with the Sheiks putting on a couple of rallies to pull the nightcap out of the fire in eighth innings, one more than the scheduled seven.

The pair of wins gave the Sheiks seven out of eight games from Oakland and a record of twenty triumphs out of their last twenty-three contests, which is traveling right along. The Stars have climbed from a poor sixth to third place during their sensational three-week home stand and are now but a half-game in back of the second-place Senators, whom they close the first half against at Sacramento this week.

That second contest was a classic, with enough thrills crowded in it to keep the 14,000 fans on edge all the way. Trailing 5-to-4, with two men out in the seventh, Otis Brannan walked and scored the tying run on Dave Barbee's double to right center. That brought on a cushion shower which halted the game for about five minutes. Then in the eighth the Oaks scored what looked like the winning run on Dad Lee's error with two on and two out, only to have the Sheiks come back with

BARTOSH-TIDBALL TEAM WINS

Local Players Annex Pacific Coast Doubles Laurels Through Four-Set Victory; Gladys Patz is Winner in Special Women's Singles

BY RALPH HUSTON

Dr Gerald Bartosh of Los Angeles and Jack Tidball of Hollywood are the new Pacific Coast doubles champions. They won their title yesterday at the Los Angeles Tennis Club, defeating Johnny Risso and Clay Mahoney in four sets, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, to bring the Coast crown back to Los Angeles after a prolonged absence in San Francisco.

In the two special singles events, run simultaneously with the doubles championship, Bartosh won from Frank Westsmith, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, and Gladys Patz defeated Elizabeth Dieke, 3-6, 9-7, 6-3.

TIDBALL SHINES

Tidball, the youngest member of the quartet, was the dominent player in the doubles final. He was steady and accurate throughout, while Bartosh blew up badly in the third set, but settled down again in the fourth.

The winners had a 5-1 lead in the first set, but lost three straight games to make the count 5-4. Tidball then won his serve, losing only one point, to take the set.

Mahoney's errors and Tidball's overhead smashes gave the Tidball-Bartosh combination a 6-3 decision in the second set. Bartosh cracked wide open in the third, while Mahoney came out of a slump to play flashy tennis, and the latter team won, 6-3. Bartosh and Tidball won the first two games of the fourth set, but dropped the next three. Starting with Tidball's next serve, they won four straight games, the set and the championship.

Bartosh had enough reserve strength to win from Westsmith in a hard-fought singles battle. The latter had his hard service working well, but weakness in ground strokes cost him many points. The lead seesawed in

TENNIS PLAY ENDS TODAY

Allison, Van Ryn Tackle Lott, Doeg in Finals of British Net Tourney at Wimbledon

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) July 6. (AP)—Like Congress in extra session, Wimbledon's tennis fans will reassemble tomorrow for one match—the all-American struggle for men's doubles honors, final event of the British championships.

This battle will put Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, Wimbledon champions in 1929 and American Davis Cup doubles team in the challenge round against France last year, against the United States champions, George Lott and Johnny Doeg.

Wimbledon's championships were to have closed yesterday, but Allison upset the arrangement by reaching the final round of singles, where he was beaten in straight sets by Bill Tilden. The doubles were postponed until Monday to avoid the necessity

Tilden's Case Discussed by Cup Committee

PHILADELPHIA, July 6. (AP)—Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the United States Davis Cup Committee, today discussed by telephone with Fitz-Eugene Dixon, nonplaying captain of the American Davis Cup team, in London, the possibility of inviting Bill Tilden to become a member of the squad.

Mr. Wear said he had a "very satisfactory" conversation with Mr. Dixon, but declined to state whether it had been decided to try to persuade Tilden to join the team.

He stated nothing would be given out concerning the matter until Monday, when the make-up of the United States team will be announced.

SANTA MONICA POLOISTS AGAIN DEFEAT UPLIFTERS

The Santa Monica Blues made it two straight by defeating the Uplifters, 9 to 8, at the latter team's home field yesterday. The game was hard-fought throughout, with members of both squads turning in spectacular riding exhibitions.

Lyell Puckett and Snowy Baker each scored four goals for the winning team, with E. J. Brandeis turning in the odd marker. Will Rogers, Jr., played a flashy game for the losers, scoring four times, while Lionel Pedley and Scott Hackley tallied twice each.

Cubs Take Two on Chin from Reds, 5 to 4, 8 to 7

BROOKLYN, July 6. (AP)—Ike Boone, redoubtable Coast League slugger, made his debut with the Brooklyn Robins against the Boston Braves today and starred as the Robins pounded out a 10-to-4 victory.

Boone hit a single and a home run and turned in the fielding gem of the game in the first inning as he caught Walter Berger's bid for a home run and held on to the ball as he fell head first into the left-field bleachers.

Brooklyn got eighteen hits to beat Harry Seibold. Jim Elliott pitched a steady game to hold the Braves to eight blows.

The second game of the scheduled double-header was called in the Brooklyn half of the third inning as Boston led, 1 to 0. Babe Phelps and Tom Zachary were the opposing pitchers. A sudden shower drenched the field. Score:

CUBS CUFFED

CINCINNATI (O.) July 6. (AP)—The Cubs fell back into second place in the National League race today by dropping both games of a double-header to the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4, and 8 to 7.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, by virtue of a triumph over Boston, eased back into the lead by the margin of a few percentage points, since they have played fewer games than the Cubs.

The Reds won the first game by a three-run rally in the ninth inning and took the second by virtue of the breaks. Kelly for the Reds and Hartnett for the Cubs each hit a homer with one on in the second game. Score:

PHILS FALL

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—Between showers the Giants took a double-header from the Phillies, 10 to 8, and 6 to 2, today.

Pete Donohue, who buried the second game, after a poor start, held the Phillies in check, while the Giants hit Willoughby at opportune moments.

Lindstrom and Leach both hit homers, the latter coming with a man on base.

The Phillies gave the Giants a scare in the ninth inning of the first game, rallying for five runs.

Mitchell had struggled along till two were out in the ninth with a commanding lead but weakened and Chaplin retired the last Phillie batter. Chuck Klein found Mitchell for his twenty-third homer with two aboard before he retired. Score:

BUCS BIFFED

ST. LOUIS, July 6. (AP)—The Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh in both ends of a double-header today although they made only two hits in one of the games. The scores were 2 to 1, and 13 to 4.

Spencer and Haines staged an old-fashioned hurling duel in the opener. A wild pitch by Spencer contributed to the Cardinal victory. The wild pitch gave the Cardinals their first run after Wilson had doubled and gone to third on an infield out. With the count tied at 1-all, Douthit, first Cardinal up in the ninth, hit a home run.

Heavy hitting by the Cardinals made the nightcap a one-sided affair. P. Waner of the Pirates got five hits out of five trips to the plate, in the second game, including a double and a triple.

Today's two victories made it five straight for the Cardinals, who have won nine out of their last ten games. Score:

Washington Beats Yankees With Art's Blow

Athletics Win Over Boston by 4-to-3 Count

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Art Shires, pinch-hitting for Spencer, singled in the tenth inning with three Senators aboard and Washington made it four in a row from New York by taking the final game of the series today by a 3-to-2 score.

Although Spencer had won the game for the Senators yesterday on a single in the ninth, Manager Johnson pulled him out today for the newcomer, Shires. Judge had beat out a hit, West and Bluege were walked, when Shires singled to center.

Even without the services of Babe Ruth, the Yanks outhit the Senators, seven to five. Ruth still nursing a bruised finger, watched the game from the bench. The score:

STARS DOWN ACORNS TWICE

Shellenback Homes With Two On in 5-to-4 Opener; Sheiks Come From Behind to Cop Nightcap

SHELLY WINS OPENER

In the opener Frank Shellenback won his own game by hitting a home run with two men on in the fourth inning. Shelly's homer accounted for three of the four runs made in this round off Pete Daglia. At that the Oaks were cantankerous and put across runs in the eighth and ninth, forcing Shellenback to bear down plenty to preserve his victory. The Oaks had the tying and winning runs on first and second in the ninth when Shelly fanned Dumovich to end the struggle.

However, the nightcap provided most of the excitement so we'll divulge the details of that tussle first. Skipper Vitt had to use plenty of strategy to pull out the triumph, the Hollywood pilot throwing no less than seventeen Stars into the fray, including four pinch-hitters, three of whom delivered. The Sheiks used four pitchers, starting with George Hollerson, who was followed to the mound by Augie Johns, Vance Page and Emil Yde. Yde received credit for the victory and it was his double that drove over the tying run and put the winning tally on third base.

Carl Zamloch was forced to send in three Oakland hurlers, Jim Edwards being replaced by Bob Hurst in the second. Hurst struggled along until after Yde doubled in the eighth when he was lifted in favor of Herb McQuaid. Hurst was charged with the defeat.

DEVIEROS HITS HOMER

Oakland started the scoring in the second inning when, with two out and two on Bernie Devieros banged one of Hollerson's offerings over the left-field wall for the circuit.

Hollywood got those three runs right back in its half of the second, which Edwards began by walking Barbee and Rumler. Heath's single filled the bases. Severeid hit down to Fenton, who bobbled the ball, all hands being safe and Barbee scoring. Gazella's sacrifice fly to Martin scored Rumler and moved the other runners to second and third. Hollerson singled, scoring Heath and putting Bewereid on third and this was the signal for Zamloch to derrick Edwards and sent in Hurst. Hurst retired Hill and Lee on easy pop-ups to prevent any more scoring.

When Dean doubled and scored on Martin's single to open the third, Hollerson was replaced by Johns. A double by Lombardi off the center-field wall tallied Martin before Johns got the side out.

The Stars got one run back in the sixth after two were out when Severeid doubled and scored on Carlyle's pinch-double into the left-field corner. Cleo batted for Gazella. Vitt then sent Bassler in to hit for Johns, but the Sheik catcher popped out to end the rally.

When Hurst retired Hill and Lee to start the Hollywood seventh it looked as though it was all over for the Stars, but Brannan walked and sprinted all the way from first with the tying run when Barbee doubled between Arlett and Martin. After the field had been cleared of cushions Rumler flied to Arlett for the third out.

OAKLAND TAKES LEAD

Hill picked Verges's drive off the left-centerfield wall to open the Oakland eighth, but Lombardi singled past Heath to start trouble. Arlett flied to Hill and Fenton followed with a single to right. Griffin hit one down to Lee and Dud let the ball roll right through him, Lombardi scoring with what looked like the winning run. Devieros forced Griffin for the third out.

Heath walked to open the Hollywood eighth, but was forced by Severeid, Verges to Dean. Mickey nearly upset Dean sliding into him and prevented a double play. After Catina had swung and missed for one strike, Vitt got a hunch and sent Jim Turner in to bat for the substitute third-sacker. Turner hit Hurst's next pitch for a single to center. Yde then slammed a double to right field, Severeid scoring the tying run and Turner stopping at third. McQuaid here replaced Hurst, but Hill touched him for a long fly to Martin. Turner easily scoring after the catch with the winning run.

SCORE EARLY

The Oaks nicked Shellenback for a run in the first inning of the opening tilt, a base on balls to Dean giving the Acorns a start. Martin bounced a single over second and Dean legged it to third. Vergez forced Martin, Lee to Brannan, and Dean scored on the out. After Carlyle had captured Arlett's short fly, Vergez was caught stealing for the third out.

Hollywood tied it up with a run in the third. Jesse Hill beat out a hit to Devireros and scampered to third on Lee's single to center. Hill scored when Brannan forced Lee at second.

Oakland picked up an unearned run in the fourth to take the lead temporarily. After Lee had thrown out Martin, Vergez was ticked by a pitched ball. On a perfect hit-and-run play, Arlett singled through short, Lee having gone over to cover second, and Vergez ambled to third. On Hill's poor throw to third, the ball scooting by Gazella, Vergez continued on home and Arlett took second. Bassler then had a tough time picking up the ball and trying to watch the runner, Arlett going on to third after Johnny had picked up and dropped the pelet a couple of times. Fenton then walked but Griffin hit into a fast double-play to retire the side.

SHELLY DOES IT

The Stars put on their winning rally in the home half of the fourth, Shellenback's homer with two on accounting for three of the quarter of tallies. Heath, Bassler and Gazella led off with singles, Mickey counting, and then Shellenback smacked one over the wall. Very simple.

Shellenback never experienced any more trouble until the eighth when Zamloch sent in French Uhalt and Joe Mellano to pinch-hit and both delivered for a run. Uhalt, batting for Devireros, doubled and scored on Mellano's single. Mellano batted for Daglia and was lifted to let Olson run for him. Dean forced Olson and then Martin hit into a fast double-play, Brannan to Heath, that ended the rally.

The final Oakland run came over after two were out in the ninth. Fenton started it with a single and Lombardi, batting for Griffin, got an infield hit when Lee and Brannan collided while going after his grounder. Read singled to score Fenton. With the tying run on second, Shellenback fanned Dumovich for the final out. The scores:

Who Wins at Interlachen?

AMATEUR golfers had done a fair share of damage in the open even before Bobby Jones blew around. Francis Ouimet won it in 1913. Jerry Travers bagged the big prize in 1915 and Chick Evans landed on top at Minikahda in 1916. That was three for the amateur flock before Bobby Jones started firing and ran the list up to six.

The amateurs have won more open championships in the last seventeen years than the home-bred professionals, as good as the latter are. And the amateur list this time is stronger than it ever was before with Bobby Jones, George Voigt, George Von Elm, Cyril Tolley, Harrison Johnston, Don Moe, Chick Evans, Doc Willing and several other top-notch golfers who know how to score. Jones alone is a distinct threat. Jones and the others together make up a formidable list.

How Do They Look?

Bobby Jones—If Bobby has not gone stale through too much recent competition, he will either win or run 2 or 3. No one can say when competitive staleness will strike down a star or possibly hit him in the middle of some round.

The point is that Jones doesn't think he played any too well either at St. Andrews, or at Hoylake and deep down in his heart he believes he will hit a faster clip at Minneapolis than he showed abroad. He looked to be in good physical shape when he left New York and started west and it is fairly certain that the strain at Interlachen won't be as heavy as it was at St. Andrews or at Hoylake where he felt that he had to scrape through.

I don't believe any merely good golf will stop him. It will take some all-star shooting, and even this may not be good enough if he hits the ball as he did at Augusta in the southeastern open. He must be rated well ahead as the field's outstanding favorite.

The Others

George Voigt—A fin golfer whom Interlachen's well-trapped fairways and closely guarded greens will suit. Voigt is a model of accuracy and a brilliant putter. He has yet to play the golf in an open championship that he is capable of playing. He is one of the best of the iron player and this is the main factor in good scoring if the putter is doing its part.

George Von Elm—Always a strong medal play star. He was only a stroke or two away at Olympia Fields in 1928 and Winged-foot in 1929—this in spite of some inferior putting. If his putter had been hot, he might have won both with something to spare. He has the game up to the greens.

Cyril Tolley—If Tolley could eliminate that one ragged round, he might cause trouble. His two 71's at Hoylake showed what he can do. But he can't afford to go roaming into the 80's and have a chance.

Willing and Moe—Doc Willing is one of the steadiest in the field, although he never hit his stride abroad. He is usually a good medal play entry where his head work, his determination and his good putting keep him consistent along the paths.

Don Moe, another Seattle player, is one of the best of the younger stars, amateur or pro. He is a fine young golfer and a good campaigner. He isn't quite seasoned enough to handle this field yet, but he is on his way up.

Chick Evans—Chick's 70 in the recent qualifying rounds showed that the Chicago veteran had regained some of his old form. Evans should make a much better showing than he has been able to do recently, although he has been around the battle field of golf well over twenty years. It was over a Minneapolis course that Chick won his first and only open title fourteen years ago, where his 286 at Minikahda is still the low scoring mark on this side of the water in any open.

Great Field on Hand

The field now gathered at Interlachen is one of the greatest of all time, because in addition to the veterans and the known stars there are so many fine young players as yet unknown to fame—younger players who can hand you a 70 or 71 without batting an eye.

Most of these are ex-caddies, who have sound games and need only the experience. With these the big problem is booking together four good rounds. Most of them will have a hard time ducking at least one bad patch that spells disaster. In this field one or two bad patches will leave little hope. Any golfer who goes above 75 or 76 in any round builds up a handicap that will be hard to overcome against the leaders.

JUNIOR ATHLETES AWAIT MEET

Southern California Youngsters on Edge for Opening of Atlantic City Competition Wednesday Morning; Latin-America Trip Planned

BY JOHN F. NESS
"Times" Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) July 6. (Exclusive)—Plans for a twenty-eight-day practice cruise to the Latin Americas was culminated today on the broad veranda of the Strand Hotel when the writer made his official report to the four Southern California Junior Olympic Games champions following a visit with officials of the Panama Mail Steamship Company in New York City yesterday.

If there's a national meet scheduled to commence with the first event next Wednesday you'd never know it by talking to Louis Haley, Sam Waxman, Johnny Lee or Joe Andrade; in fact, after hearing about the many receptions planned for them in the seven southern countries, they were too occupied putting the bright steamer stickers on their baggage to think of athletics.

W. A. Young, Jr., general passenger traffic agent of the Panama Mail Line, had a file filled with invitations from officials of the countries that will be visited by the four boys following the national meet. San Salvador has arranged a Junior Olympic Games program as a feature of Fiestas Agostinas (August holidays,) when the youngsters arrive in this port. Young will head a booster delegation arriving from New York City next Thursday to pull for our boys.

The only work done today was a short workout on the basketball court and the rest of the afternoon hours were spent listening to travelogues. A comparison of the California boys' mental attitude and that of other youngsters arriving here for the meet shows a remarkably favorable condition in favor of the kids from the West. As each city began to register today boys gathered in groups tense, excited and nervous while our boys radiate nonchalance, plus. Tomorrow morning all contestants and coaches report in officially. Missouri, Arizona, Oklahoma, Hawaii and New Jersey came in today.

Tuesday the boys weigh in and get their coefficient and the first event of the meet, the seventy-five-yard dash will be off at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Both Waxman and Haley are showing marked improvement and believe it or not, Joe Andrade shot eighteen baskets out of twenty this afternoon and told me he did it to "make thanks for the nice New York City postal cards" which were given out during our Sunday talkfest.

Johnny Lee, still is an unknown quantity yet, the little shaver says the result is a cinch in his favor and he is so positive he leaves you believing that Lee is the only boy in the United States entered in the junior division. To see and hear these boys pulling for each other, Haley advising Waxman and Johnny teaching Joe to shoot baskets is a great lesson in the kind of clean sportsmanship and higher ideals the foundation on which Los Angeles Times has builded this great juvenile pentathlon in Southern California. The boys all attended church services this morning and went to bed early in preparation for the last stiff workout tomorrow covering all the events.

"DUMPING" is the order of the day in the clothing trade. Millions are tied up in clothing stocks that didn't move this Spring. Merchandise that was marked high at the beginning of the season must be marked down to "dump" through special sales. It's a great game but nobody wins! Why pay too much for a suit in May or wait till July to pay just about what it's worth? We don't "dump"—don't have to, fact is, can't. Coast-to-Coast upstairs volume (with a stock turn-over of 6 to 8 times a year) leaves no surplus stocks or season "tag-ends" to "dump."
No Mark Ups—No Mark Downs
Foreman and Clark prices don't change with the weather. We don't mark prices up at the start of the season so can't mark them down at the close. FREAK FISH HOOKED OFF OLYMPIC BARGE

HERMOSA BEACH, July 6.—Among the large catches of halibut pulled in on the Olympic fishing barge, over the week-end, anchored two miles off shore, was a "freak" fish. Halibut are flat-bodied fish with scales on one side, the other being smooth belly. This "freak" had scales on both sides, apparently possessing no belly-side.

Dave Long of Los Angeles caught it, while angling for halibut and sculpin on the bottom. It was a small fish weighing but two pounds.

Turf Feature Won by Brud

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) July 6. Brud, California bred son of Hand Grenade, won the sixth and featured number of the race program here this afternoon, a five-and-one-half-furlong sprint. Jockey Willie Moran bided his time with the John Coburn colt and, catching the leaders tiring in the stretch, came on the outside to win going away. Short Price got the place and Dapper the show. Time for the five and one-half furlongs was 1:06 1-5.

Umbrian Princess went out to make the pace in this event but tired when the stretch was reached. The stable of G. O. O'Connell chalked up a triple killing for the afternoon, winning the first race with Olive Dexter, the fifth with Paul Hirtenstein, and the last with Rallim. Summary:

First race, five and one-half furlongs, 3-year-olds and up, claiming, purse $500—Olive Dexter (W. Johns.) 108, won; Tarsolos (E. Rines), 103, second; Sing Marsun (Oliver,) third. Time 1:07 3-5.

Second race, seven furlongs, 3-year-olds and up, claiming, purse $500—Golden Glory (Rines,) 98, won; Sonoma Rose (McHugh,) 103, second; Trintet (Moran.) 108, third. Time, 1:27 4-5.

Third race, five and a half furlongs, 3-year-olds and claiming, purse $500—Red Boy (Bertsch-Sr.) 110, won; Sunny Corn (McHugh,) 108, second; Woodface (Moran,) 108, third. Time, 1:07 1-5.

Billy Townsend to Face Medill Tomorrow

CORBETT MAY MEET WINNER

Vancouver Star Likely to Box Fresno Southpaw

Benny Miller Has Chance at Thompson Bout

Kennedy Working Hard for Max Baer Affair

Young Corbett of Fresno, San Francisco and other way points north, is being sought for an appearance here in August. The Italian will be offered Billy Townsend if the Canadian keeps up his record of winning here tomorrow night when he meets Joey Medill.

BILLY TOWNSEND

Townsend has scored three sensational knockouts at the Olympic in as many appearances here. While wheat Carter and Armando Santiago had symptoms of glass hinges, Medill is not built of the same material.

The Olympic last week offered Jimmy McLarnin $20,000 to box Townsend, but it is said Charley (Pop) Foster, who used to fish in the California sands before the boy and he could eat, now thinks McLarnin is worth $25,000.

Corbett occupies the enviable position of having fought all three of the last welterweight champions over the weight and defeated two of them.

The Italian boxed Joe Dundee in New York, losing, but took Jackie Fields and Young Jack Thompson in order at San Francisco. McLarmin, who has never invited any southpaws to his fights, probably won't make any exceptions now.

There will probably be no objections to matching Benny Miller with Thompson, since the Negro has been whipped as a champion. A Thompson-Miller bout has been planned providing Miller defeats Dundee here the 21st inst.

Dundee is leaving Baltimore tomorrow for the Coast. It is expected that either Jimmy Johnston or his brother Charley will make the trip with the former welterweight king.

Max Baer, who boxes Les Kennedy at the Grand-avenue club next week, is due here in a day or so from Oakland. This is the Livermore Lion's first fight since he knocked out Ernie Owens.

Manuel De Leon is choice over Huerta Evans, due to the spectacular fight he put up against Johnny Deiano a few weeks ago. Evans is a good puncher and figures to mix it up furiously with the little Ventura 126-pounder.

Martin Zuniga, George Blake's pupil, makes his first start at the Olympic in several months in the special. His opponent is Bobby Pacho, hard-hitting Mexican feather from El Centro. The only big men on the card are Steve Hayden and Buck Weaver. They are scheduled to go six rounds.

BARTOSH AND TIDBALL WIN

the opening set, Westsmith finally breaking through Bartosh to take the edge. Bartosh took an early lead in the second set, and increased it, and then outsteadied his opponent in the final set.

The women's match saw Miss Patz come from behind after a hard battle to defeat Miss Dieke again. The latter seems to find Miss Patz an unconquerable hurdle, and although she took the first set easily, and had a 5-3 lead in the second set, she couldn't pull through for the victory.

Taking advantage of her opponent's errors, Miss Dieke easily won the first set, and then took the first two games of the second. Miss Patz recovered to win three straight, but lost the next two, to trail at 3-4. She won the next two, to regain the lead, and then lost two more to trail again. Later, Miss Dieke led at 7-6, winning her own service, but Miss Patz took the next three games, and the match.

AMBASSADOR PLAY TO START TODAY

With seventy-three singles players and twenty-four doubles teams entered, the semifinal Ambassador junior tournament gets under way today. Jimmy Bobbitt, Southern California champion, and Harold Steiner are the favorites in the boys 18-and-under division, with Dorothy Workman and Ruby Bishop the girls' choices. Gene Mako, Jack Creamer, B. Miller and May Doeg are the choices in the 15-and-under divisions, while the Patterson-Steiner, and Helen and Mercedes Marlowe teams are favored in the doubles. Today's schedule:

ROSENBERG CANCELS TRIP TO NEW YORK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (AP)—Harry Rosenberg, San Francisco Mission outfielder, sold last week to the New York Giants after but three months in professional baseball, tonight canceled his reservations to New York, where he has until the 10th inst. to join the Giants.

He had been instructed to leave tonight.

Rosenberg yesterday refused to report until assured of a part of his purchase price. He demands a $5000 bonus from either the Missions or the Giants. Wade Killefer, president of the Coast League club, has said the Missions will not pay the bonus or any part of it.

DARO PLANNING MATCHES

Genial Lou Expects to Hold Another Title Bout Here in Near Future

That "Carnation" Lou Daro, local mat promoter, is expecting to hold another big title match here in the near future was seen in his announcement yesterday that he is planning to match the two winners of the big bouts scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night to top the next mat card.

Everett Marshall and Joe Stecher will meet in the final feature event of this card, while Lee Wycoff, the toehold sensation, will clash with Joe De Vito, Italian heavyweight champion. Nick Lutze originally scheduled to meet Wycoff, required additional medical attention for a knee injury he received here more than a month ago. He underwent an operation three weeks ago, but the injury did not respond quickly to treatment.

EVERETT MARSHALL

De Vito is a young wrestler, as clever and as fas as Lutze, Wycoff or George. Daro had expected to bring him here on his next card as his new sensation, but decided to use him as a substitute when it was found that Lutze would not be able to go through with his bout.

At the present time the local promoter has four wrestlers here who appear ready to meet the champion, and one or more of them are expected to be eliminated as possible contenders Wednesday night. In addition to Stecher, Marshall and Wycoff, the promoter also has Don George, who is waiting here to get into the feature event class, and is after the winner of either the Stecher or the Wycoff battle.

Daro is expected to let these four wrestle it out among themselves for the possible right to meet Champion Gus Sonnenberg. Stecher has already offered to guarantee Sonnenberg $25,000 for a title match here within six weeks, but the mat king has yet to answer the challenge, Marshall has been in line for a return match with Sonnenberg as the result of the showing he made in the first go with the champion.

There is so much mat prestige at stake in the feature event of Wednesday night's card, that close followers of the game predict the match will be as fast and as colorful as the recent battle between Marshall and Wycoff.

Steve Strelich, the "Terrible Swede," will meet Gilberto Martines Larrea, heavyweight champion of Mexico, in the opener.

RECORDS FALL IN SWIM

son, in the half-mile event for women. Miss Madison thrashed her way over the distance in 11m. and 41.5s. It was her fourth world's record in the championships in that many events. The American mark that fell went before the onslaught of Leonard Spence of the New York A.C. in the 440-yard breast stroke race. The time was 6m. 12.6s.

The old record was held by his brother, Walter, it was 6m. 16 4-5s.

The championship series resulted in a great personal triumph for the Los Angeles Athletic Club in both the men's and women's divisions. The Mercury mermaids and mermen, coached by the popular Fred Cady, wrested the titles away from the country's leading clubs.

The victory for the L.A.A.C. team in the women's division was the big surprise of the meet. By scoring 31 points the Mercury lassies nosed out the powerful New York Women's Swimming Association team, an organization that has ruled the roost in women's aquatic circles for years. The New York team had 30 points when the totals were handed in by the officials.

In the men's events the great performances of Buster Crabbe and the all-round balance of the Mercury squad gave them a 5-point margin over their nearest competitor the New York Athletic Club. All in all it was real triumph for the West over the East.

Miss Madison again demonstrated today that she is by far the finest woman swimmer ever developed in the history of the game. Without hardly any effort today she smashed the half-mile mark set by Tiny Josephine McKim by 22 seconds. Miss McKim, incidentally, finished second to Miss Madison today about half-length of the lagoon behind, the Seattle Amazon. Nevenne Forbes of Lake Norco was third.

Georgia Coleman, one of Fred Cady's accomplished performers, won her second championship when she accounted for the platform diving. She sewed up the fancy-diving crown early in the meet. She, incidentally, was defending champion in both divisions. Bessie Kuerces of Pasadena, took second place and little Marion Dale, Doc Beazley's entrant from Lake Norco, third.

One of the big upsets of the championships came in the 220-yard breast stroke event for women. Miss Agnes Geraghty of New York Women's Swimming Association, who has held this title since 1924, was beaten by Margaret Hoffman of the Scranton Swimming Association. Miss Hoffman has been knocking at the door of fame for several years, but she has never been able to get by Miss Geraghty until today. She did this time, however, and in a convincing manner. The old champion tried her best to get by the Scranton girl in the stretch, but Miss Hoffman had the fight and the stuff to stave this off, winning by several yards. Eleanor Holm of the New York team was third.

Helene Madison and Buster Crabbe were presented with a special medal with a diamond inset for winning the individual honors in their divisions. The Seattle girl won every event she started in while Crabbe won three times and placed second once.

The meet was handled in splendid fashion by A.A.U. and Long Beach officials, and it broke all records for attendance not only here but nationally.

Summary:

WOMEN

220-yard breast stroke—won by Margaret Hoffman (Scranton Swimming Association); Agnes Geraghty (New York Women's Swimming Association,) second; Eleanor Holm (New York Women's Swimming Association,) third. Time, 3m. 20s.

Final: Won by Buster Crabbe (L.A.A.C.); Kaiola Kalui (Honolulu,) second; Austin Clapp (L.A.C.) third. Time, 10m. 30.4s. (New world's record.) Old mark was 10m. 22 1-5s. made in 1927 by Weissmuller.

440-yard breast stroke—First heat: Won by Leonard Spence (N.Y.A.C.); Bill Masiam, (Santa Maria A.C.,) second; Don Horn (Lakeside A.C.) third. Time, 6m. 44.4s. HONOLULU PROTESTS CRABBE'S AFFILIATION

HONOLULU, July 6. (AP)—The Hawaiian Association A.A.U. today radioed a protest against Clarence (Buster) Crabbe competing in the national outdoor swimming meet at Long Beach, Cal., under the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

The Hawaiian association said the protest was based on the grounds Crabbe last August swam for the Outrigger Club of Honolulu in the San Francisco national A.A.U. meet.

The rules say twelve months must elapse before an athlete can be credited to another organization, the local association contends.

JONES IN DEBUT AT INTERLACHEN

given 76, but none played with low scores as his uppermost aim.

Jones played without apparent care for his card, and three times shot deliberately into the rough to test it. He had no trouble getting out and back into safe ground.

On the twelfth, par 5, 530 yards, he sent his tee shot spinning into the rough with deliberation, from there looped it into a trap near the green, flipped his third easily to within a few feet of the pin, and holed out for a birdie 4.

Only club members and their families, beside contestants, were permitted on the course during the Sabbath practice, but a gallery of more than 200 persons followed Jones around. His putter, now in its sixth year of service, brought outstanding results for the champion, in contrast to many of the other entries who have been free to express their lack of respect for the greens and their own luckless putting.

So far, many more challenges for low scores have been blasted at the greens than anywhere along the line of play.

George Von Elm, 1926 amateur champion, Walter Hagen, twice open winner, for whom the meet will be the first major contest in which he will take part this year, together with Horton Smith, sharp-shooting pro, and Jock Hendry, Interlachen pro, went around with a gallery only second in size to that of Jones.

Von Elm showed that he had magic in his woods, at the start, taking a birdie 3 on the par 4 first. In the morning Smith played the first nine in 33, one under par, but played no further until late in the day.

Other leaders who tramped over the course to study its fairways lined with heavy rough, its sand and water, today included Denny Shute, Bill Mehlhorn, Leo Diegel, Tommy Armour. Monday approximately one-half of the 150 contestants will play practice rounds. Every entry is expected on the ground Tuesday.

Jones intends to vary his daily practices from eighteen to thirty-six holes. He said after playing he felt he was in sound condition and completely rested from his invasion of the British Isles, which resulted in his capture of the British open and amateur crowns.

Saturday in his second effort with his clubs since returning to the United States, he shot a 69 on the comparatively easy Woodhill course.

FOUR-ROUND FISTIC SCRAPS MAKE HIT

The four-round game has arrived at the Main-street club for the summer months. Saturday night's card of seven four-round bouts was such a success that Promoter Carlo Curtis will continue the slambang battles for several weeks. There was not a slow spot on the Saturday night card, four bouts ending inside the limit.

BARBARA BASTHEIM COPS GOLF LAURELS

DEL MONTE, July 6. (AP)—A. H. Alves, Monterey, won the Hotel Del Monte's annual Independence Day golf tournament today, stroking 74-77-76—227 for low gross in this fifty-four-hole medal play event.

Miss Barbara Bastheim, Los Angeles, won the women's thirty-six-hole low gross with 90-96—186. Mrs. A. E. Warth, Salinas, won net with 160.

Golfing Star Uses Little Wrist Cock

BY SOL METZGER

What about wrist cock? What relation does it bear in golf to the straight left arm? We discussed the latter in the articles of last week. Today let us see if there is any relation between them. Most stars cock their wrists to the limit at the top of their swings. About all of them except Horton Smith.

Compare his wrist position for a mashie approach with that of Espinosa's. Smith actually avoids accenting this movement of the swing. His backswing, too, is shorter than that of most stars. The reason is not hard to find. Horton believes in a compact swing and a straight left arm.

We have seen how impossible it is for most of us to keep the left arm straight at the top and still grip the club firmly. If we do we lose our control of the club. Smith's idea is that if he is to keep a straight left and hold control of the club with this hand, a full wrist cock is impossible. That's one solution and a wise one in view of the fact Horton yields nothing in distance to other stars.

People are continually asking Sol Metzger "Why can't I make my approach shots stick on the greens?" Metzger has answered the question in his newest leaflet, "The Art of Pitching." If you wish this leaflet send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, care of The Times.

YANKEE STARS IN NET EVENT

et Allison playing two hard final-round matches in one day.

Considerable interest is being shown concerning how large a gallery will make the trip into the London suburb to see foreigners fight for another English title. Of the four championships so far decided the United States has won three outright and shared in the other. Not one native Englishman reached the final round, much less won a title. Helen Wills Moody won the women's singles crown for the fourth consecutive time by beating Elizabeth Ryan of California. Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan won the women's doubles by beating Sarah Palfrey of Boston and Edith Cross of San Francisco; Tilden beat Allison for the men's singles title, and Miss Ryan and Jack Crawford of Australia defeated Daniel Prenn and Fraulein H. Krahwinkel for mixed doubles honors. Now the United States is assured of another triumph in men's doubles.

The result of tomorrow's match is expected to have a material bearing on America's line-up against France in the Davis Cup challenge round, granted that the Americans win the interzone final against either Japan or Italy.

Tilden's Wimbledon triumph seems to assure him of an invitation to join the American team and in approaching Davis Cup play the tall Philadelphian would have an opportunity to defeat his old rival, Henri Cochet, and round out his brilliant 1930 campaign with a conquest of the man who has been his Nemesis in recent years. Tilden's victory here lacked completeness only because Allison had beaten Cochet before Tilden got to the Frenchman.

The American ace has taken enough beatings from Cochet's racket to want revenge. The consensus is that Tilden would have beaten Cochet almost as decisively as he trounced Allison had they met in the Wimbledon finals yesterday. The big American is playing as great, or even finer, tennis than at any time during his career, in the opinion of many experts. Tilden, in Davis Cup play, would be in a position to mark off reverses he has suffered from the little Frenchman. In 1927 against Cochet at Wimbledon, he led by two sets to none and five games to love only to lose out.

Having swept continental Europe and Wimbledon with his racket this year, Tilden could crown his spectacular career with a Davis Cup victory over Cochet. Tilden has maintained that he is through with Davis Cup competition, but the chances are that he will accept, if and when, an official invitation to join the team is extended.

TEMPE IV WINS YACHT SERIES

ished third in the series with Jack Keith's All Star fourth and W. A. Bartholomae's Turtle Star fifth.

The races were the first of a brilliant program leading up to the annual Southern California sailing championships, which will be held at Newport next month. Jim Webster is again handling the starting and timing of the races in his usual efficient manner.

Time trials for outboard motor boats in quest of new world's records, which were scheduled yesterday, were postponed until today, when traffic over the course proved dangerous to competitors. The trials will be staged over a mile straightway and a number of new marks are expected to be established.

MARYSVILLE TRIUMPHS

MARYSVILLE, Cal., July 6. (AP)—Marysville retained the lead in the Sacramento Valley League today by defeating Chico, 9 to 8.

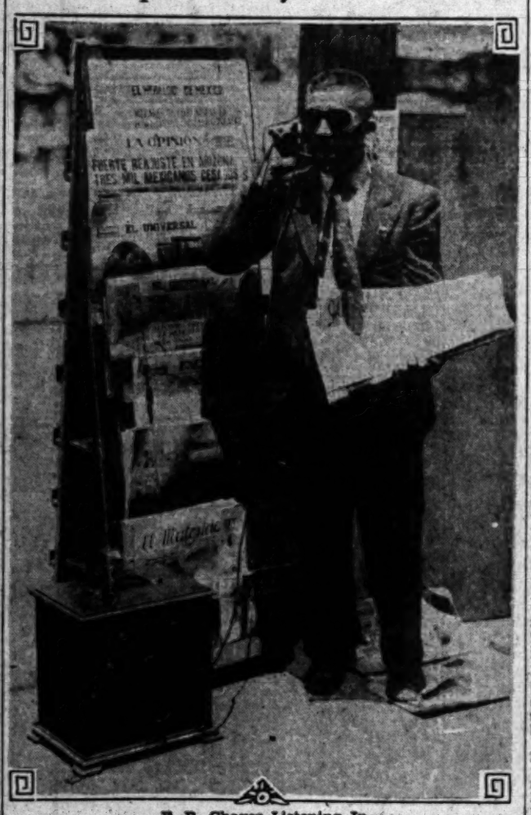
BLIND NEWS VENDER USES EARS

Radio Reports Relayed to Customers



F. B. Chavez Listening In

"CISCO," the blind news vender, who sells Mexican papers at First and Main streets, believes in keeping abreast of the news.

"Cisco" found that very often the papers he sold, due to their having come from cities many miles away, did not carry the very latest news. So he got an ear phone radio and now picks up the news broadcasts.

"Cisco's" customers now not only get the printed news but also the late radio reports which he gives to each purchaser.

Francisco B. Chavez, for that is his real name, has lived in Los Angeles for more than thirty years. He remembers when the Plaza was just a muddy corner and looks back longingly to the days when as a young "caballero," he used to sell papers from horseback, riding from corner to corner through unpaved roads, crying out the news.

Scholarship Awarded to Honor Pupil

Already the winner of high scholastic honors, Donald Matson, son of Col. and Mrs. Joseph Matson of Altadena, has been awarded a scholarship by the Telluride Association of Cornell University, according to announcement yesterday.

Matson was graduated from the Pasadena Junior College last June with the highest honors in his class of which he was president. He was one of the winners in the recent Oratorical Contest conducted by The Times in which he spoke on "Liberty and Justice Under the Constitution," and he also was victorious in the Davis Hall contest conducted at the junior college.

DONALD MATSON

The scholarship was one of five to be awarded and there were more than 300 candidates, according to word from the awarding association.

Power Needs of Los Angeles Will be Topic

"The Power Needs of Los Angeles" will be discussed by Burdett Moody of the Department of Water and Power at noon today at the City Club. Tomorrow evening the Council on International Relations will meet at the club to discuss "Filipino Immigration." Speakers will include Dr. E. S. Bogardus, Rev. F. V. Stipp, Dr. O. W. E. Cook and Amado Dino.

At the Wednesday luncheon the speaker will be Milton K. Young, candidate for Governor of California. A community sing will feature the luncheon hour next Friday.

Forest E. Ellis, 1418 Manzanita street, took a few drinks of liquor before attempting to drive his automobile down Santa Monica Boulevard and as a result he is serving a twenty-day jail term imposed by Municipal Judge Valentine. He was found guilty of reckless driving in traffic court. County Motorcycle Officer H. W. Clodfelter testified that he observed Ellis driving erratically and arrested him. Police surgeons reported Ellis had been drinking.

CHINATOWN NOTABLE IN SHIP PARTY

Bay City's Oriental Phone Exchange Manager Here With Shriner Party

Lou Kern, San Francisco-born Chinese who enjoys renown as manager of the Chinatown telephone exchange, serving 2500 Chinese subscribers, was among the eighty-three Shriners from Islam Temple, San Francisco, who arrived yesterday aboard the Dollar around-the-world liner President Garfield. The caravan, returning from the national convention at Toronto, was headed by Potentate Howard McKinley, Bay City surgeon, and E. L. West, Past Potentate.

LOU KERN

Mr. Kern explained that the Chinatown exchange is unique in more ways than one. His twenty-one Chinese girl operators must know not only the numbers of their patrons, he said, but they must also be thoroughly familiar with their personal appearances and habits.

"For instance, if you forget the number of a San Francisco Chinaman," he said, "just ask the girl to call the one-legged butcher with ten children on Grant street, and you are sure to get your man."

Mr. Kern proudly informed reporters yesterday that he was the only outsider to witness President Hoover's signature of the new tariff bill. He was the last of a group of callers, he said, when the bill was brought in and the President signed the document before he was ushered out.

Temple Member Granted Decree

Asen L. Dodorf said his wife, Raina Dodorf, forsook her household duties "fanatically" to follow Aimee Semple McPherson. Mrs. Dodorf filed a counter-complaint of cruelty and Superior Judge Collier granted her a decree of divorce, which was on file yesterday.

Dodorf, who initiated the divorce proceedings only to let the decree go by default, asserted that his wife wanted him to give her entire title to a rooming-house they owned so that she could donate it to the evangelist's temple.

She will load at the local terminals of the General Steamship Corporation and sail for the Antipodes on Wednesday.

Irregular service has been maintained previously by the Trans-Atlantic Line over the same route, which will take the Mirrabooka from Los Angeles Harbor, as Pacific Coast terminal, to San Francisco, thence to Auckland and Wellington, New Zealand; to the Australian ports of Bluff, Sydney and Melbourne, through the Indian Ocean, the Suez Canal and Mediterranean, up to Scandinavian ports and thence back to this port via Panama.

Operating with the sixteen-knot Mirrabooka will be her sistership, the Parrakoola, and the smaller motorships Bullaren and Tisnaren. Plans provide for the addition of two more vessels to the service as traffic improves.

GYPSUM CARRIER TO BE SURVEYED HERE

The Standard Gypsum Company's steamer S. A. Perkins, which was in collision with the Norwegian motorship Villager 400 miles south of the port on Saturday, will arrive at the port this morning. Her cargo of gypsum from San Marcos Island will be discharged at the Long Beach terminals before she is surveyed.

A radio from the master of the Villager to the General Steamship Corporation, agents here for Wesfal, Larsen & Co., her owners, advised that damage to the vessel will necessitate her being repaired at the Canal. She is en route from this port to Buenos Aires.

Nippon Yusen Kaisha's liner Shinyo Maru is due this morning with 125 passengers and 2000 tons of freight from Shanghai and Yokohama. She will sail for the Orient Wednesday after loading out a similar amount of freight and 145 passengers. N.W.K.'s South American liner Anyo Maru was in yesterday from the Far East and sailed last night for Valparaiso via Manzanillo.

Capt. K. Fukushima, Imperial Japanese Navy, yesterday brought in the tanker Shoyo Maru of the Nippon Tankers, Ltd., fleet, seventeen days from Tokuyama, despite boisterous weather in mid-Pacific. Loading 7000 tons of crude petroleum here, she will sail today for Tokuyama via Port San Luis, where she will take aboard 2000 tons of crude.

Clay Hutchinson, district manager of the Panama Mail Steamship Company, will be the host tonight at the joint dinner-meeting of the Women's Traffic Club and the Los Angeles Transportation Club, to be held at the Alexandria. As the program feature, Col. W. S. Tupper will give an illustrated lecture on South America.

A full cargo of creosote for the local port and Long Beach was brought in from Middleborough, Eng., yesterday by the Bermuth-Lembke tanker Trimountain.

Dollar Line's world-girdling steamer President Garfield arrived yesterday noon via New York in completion of her twenty-first successive circuit of the globe. She had aboard eighty-three members of Islam Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of San Francisco, returning from the convention at Toronto. After embarking forty passengers here, discharging 1100 tons of freight, and loading out 2000 tons of cargo for the Near West, as the Orient now is called, she will sail at noon today for Yokohama.

Among the President Garfield's outgoing passengers will be Alexander Fichlander, New York educator, en route to Port Said with Mrs. Fichlander; the Misses Marie and Nell Cullen, prominent in Honolulu society; C. B. Organ, petroleum engineer, en route to Rangoon, with Mrs. Organ; Mrs. John McGregor Gibb and Thomas C. Gibb of Philadelphia, en route to Shanghai.
